Urge Groups Attend Billboard Hearing in Boston Tomorrow

In an attempt to insure an "impressive attendance" at hearings on two applications for billboards on Newton roofs, the Newton Board of Aldermen has sent letters to all improvement associations urging members to be present at the Outdoor Advertising Authority session Friday, June 6, at the Little Building, Boston.

At the May 5 meeting of the aldermen, it was unanimously voted to enter an objection to issuance of the permits. The hearing was originally set for May 16 but was postponed to the later date at 10 a.m.

According to the official announcement of the hearing, which will be held in Room 355 of the Little Building, the applications are for a roof sign at 324-332 Centre street and 254-260 Washington street, both in Newton Corner. The applications were made by the advertising firm of John Donnelly and Sons.

The aldermen's letter pointed out that "opinions, ideals and objections to these billboards are of no consequence if harbored in the minds of citizens." The letter stated that attendance might be the "determining factor" in approving or rejecting the applications.

"In the past," the letter read, "after the Board of Aldermen had denied petitions for sign and billboard permits, the Outdoor Advertising Authority has, on appeal, granted such permits over the objections of the Board and other city officials."

The letter pointed out that the aldermen have been trying "to conform with the wishes of the citizens and taxpayers of the city" by attempting to "stem the tide of a billboard rush into Newton."

District Lines Established To Eliminate Over-crowding

To relieve overcrowding predicted at Weeks Junior High and several elementary schools when sessions reopen in September, special pupil transfers were approved and new district lines established by the Newton School Committee at its meeting last week.

Sixty-four outgoing sixth grade students at the Ward School, Chestnut Hill, will report to the Bigelow Junior High School instead of Weeks in September.

Two sixth grade classes at the Oak Hill School, Newton Centre, will occupy classrooms at the Bowen School, Newton Centre, until they are transferred in February to the new Countryside School.

Two classes of sixth graders originally scheduled to return to the Franklin School, West Newton, in the fall, will be transferred to the Carr School, Newtonville.

Acting on recommendations by Supt. of Schools Harold B. Gores, the committee also voted to have the new Murray Road School, West Newton, draw elementary pupils from the Franklin, Burr and Davis School districts. The school will open in September with a kindergarten and four classrooms.

Fifty-four more children will be admitted to a pair of classrooms in the Bowen School, Newton Centre. This was accomplished by increasing the school's district to include Ripley street, Knowles street, Westminster road, Stiles terrace, Bartlett terrace and Langley road from the corner of Knowles street southward.

Explaining the need for redistricting the Weeks Junior High School area, Assistant Supt. Charles O. Richter said that the number of students at the school in September would reach 1037 unless steps are taken. The normal enrollment is 1000.

Without redistricting, he said, there would be 1118 at Weeks by the fall of 1953, 1278 in 1954, and 1383 in 1955. Mr. Richter explained that the new districts are being established so the pupils would not have to transfer in the middle of the eighth grade.

Newton's four junior highs have a total capacity of 2900, but the enrollment will be

Council Ass'n Votes Against Billboards

—o—

Representatives of the newly-organized Newton Council of Improvement Associations meeting at the Hunnewell Club last week voted to oppose the erection of billboard signs at 254-260 Washington street and at 324-332 Centre street in Newton.

The Board of Aldermen on May 5 voted unanimously to enter an objection at the hearing which is now scheduled for tomorrow (Friday) at 10 a.m. in Room 335, 80 Boylston street, Boston, Mass The Board of Aldermen rejected the application and it has now been appealed to the Outdoor Advertising Authority.

The Improvement Association people feel that these large signs which are 12 by 50 feet would be unsightly, would tend to hurt the value of adjacent property, and would be contrary to their efforts to improve the appearance of Newton They strongly urge as many Newton people as are interested to attend the hearing on June 6 and to register opposition.

Officers of the association to serve until the annual meeting in October are as follows: President William L Powers of Newton Improvement Association; vice-president, George Freidman of Newton Upper Falls Improvement Association and secretary-treasurer, Miss Margaret Magoley of Newton

Taxpayers Sound Warning on City Debt

"The need of Newton to go to the Emergency Finance Board for approval to borrow beyond what has hitherto been the normal debt limit for Massachusetts cities points up the narrowing margin upon which this city is operating," asserted Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Executive Director of the Newton Taxpayers' Association this week.

"While it is true that even a substantial increase in our debt 'within the limit' does not mean risky finance, it is equally true that the money will have to be repaid by the taxpayers with interest. Thus if Newton's percapita debt in 1930 is taken as an index, we could today carry a debt nearly double our current one without exceeding our relative debt position of that year," Muther continued. "But who would like to go back to their debt position of the early thirties today?" he queried.

"Taxpayers are well aware of the comparative stagnation of many city services and functions during the depression years while we were paying off the capital improvement debts of the 1920's and having to borrow for current expenditures like municipal relief," continued Muther, "and we know that today, with 10% of our 1952 budget already going to debt service and retirement, we are nearing a high point in fixed charges," Muther continued.

"When a city can be said to be assessed at 60% of its fair valuation and the tax rate upon that valuation breaks through $40 per thousand, it is time to give serious consideration to exactly which projects should be undertaken, whether all the desired conveniences and services are absolutely necessary, and how far the general taxpayer rather than the immediately benefitting taxpayer shall be called upon to pay for them," Muther concluded.

Criticism Levied at Delay on Public Works Projects Here

A special meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen was scheduled for next Monday night to review the city's financial position, after aldermen protested at this week's regular meeting Monday that public works projects are being held up because of delays by other departments in reporting needs.

Protest at the delay was voiced first by Kenneth E. Prior, chairman of the public works committee, when the finance committee held back two appropriations. The first was for a $287,000 "mile-long sewer" in Oak Hill, and the second was $48,800 for construction of Hartman road, Newton, Oak Hill.

Mr. Prior pointed out that the contractor who bid on the sewer project has agreed to extend his offer for 31 days already and should be told whether he will get the job or is free to accept other projects.

"The money must be available now to maintain a progressive street program in Newton," he stated. Mr. Prior said it did not matter which project was done

Dual-type School and School Exchange Plan Is Arranged

One Section Will Have Exchange Visit In The Fall At Twin Falls, Idaho — Other At Bradenton, Fla.

Plans for the 1952-53 School and School Exchange were announced this week, Newton High School has made arrangements for a dual-type exchange. The exchange group will be larger than in previous years. One section, The Westerners, will have an exchange visit in late September or early October in Twin Falls, Idaho, High School. Ranching, sheep herding, and Yellowstone National Park are a few of the interests that will engage this group. The return visit by the boys and girls from Idaho is scheduled for mid-spring.

The other section, The Southerners, will go to Florida in late February, guests of the Manatee County High School, in Bradenton. Economic problems will be stressed in the study plans of this group, but the February trip will undoubtedly give time for a little sunbathing and swimming, and sport for any anglers in the group. Bradenton students may come to Newton for the autumn foliage or in early spring when there is still some skiing in the mountains. Dates for visits are still tentative.

first as long as the appropriations were made available to the Public Works Department so some work could be done.

"Right now Mr. Pratt's (director of Public Works) men and equipment are idle," Alderman Prior said. "This is June, and we should have started on our projects for the summer already. We cannot continue our street repair program in the winter, and sewer work—although possible—is much more expensive than in the summer months.

"Let's get this straightened out right now," he continued, "so that public works can find out what projects can be undertaken."

Earle D. Wood, chairman of the finance committee, said his committee was holding on the Hartman road appropriation because it would leave only $20,000 in the street construction account.

"We do not think we should undertake major projects until we find out what funds will be available in the future," he explained. He said he had heard "rumors" about appropriation requests from some departments, but the only definite report he had received was from the Public Works Department.

Director of Public Works Willard Pratt, summoned to tell the board what Mayor Lockwood had told him about the prospect of Newton borrowing more money, said that the mayor had stated he was "not adverse" to it.

The city at present can borrow up to 2½ per cent of its assesed valuation and, if it gets the approval of the Emergency Finance Board, can borrow an additional 2½ per cent.

Mr. Pratt said Mayor Lockwood told him he could not make a final decision about borrowing at that time since he did not have the estimated needs of the School Department.

That brought a heated challenge from Clyde S. Casady, chairman of the education committee, who stated that the School Department is the one department which is not late in getting its figures. "The School Department is being blamed again for something it did not do," he charged. "I do not believe this is an accurate statement. I challenge that statement."

"We are asked to run these reserve accounts down to next to nothing on the basis of this statement by the mayor," Chairman Wood said. "This statement does not show whether the mayor definitely will or will not borrow."

He said there is about $101,000 left in the street construction account and about $300,000 in the sewer and drain account. The aldermen should not use these up unless they know where further funds are coming from, Mr. Wood stated.

Ernest G. Angevine said he voted against the "mile-long sewer" because he thought the leaking sewer under Echo Bridge should be repaired first. He pointed out that the leakage was adding to Charles River pollution problems.

Mayor Lockwood, reached by telephone, promised to ask for all financial reports by Thursday so the aldermen could decide on what steps should be taken. The contractor agreed to a further extension of his bid on the Oak Hill sewer until the special meeting is held.

The largest single expenditure voted for street work was $21,000 for the building of Waban avenue, Waban, from Carlton road to slightly beyond Irwin road.

Although the aldermen voted $22,000 to pay for the reconstruction of Nonantum Square, Newton, but only one-third of this will actually be spent. Mr. Prior explained the reconstruction is being done under Chapter 90 of the state laws, which means that the city, state and county will share the costs. However, Mr. Prior declared, the city must go through the formality of appropriating the total needed for the project.

An off-street parking area on Pearl street, Newton, will cost $13,000, Mr. Prior reported. The lowest bid on making the area was $10,000, but the extra funds will supply the project with curbings, shrubbery and other items not included in the bid.

Other appropriations included $4300 for the construction of a drain on Concord street and private land, Auburndale, to the Charles River; $920 for sewer construction on Christina street, Newton Highlands, and $1250 for drain and sewer construction on Intervale road, Newton Centre.

Acting on a finance committee request, the aldermen voted $5000 to run this year's session of the Newton High School summer school. This money will be returned to the treasury, Mr. Wood said, since the school, which charges tuition, is forbidden to spend more on operating expenses than the total income from the tuitions.

around 3235 in 1954 and near 3500 in 1955, Mr. Richter estimated. He said the situation should be relieved by 1954 with the construction of a new junior high school.

Preliminary plans were approved for the Beethoven Avenue Elementary School, Waban, to relieve crowding at the Angier School, Waban, and the Hyde School, Newton Highlands. The committee voted to request the Public Works Department to seek a $40,000 appropriation "for the diverting and covering of a culvert" on the Beethoven avenue site. At present an open storm drain is located there.

The committee also voted to ask the Public Buildings Commissioner to seek $24,880 to furnish and equip the new Claflin School and $28,585 to complete the furnishings and equipment of the Countryside School.

As in former years, the American Red Cross, Newton Chapter, will cooperate in all the Exchange activities. For Newton High and Newton Chapter, 1952-53 will be the fifth year and the seventh and eighth exchange trips.

426 pupils from the present junior and sophomore classes received invitations to hear about the exchanges and to make applications, if interested. 75 Years Ago

Seventy-five years ago last month in a Boston of horse cars, gas lights, floor-sweeping skirts and frock coats, three men who owned the telephone "hung out their shingle." On just what day of the month, no one now can definitely tell.

The shingle was a modest little leaflet. It didn't say, "Telephones for Hire," but that was the idea as the telephone's owners announced to the world they were ready to do business. Simply entitled "The Telephone," the leaflet was dated May, 1877. It answered the skeptics who had maintained that the telephone, which had first talked the year before, on March 10, 1876, would never be more than an interesting scientific toy.

The proprietors of the Telephone, the invention of Alexander Graham Bell, for which patents have been issued by the United States and Great Britain, are now prepared to furnish Telephones for the transmission of articulate speech through instruments not more than twenty miles apart," the advertisement began.

Bell and the two men—Gardiner G. Hubbard of Cambridge, Mass., and Thomas Sanders of Haverhill, Mass.—who had given him financial support in his development of the telephone, were the proprietors. They were not organized as a company, but had only a written agreement among themselves not formal enough to have a name.

The advertisement appeared over Hubbard's name. He was the promoter of the trio, and presumably he wrote the advertisement, which continued: "Conversation can be easily carried on after slight practice and with the occasional repetition of a word or sentence. On first listening to the Telephone, though the sound is perfectly audible, the articulation seems to be indistinct; but after a few trials the ear becomes accustomed to the peculiar sound and finds little difficulty in understanding the words."

Following this general reassurance to his readers, copy writer Hubbard added selling force to the advertisement with a listing of the telephone's advantages. "No skilled operator is required," he pointed out. "Communication is more rapid," he promised. Clinching the matter, he said, "No expense required for operation, maintenance, or repair; the telephone needs no battery, and has no complicated machinery; it is unsurpassed for economy and simplicity."

For social purposes to connect a dwelling with any other building, the advertisement said, a pair of telephones would be leased for $20 a year; for business purposes, $40 a year. The lessors would keep the instruments in good working order, "free of expense, except from injuries resulting from great carelessness."

If people who leased telephones desired, the proprietors would construct necessary lines at from $100 to $150 a mile. But they suggested that any good mechanic could construct a line.

"For further information and orders address Thomas A. Watson, 109 Court Street, Boston," the advertising leaflet concluded, although on the inside it carried extracts "from the press and other sources relating to the Telephone."

Thomas A. Watson since 1875 had been Bell's mechanical assistant, while having his regular employment at the electrical shop of Charles Williams, Jr., 109 Court Street. But he was now, in 1877, employed by the telephone's owners; and Williams was manufacturing telephones in his Court Street shop.

It has been pretty well established that this first telephone advertisement came out about mid-May, after the telephone's owners had received encouragement as to its commercial possibilities with the leasing earlier in the month of several pairs of instruments.

The lessees were Roswell C. Downer of Somerville, banker; James Emery, Jr., of Charlestown, wholesale fish dealer; and James R. Osgood of Boston, book publisher. All arranged their leases early in May and thus became the first three men in the world to agree to pay for the use of telephones.

Downer was the first to install the telephones he hired, connecting them about May 1, 1877, to an existing telegraph wire between his Somerville home and the office of Stone & Downer, 28 State Street, Boston.

But Emery was the first to pay for his lease of the instruments, and Charles Williams, Jr., upon receiving the $20 as the first money ever paid for telephone service, was at a loss to know just what to do with it. So he carried the money in his pocket for several days until he could consult Hubbard.

Emery, about May 15, connected his telephones to a line he himself strung across Chestnut Street, Charlestown, between his home and his brother's.

Osgood, late in May, connected his telephones to an existing telegraph wire between the office of James R. Osgood & Company, 200 Devonshire Street, Boston, and the printing plant of the University Press, Cambridge.

In this very modest beginning, the telephone business could offer a service that permitted a telephone user to talk only to other persons on the same line. Thus the telephone's value was limited; to realize its fullest usefulness the need for a central switching arrangement to permit interconnection of all lines was obvious.

But less than a year after Downer, Emery and Osgood had signed up for telephones, the answer to the need was found by pioneering telephone men in New Haven, Connecticut. There, on January 28, 1878, they opened the world's first telephone exchange with a central office switchboard of their own devising. Theirs was a momentous step toward modern telephone service, which in this country today interconnects more than 46,000,000 telephones.

Curtis and Whittier Agreed to Step Down... Cong. Roosevelt Beats Drum for Harriman...

One misconception which existed in political circles for some weeks after Congressman Christian A. Herter announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor was that there was a political deal in which State Senator Sumner G. Whittier of Everett was to be given the G.O.P. endorsement for Lieutenant Governor.

No such agreement was ever made or even implied. Whittier was considered one of the outstanding Republican contenders for the Governorship up to the time Herter was persuaded to toss his hat into the ring, and former State Treasurer Laurence Curtis was regarded as the man most likely to win the G.O.P. gubernatorial endorsement in a party primary.

When Herter consented to run, Whittier and Curtis immediately adjusted their political objectives and did so voluntarily, the Everett Senator setting his gunsights on the Lieutenant Governorship and Curtis aiming for the seat in Congress which Herter was relinquishing.

There was no conference of party brass in a smoke-filled room, and no top G.O.P. party leaders cracked the whip. Curtis isn't the type who would take orders from anyone, and it is likely that Whittier would have rebelled had he been instructed to get out of the gubernatorial field.

Both Curtis and Whittier recognized that Herter was the strongest available man their party could nominate for Governor, and Curtis immediately stepped into the congressional contest and Whittier moved down a rung on the G.O.P. State ticket.

What Curtis and Whittier did accomplish was to get a big jump on any other candidate who might have aspired for either Herter's seat or the G.O.P. endorsement for Lieutenant Governor.

So far these has been no evidence of any major opposition to Curtis in the Republican primary. Two candidates. District Attorney Alfred B. Cenedella of Worcester county and John Volpe, have moved in to challenge Whittier, but in view of the tremendous amount of work already done by Whittier it is unlikely that either can now overtake him.

Quiet suggestions have been made to Whittier that it might be a good idea if he moved down again and ran for some office such as Secretary of State so that a Republican of Italian descent might be chosen as the candidate for Lieutenant Governor. Whittier, however, is cool to that proposal and probably will fight it out at the Pre-Primary Assembly in Worcester June 28.

While Volpe has substantial support and may make a surprising showing at the unofficial convention, there appears to be little sentiment for Cenedella except in his home Worcester county area, and the fact that both Volpe and Cenedella are in the field probably will enhance Whittier's prospects of teaming with Senator Lodge and Congressman Herter.

Congressman Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., who closely resembles his famous father, came to Boston this week to beat the political drums for W. Averell Harriman, and he was even more optimistic about Harriman's chances of achieving the Democratic Presidential nomination than was Harriman himself.

It was interesting to hear F.D.R., Jr., proclaim Harriman as virtually a certain choice to be the Democratic Presidential standard-bearer because one observer, who listened attentively at a recent press conference held by Harriman, commented as he left that if the Republicans nominate General Eisenhower the Democrats had better consider drafting Senator Taft.

The Roosevelt brothers, Franklin and Jimmy, are in opposing camps in this Presidential campaign, for Jimmy is industriously stumping for Senator Kefauver out in California, but from the despatches coming East we would surmise that James is being very modest in his pronouncements by comparison with the utterances of his brother on behalf of Harriman.

Young Roosevelt's enthusiasm for Harriman was almost unbounded. He predicted 400 votes on Ave on the first ballot at next month's Democratic national convention in Chicago prophesied that Kefauver will get about 220 and that Georgia's Senator Russell will be just above or below Kefauver.

After the first ballot, as F.D.R., Jr. sees it, Harriman will surge on to win the nomination in spectacular fashion. He brushed aside the objection that very few voters or even Democratic leaders know Harriman with the comment that everybody will know him by the time of the convention.

It was by far the most rousing forecast yet made on behalf of any of the Presidential contenders, and after hearing the junior Roosevelt a lot of political writers who have been figuring that the Democratic party would be pretty close to the bottom of the barrel if it nominated Harriman are now wondering if they had better revise their political thinking.

Congressman Roosevelt has sold himself so completely on Harriman that he may succeed in doing the same with a lot of Democratic leaders, but we suspect that Mr. Harriman is going to take a lot of selling to hard-boiled Democratic delegates.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE NEWTONS

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

Now that we've had a taste (at last) of warm weather, folks are preparing to head for the open roads for recreation, or just plain rest. We chose the West Newton shopping area for interviews to find out what Newtonites are planning for this summer. Perhaps you may get a few ideas for your vacation!

Many of us dream of basking on the beaches of Tahiti, touring the European Continents, or visiting the Gold Coast of Africa, but with the short vacation usually allotted to most of us, New England's mountains, countryside and shores of the Atlantic, beckon. With such beauties practically at our door, it is no wonder this section of the country is a favorite vacation land.

If your family is at that in-between period, when the children still need supervision, but are old enough to appreciate a few weeks away from home, perhaps your solution may be that of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Satterfield, of 44 Gammons road, Waban. "We are sending our three boys to camp, while I enjoy fishing at Lake Winnepesaukee, New Hampshire," Mr. Satterfield told us. His attractive wife smoothed her hair in the wind as she smiled at her husband and said she might visit her mother in Tuscaloosa, Alabama. "We might do both," he said, reassuringly.

We hope the Mrs. will return home even for a little while, so she won't entirely lose her delightful, soft-spoken drawl.

Frederick Juliano stepped out of his record shop on his way to lunch. "I usually try to plan ahead, but this year my vacation isn't planned as yet," he said.

"Would you like to return to England?" we asked knowing of his trip before the war.

"Of course, I would like to see England, brush up on my French in Paris, and visit Rome, also Palermo and Naples, where my parents were born," he beamed. Although his parents lived near each other in Italy (a distance which approximates Boston and West Newton), they didn't meet until they arrived in this country. If Freddie does make the trip, we hope he'll meet some young lady from the Newtons, to round out the family coincidence.

Frank J. Broadhurst of 41 Lenox street, West Newton, rested his packages on his hip as he explained his family will stay at a beach cottage for the season. When he queried as to just where, he answered, "Cape Cod, where else for a loyal New Englander!" His son, Richard, joins him and his wife for a summer of sun and fun at the beach.

Miss Martie O'Donnell was arranging window plants on her side-walk display as she related her idea of a vacation. "I'd like to be flown into the wilds of Maine, away from crowds, phones—" And then her two phones in the flowershop rang at once. "And I'd like my vacation to start early" she laughed as she untangled a Walking Charlie plant and darted in the door.

Miss Jean Delaney of 68 Myrtle street, West Newton, is to spend seven weeks on the beach at Wareham, Mass. Her friend, Mary Lou Rogers of 31 Auburn street, West Newton, will vacation at a beach, but hasn't decided which one as yet. Another friend, Helen Monoghan, 3 Auburn street, also of West Newton, plans to get a tan at a beach, and will visit her uncle in New York.

Tips from other interviews include trips to the White Mountains, a "windjammer" sailing cruise, a week at a New England "Dude Ranch," a motor trip to Mexico and for the hearty, hosteling (on foot and bicycle), enjoying the New England scenery and hospitality of hostels.

Whether you plan to capture your share of sun from the deck of a ship, the countryside, or from a mountain camp, don't overlook the beauties about you, nor the happiness one may find in a home garden, the bluebird "in your own backyard."

"I Can't Complain"

He was drenched and selling pencils
On the sidewalk in the rain,
Blind, on legless stumps he squatted
As I turned to look again,
And the answer that he gave me
Pierced like buck-shot thru my brain.
When I asked him, "How are things bud?"
And he said, "I can't complain."

Of a sudden I was speechless
And a lump swelled in my throat,
And I slowed my steps, unmindful
Of the rain upon my coat.
All the sounds of screeching traffic
On the pavement in the rain
Could not drown the words he uttered,
Three small words, "I can't complain."

Like a flash there came before me
Thru the past and present day,
Words, events, and scenes and people
That had rushed me on my way.
Things I'd labeled as misfortunes,
Money losses that I had,
Petty trifles and misgivings
Which had made me sore and sad.

Disappointing business ventures,
Baffled plans and petty loss,
Fears and ghosts with which I grappled,
Bridges I had feared to cross;
Hopes and aims which fate had shattered,
Mole-hills which I magnified,
Barren gains and fruitless harvests,
Self-inflicted wounds to pride.

Like a flash there came before me,
Gripes and ills self-pity brings,
Hurts and small retalliations
With their boomeranging stings.
And I felt ashamed and humbled,
Sick at heart but not in vain,—
I am grateful to that cripple,
He who said "I can't complain."

Issues Warning About Position of Sleeping Babies

—o—

The death of a two-month-old Newton girl in her crip last week, apparently a victim of suffocation, was described as the 38th such death in the Newton-Waltham-Watertown area in the past four years by Dr. T. Morton Gallagher of Newton, medical examiner.

The child was found unconscious in its crib Tuesday, May 27, by her mother. Rushed to the Newton Corner Fire Station at 2:50 p.m., the girl was pronounced dead by Dr. Gallagher at 3:04 p.m. after firemen had worked unsuccessfully with an inhalator.

Dr. Gallagher said that death "was apparently due to suffocation from placing the child face down."

The medical examiner repeated his warning about placing children face downward in their cribs, declaring that "it's about time" young mothers learn not to place their infants in that position. Dr. Gallagher maintains that many infant suffocations could be avoided if children were trained to sleep face up.

Police Blotter

Newton residents lost more than a $1000 to burglars during the past week, according to reports made to the Newton Police Department.

The largest single loss reported was of a $700 woman's watch with a platinum case set with diamonds and sapphires, which disappeared from the home of Mrs. Grace Gulesian of 85 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill, sometime between 3 p.m. Thursday, May 29, and Friday at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Harold C. Bond of 22 Fair Oaks avenue, Newtonville, told police Thursday that a room-size Oriental rug worth $200 was taken from her cellar sometime recently.

Three 16-foot straps, valued at $20, were taken from his truck while it was parked in his yard, Joseph Mandile of 1316 Centre street, Newton Centre, told police. He said the theft occurred between 10:30 a.m. May 30th.

The home of John Buckley of 29 Hanson road, Oak Hill, was broken into Friday or Saturday and a $125 motion picture projector, a $6 record player, and a $30 camera were taken. The thieves entered by forcing a porch door and breaking a kitchen window.

After breaking glass near the front door lock, burglars took $150 from a desk drawer at a gas station at 1186 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, between 5 p.m. Sunday and 8 a.m. Monday.

About $100 worth of equipment was taken from a box at a Street Department project on Beethoven avenue, Waban, sometime during the long weekend. Listed as missing were two pairs of rubber boots, six shovels, a saw, a chisel and a caulking iron.

Gov. Dever Asks Authority To Seize Eastern Mass.; Federal Aid Road Act

By JOHN H. CRIDER

The man who will make the keynote speech at the Democratic National Convention in July gave the current leader of his party an example of how to seize industries which might have served the President well had the demonstration preceded the President's seizure of the steel industry.

Governor Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts, instead of relying upon his emergency powers to seize the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company, whose 1,800 workers have been on strike since March 1), sent a special message to the legislature asking for a law to grant him specific authority to take over the vital transportation company.

There was no question but that an emergency existed. Hundreds of thousands of citizens, including workers in industrial communities like Lawrence with great backlogs of defense orders, were geratly inconvenienced and, as City Solicitor James P. Kane of Lawrence told a Massachusetts legislative comittee, "business has come to a standstill."

But even though the Bay State Governor followed a seizure procedure far less questionable than that of the President, many eyebrows were raised in Massachusetts over the Governor's proposal. Among the Republicans especially, it was complained that the New Deal pattern of strike settlement through governmental seizure had permeated down to the state level, where it had, in their opinion, no place.

There were other anologies between the President's action and that of the Bay State Governor. For one thing the transportation company took the position that it could not, like steel, grant a wage increase without a fare (price) rise. Again, collective bargaining had apparently broken down completely.

But there was a new wrinkle—the union was a lot more forthright about its feelings with respect to the company's ability to pay the higher wages demanded than the steelworkers had been. The steelworkers very strongly contended that the steel companies could afford to pay the higher wages without a price increase, whether or not this aspect of the situation really concerned them.

But in Massachusetts the street railway workers' union was quite frank in saying that it was not the least bit concerned whether the company could afford the demanded increases.

The attorney for the union told the legislative committee that the company "ought to pay a fair wage irrespective of the ability" of the company to pay. Whether it could afford the increase was not, he said, "a relevant fact."

This it seemed to me, was a new development in New England which held broad implications for the nation as a whole. If organized labor is going to take a position like this in national labor disputes it will be simply inviting either national ownership of industry, which is socialism, or unemployment.

At this writing the Massachusetts legislature did not seem greatly impressed with the Governor's proposal, but the longer the strike remains unsettled, the more likely it will be that some such radical solution will be sought.

Roads Ahead

Washington—The motorist willing to look ahead that far should be able to picture another 100 million dollars worth of highways running through New England cities and towns and over the country side in 1954 and 1955. The House of Representatives peered ahead that way this week and laid the groundwork.

The House voted to extend the Federal Aid Road Act through those years and to authorize for 1954 and 1955 a 10 percent increase in the act's current road-building schedule.

The act authorizes for each of the years 1954 and 1955 federal contributions of more than $26 000.000 toward the building of new highways in the New England states. The states will have to match the federal funds, which will double the amount to be spent.

The reason for projecting the program so far ahead is that the act would have expired next year and the legislators want the state highway departments to continue long-range planning. The 10 percent increase was authorized only because the House figures it costs at least 10 percent more to build a road now than it did when the original act was adopted three years ago.

Massachusetts is down for the biggest New England slice of the new authorization with an allotment of $9 734 000 for each of the two years. The figures for the other New England states are: Connecticut $4,915,000; Maine $4,075 000; New Hampshire $2,371 000; Rhode Island, $2,937 000 and Vermont $2,192,000.

As in the case of other federal aid programs New Englanders should not court the road funds as all gravy. The highway program for the nation adds up to $550 000.000 in federal contributions for 1954 and again for 1955. New England is sure to have to pay back in taxes more than its share of the cost of the program, which will favor the low-income states of the South and West.

Why They Come Here

Midst the current calamity howling about "poor New England" and its loss of industry, the New England Council held a session recently in Boston at which it showed the other side of the picture. Sure, we occasionally lose some industries, but we seem to keep new ones coming in, as well.

Executives of companies which recently have opened new plants in New England states, all sang pretty much the same glory song as to the reasons for locating here. Every one of them spoke of the highly skilled, or easily trained labor force and of our proximity to the country's largest markets.

One of the most spectacular accounts was presented by B. J. Jalar president of Astra Pharmaceutical Products, Inc., which recently opened a plant at Worcester, Mass., for the manufacture of Xylocaine, a new anesthetic recently discovered in Sweden. The company is the American affiliate of the parent Swedish pharmaceutical concern, and was set up here to manufacture and distribute the new anesthetic.

Mr. Jalar, himself a Swede, spoke of the fine water available plentifully in New England, of our excellent transportation facilities, weather permitting year-round operations in stimulating environment, and our "more than skilled" workers.

New Englander of the Week

B. J JALAR of Worcester—to be sure a newcomer, but remarkable that this Swede should have had his pick of any place in the United States to set up his factory and elected to settle down in Worcester, Mass. Welcome to New England. Mr Jalar.

Tribute to Local Legislators

Editor Newton Graphic:

It has been the custom for the local legislators to meet with interested citizens at monthly luncheons at Thompson's Spa in Boston. Such an occasion took place last Friday and after enjoying the sociability of breaking bread together reports were listened to from those representing Newton in the House and Senate on Beacon Hill. As one of those who attended this meeting I want to pay high tribute to the folks who represent us in the Legislature.

Senator Richard H. Lee gave an account of the transportation strike effecting the Eastern Massachusetts Bus Lines; Representative Christian A. Herter, Jr., presented the point-of-view of the Newton Delegation in their opposition to the Toll Road Bill; Representative Irene K. Thresher told of new experiments in the field of penalogy; while Representative George F. Rawson gave convincing arguments against the Graduated Income Tax Bill proposed by the Governor. What impressed me was the clarity of thought on these pressing problems of the day the complete awareness of varying points-of-view; and the intelligent manner in which those fine public servants are representing not only one of the finest communities in the State—but are continually adding their weight to good government everywhere!

Representative Howard K. Whitmore was not present at this particular luncheon—but, when I have attended other meetings with this group he has also been outstanding in his conscientious representation — and one need not observe long before one appreciates the calibre of public servants that Newton possesses—all fired with a determination to give their utmost that the finest in traditions, the soundest in principles and the best in intelligent human relations may prevail. Each one without exception seem alert to issues that need courage to defend and uphold. Each seem eager to correctly represent their constitutents. Each seem to be the ideal type of the best in public life—and feeling this way strongly after hearing their reports and hearing their response to questions asked of them following their reports—I could not refrain from wanting to share my confidence in them as our elected representatives in the State House—and to feel a renewed confidence in the high service they are rendering Newton and Masachusetts. Long may they continue to serve us!

The bride is a senior at Boston University, College of Music. The groom is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and Boston University Graduate School. He served in the Navy during World War II. Montreal and Quebec were destinations for their wedding trip.

Gray of West Newton took place recently in St. Sebastian's Chapel in Frankfurt, Germany. The Rev. Denis G. Moore major, USA, officiated at the wedding. Kronberg Castle was the scene of the reception.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an ankle length gown of imported Valencia lace over slipper satin. Her finger tip veil was caught to a tulle cap with seed pearls and she carried an old fashioned bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley.

Maid of honor was Miss Margaret C. Kennedy of Washington, D. C., who wore a white organdy and yellow satin gown. She carried yellow roses and forget-me-nots. Mrs. Dawson chose for her daughter's wedding a silk gown of antique blue The bridegroom's mother wore a mauve chiffon and lace gown.

They plan to make their home in Boston in about a year.

Hold Benefit Tea

A silver tea was held June 4, at the home of Mrs. C. Hassler Capron, 183 Lake avenue, Newton Centre, for the benefit of Mrs. Beryl Masters, English widow of Dr. Victor Masters, Congregational medical missionary.

Both Mrs. Masters and her 2 year old son were afflicted with polio in Rhodesia, South Africa, where the Masters were missionaries. The American Board of Congregational Missions are sponsoring their treatment at Warm Syrings, as the Masters are not eligible for aid under the march of dimes as British subjects.

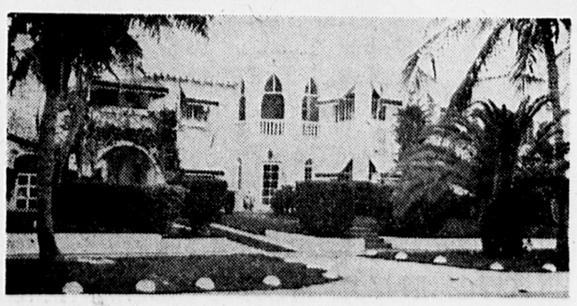

Mrs. Masters two other sons, Robert 7, and Christopher 9, are attending the Williams School in Auburndale for the present.

The Newton Congregational churches have made a general appeal to aid these valiant people, but those who wish may still contribute.

Little League Tag Days to Be Held June 5-7

Sixty uniformed players of the Newton North Little League will conduct Little League Tag Days on June 5, 6, and 7 throughout the business districts on the North side of the city.

SPORTS

Two Softball Games Played

Two games were played in the Newton Church Softball League and a third was rained out in the second week of league play.

The Second Congregational Church spiked a threatening late inning rally to down the First Baptists 13 to 11, as rain and occasional downpours threatened to drown both teams. Henry Hall went the distance for the victors. The losing hurler was Dean Waite who gave way to Dick Chapman in the fourth. Bill Vincent and Dramer Powers each clouted homers for the losers, and J. Williams for the Second Church.

The First United Presbyterians made it two in a row to hold down the league's number one spot as they edged Temple Emanuel 10 to 9. W. MacKay started on the mound for the winners with Al MacLeod finishing up. Manuel Glickman was the losing pitcher. The game was played at Weeks Junior High School playground despite a drizzling rain.

The game between the Newtonville Methodists and the Newton Highland Congregationalists was postponed to a later date.

June 1 marked the deadline for trading between teams. However, the majors may bring up men from their farm teams until the 15th of June. Commissioner Fisher pointed out that the June 15th date permits campers to make summer plans, and allows managers to make replacements from the minor league.

Paul V. Shaughnessy to Seek Registrar Office

Paul V. Shaughnessy of Waltham, who received nearly 40,000 votes for Secretary of the Commonwealth in the last state election, has announced that he would seek the Democratic nomination for the office of Registrar of Deeds in Middlesex County, South District.

Mr. Shaughnessy, a graduate of Northeastern University and Boston University's School of Law, was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor of Waltham in November. In 1941, he was elected a member of the Waltham School Committee at the age of 21, becoming the youngest member ever to serve. An attorney, he is the father of three children.

Two Outstanding Students of Our Lady's H. S. Are Selected

Two outstanding athlete-scholars at Our Lady's High School have been chosen by the Newton American Legion Post to represent the post next month at Boys' State at the University of Massachusetts.

James E. Murphy of 1561 Washington street, West Newton, and Joseph Gaziano of 24 Ricker road, Newton, are seniors at Our Lady's, and both have already been accepted at colleges. Mr. Murphy was accepted without entrance exams at Boston College, while Mr. Gaziano has been awarded a four-year scholarship to Amherst.

Earlier this month, Mr. Murphy was presented Our Lady's Trophy as the outstanding scholar-athlete in the school. A winner of nine varsity letters, he played end on last season's championship football team, was co-captain of the basketball squad and captain of the baseball team.

For two consecutive years he was voted All-Catholic guard in basketball, and he was also a member of the basketball team which won the Waltham Boys' Club Tournament. During his summers he has been employed by the State Recreation Department.

Mr. Gaziano's sports record includes four years of football, three years of track and two of baseball. He is student editor of the parish paper, the "Round-Up."

Like Murphy, he has been on the honor roll consistently for four years. He plans a career in the electronics and power field.

Committee Formed To Aid Nomination Of Geo. Thompson

The formation of a committee to aid in the nomination of George E. Thompson, Middlesex County District Attorney, as a Republican candidate for attorney-general was revealed recently by papers filed with the Secretary of the Commonwealth.

Headed by former Assistant Attorney General Frank G. Volpe of Arlington, the "Thompson for Attorney General Committee" is composed of 15 widely-known attorneys and businessmen. A second former assistant attorney general serving on the committee is George B. Rowell of Cambridge.

Calls For Party Unity Among Republicans

Roy C. Papalia, chairman of the Watertown Board of Selectmen and a candidate for the Republican nomination for state treasurer, called last week for party unity among Republicans to avoid repeating "the costly mistakes of 1948 and 1950."

Speaking before the Suffolk County Republican Club, Mr. Papalia declared that the "Democratic muck-rakers" have "tarred and feathered the Republican party with the lie that we have no interest in the workers." He said that Gov. Dever's "soak the poor, job-destroying taxes are providing the hollowness" of the governor's claim to being a "protector of the poor and average income groups."

Address of Senator Saltonstall At Memorial Day Exercises

SEN. SALTONSTALL

We gather here today, as we do most willingly each Memorial Day, to pay our humble and heartfelt tribute to all those Americans who have fought and died so bravely ir this nation's defense, whatever their color or creed.

On this Memorial Day—which is the ninth in my lifetime on which we have been at war—we are especiall' aware of the many and great sacrifices that have been made in order that we as a people may remain free. For today, as they were at this time last year, young men and young women in our armed forces are fighting freedom's battle in faraway Korea.

As we think of these Americans in battle abroad we become particularly conscious of the meaning of Memorial Day. Their example is that same magnificent one that has marked all generations of Americans who have gone before them. Freedom is ours today because of the courage and the faith in freedom that Americans have always shown.

The world about us today is a troubled and insecure one. The front pages of our newspapers seem each day to bring us little but gloomy reports of world conditions. In Europe and in the Far East the tensions are tremendous as millions of people wonder what the weeks ahead will bring. Wherever we look—to Korea, to Germany, to Indo-China, to the near East, to North Africa or Tibet—we see problems of the greatest seriousness. And we cannot escape the fact that we are necessarily concerned with every one of them—whether as a nation we wish to be or not.

In such a time and with such an outlook, we have a duty and a responsibility to fulfill—a duty and responsibility both to ourselves and to those free friends of ours elsewhere in the world. We must above everything else demonstrate in all that we do our enduring belief in the ideals and the way of life of free men and women. We must have patience of the highest order. We must never lack for courage. At the same time, we must prepare ourselves to sustain that courage and that patience for many years to come perhaps through the lifetime of most of us who are here today.

In the enemy we face—the ruthless, godless enemy of Communism—we meet a force of and a philosophy that does not think in terms of today or tomorrow or this year. The Communistic ideology thinks and plans in terms of many years. We must have the fortitude to stand up to this enduring threat for whatever time may be required of us.

But we cannot afford to be always on the defensive against the outbreaks of Communism, the places and the time to attack. We must gird ourselves with the strong weapons of truth and of the faith of free men to attack psychologically and spiritually to win firmly to our side those now in countries close to or even behind the Iron Curtain and who may be in doubt. We want to wage a vigorous campaign to put new hope into those within the satellite nations who desire so much to be free and to join us again.

Recent events in Korea have illustrated dramatically and cruelly how little concern the Communists have for the dignity of human life, how ready they are—slyly and by devious means—to plan and to plot to gain domination over us. The recent outbreaks on Koje were the latest evidence of such a carefully laid plot.

Continuing patience, continuing courage, increasing preparedness and an everlasting will to gain back to our side these people temporarily and without their own desire now behind the Iron Curtain must be ours if we are to win the eventual victory for the cause of free men.

To those who sacrificed their lives that this nation might live in freedom, we dedicate this day. To that freedom which they fought so well to preserve, we dedicate ourselves wholly. With this determination we can truly commerate this Memorial Day of 1952.

St. Mary's Loans Antique Communion Silver to Museum

St. Mary's Church, Newton Lower Falls, has loaned three pieces of its antique Communion silver to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. The articles are a ciborium, a square silver box with a cross on the cover, made by Rufus Greene, 1707-77, given in memory of the Rev. Alfred Louis Baury, rector of St. Mary's Church 1822-51, by his granddaughter, Mrs. Michael R. Muller; a paten given by Ebenezer Stedman, one of the thirty-three founders of St. Mary's, made by John Edwards, ca 1670-1746; and a flagon or tankard marked William Winthrop, Esq., Cambridge, being a part of his family silver and bearing his crest, made by Joseph Austen, 1719-80. This beautiful old silver will be on exhibition at the Museum in the Church Silver section.

St. Mary's Church was the first Protestant Episcopal Church built between Boston and Worcester, its cornerstone being laid in 1813. With few exceptions, the church building appears much the same today as when first erected. Within the church the old box pews remain the same as when first built and owned by the heads of the various families. No two pews are just the same, the differences being found in the angles and shapes of the bookrests and bookshelves, armrests and the ends of some of the pews, and the many styles and shapes of the kneeling stools. Benevolent Episcopalians in Boston, desiring to assist the new and struggling Parish of St. Mary's, gave much valuable aid in personal and ministerial services. It was during this period that the Parish received the old Colonial silver for use in the Communion Service.

The Lucy Jackson Chapter House of the D.A.R., on the corner of Washington and Concord streets, was once the home of the Reverend Alfred L. Baury and the rectory of St. Mary's. On the site of the new Parish House, the Rev. Baury had a most wonderful garden. The cemetery was originally and for many years later the churchyard. At first the burial place was used by all of the village regardless of creed. Later, lots were sold to parishioners only, but this has not been a hard and fast rule and has been changed through the years at the discretion of the Committee of the Churchyard. There are four Revolutionary soldiers buried in St. Mary's Churchyard, a veteran of the Mexican War, many who served in the Civil War, one Spanish-American War veteran, four World War veterans, and an airman of World War II.

In 1922, changes were made in the interior of the church and chancel to restore it to its present lovely simplicity. Music in the services at St. Mary's has always been held an important function of the Church from its very beginning. Its Christmas Eve services with candles and greens and music were especially noteworthy in the early days as something not offered by other churches of that area. St. Mary's Church School, founded in 1818, is one of the oldest in the Diocese and was among the earliest to be established in the rural districts.

The Chapter House, the Hubbard Memorial, dedicated in 1903 by Bishop Lawrence, served as Parish Hall until 1940 when it was destroyed by fire. The area where it stood was graded and added to the cemetery. Since the fire, a well-equipped Parish House and rectory on the Church grounds have been added, each designed to carry out the Colonial effect.

Warren Junior H.S. Observes Its Twenty-Fifth Anniversary

"May I have your attention please," were the familiar words Toastmaster Carl Penny used to begin the banquet for the 118 present and former faculty members and their spouses who were assembled in the school cafeteria to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the Warren Junior High School Saturday, May 24.

Paul C. Scarborough who has the unique honor of being principal during the school's entire 25 years, was seated at the center of the head table. More than 6,000 pupils have come under his influence during this time.

Miss Mary J. Cleveland, the vice-principal, and a faculty member for 25 years, was seated on the toastmaster's left.

Seated on either side of these three were the five faculty members who helped to open the school in 1927: Ralph Acker, Miss Gertrude Hasty, Miss Gertrude Mann, Miss Pearl Meurling and Miss Esther Pepin. Another guest of honor was Mrs. Emma La Croix who has been cooking for faculty and students for a quarter of a century.

Other head table guests were: Harold Gores, Supt. of Schools of Newton, and Mrs. Gores; Dr. Homer Anderson, former superintendent of schools in Newton, and Mrs. Anderson; Charles O. Richter, assistant superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Richter; Mrs. Ralph Acker and Mrs. William Clark.

Mr. Penny presented all the teachers, past and present, by subject field.

Dr. Anderson, Mr. Gores, and Mr. Scarborough made brief speeches. Mr. Gores, a former teacher in Warren, congratulated Mr. Scarborough and his faculty on making Warren Junior High a progressively better and better school.

Mr. Scarborough presented attractive gold "25-year" pins designed by Miss Balser, and certificates to the faculty members who have served since the opening of the school. He thanked all present and former teachers for their loyalty and expressed hope that the school would continue in its present fine tradition for the second quarter century. He also quoted the words of a former pupil, "May the spirit of Warren Junior High School blaze on forever."

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gregorian and Mr. and Mrs. Seyfarth representing the P.T.A. Those travelling farthest to attend the banquet were Ada Leavitt, physical education 1927-1932 now Mrs. Richard S. French from Waterville, Me., and Eileen Forrest, art 1944-46 now Mrs. William L. Glodt of Levittown, N. Y.

Faculty member Charles Francis Tower has been on the staff only 24 years plus having been a practice teacher in the school during its first year. He is the only faculty member who has been a pupil under Mr. Scarborough. This happened at Pierce school when Mr. Scarborough was principal there.

At each plate was a souvenir booklet containing biographical sketches of Warren teachers from 1927-1952. These and the attractive placemats designed by Miss Phyllis Balser, were printed in the school shop under the direction of Paul Roberts. The unusual artistic work of these two teachers was everywhere in evidence.

Letters from absentees and former pupil-presidents of Warren School Community were shown on the bulletin board together with plans of the prospective addition to Warren as conceived and drawn by Robert Elliot of M.I.T.

Later in the evening former pupils joined the teachers in the assembly hall in an informal social gathering to renew acquaintance and exchange experiences. A four-piece orchestra under the leadership of Vincent J. Marotto furnished music for dancing. Credit for the very effective anniversary and floral decorations both in the banquet room and the assembly hall is due to Miss Pearl Meurling and her committee.

Miss Gertrude Hasty ably conducted the gigantic amount of correspondence involved in the celebration.

Arrangements for the celebration were in charge of Carl M. Penny, general chairman, and Miss Mary J. Cleveland, assistant chairman. The committees were as follows: General Committees: Faculty: Ralph Acker, Ethel Green, Gertrude Hasty, Gertrude Mann, Pearl Meurling, Esther Pepin, C. Francis Tower, Avis Walsh, Marion Wheeler; Ex-Faculty: Eveline Mooney, Kenneth LaFlamme, Henry Otterson; P.T.A. Representatives, Harold R. Dolby, Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian, Ernest O. Seyfarth; Pupil Representatives: Donald Lane; School Community President, Robert Lee Jr. III. Peggy Booth, Jr. III and Ann Barrs, Jr. II.

Tuesday the Peirce School Fifth Graders accompanied by their teacher, Miss Elizabeth A. Roper, enjoyed a trip to Cedar Hill. The purpose of the trip was to learn more about fire safety, experience fire building and use out-of-door cooking, as well as study pond life

The 30 children were accompanied by a parent, Mrs. Frank Foster, their student teacher, Miss Joy Cohen and resource members, Linwood Gatley and Mrs. Merrill Bush. Their principal, Miss Ann L. Caldwell, joined them at the lunch period.

Before the trip commitees of the pupils were set up as follows:

Firemen and assistants: Jonathon Skinner, Whitney Foster, Mark Albert, Peter Hunt, David Bass, Virginia Barnes and Linda Kenney.

Equipment Boys: John Rohsenow, Steven Framer, Timothy Walsh, Daniel Lombard and Gerald Rose.

Treasurer: Eleanor Muth and Judith Maltz.

Corerspondence: Sandra Sulkowitch, Nancy Spencer, Joan Wells, Linda Shaffer, Michael Coulter, assisted by entire class.

The children planned their own menu, estimated the cost of the food, and purchased the food. Mr. Gatley instructed them in fire safety, and fire building. The children built four fires to use later for cooking their food.

Mrs. Bush took the group to the pond where they used their nets to strain out pond life which they could actually handle and learn about.

The day proved a most interesting as well as instructive one.

BU-Underw'd School Summer Session to Begin July 7

The Newton School Department will again cooperate with Boston University in its effort to alleviate the teacher shortage which exists in our elementary schools today. For six weeks beginning July 7 and closing August 15, an elementary school program will be carried on in the Underwood School.

Children of Newton parents will have the privilege and opportunity to gain six weeks of additional schooling by attending the morning sessions at the Underwood School. While the primary purpose will be to train graduate students with Liberal Arts backgrounds for entrance into elementary education, it will also afford children who wish to enroll for this summer term the opportunity to gain additional school experience on the grade level they will enter in September, 1952. Children eligible to enter Kindergarten, Grades 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 6 in September 1952 are invited to enroll. There is no tuition for the six-weeks course. Parents, however are expected to provide transportation to and from school.

The faculty is selected by Boston University. Those teachers selected are recognized professionally for their ability and skill as classroom teachers in our elementary schools. In addition, they are well qualified for teaching in the field of adult education.

Last year 165 elementary pupils from twenty-five public, private and parochial schools found this school to be an interesting and profitable summer program. It is hoped that many parents will again avail themselves of this opportunity of extending school experiences for their children.

Parents desiring to register their children should make known their requests by sending a postcard to Superintendent Harold B. Gores, Newton School Department, 40 Elm road, Newtonville 60, Massachusetts, or to Mr. Allan Acomb, Principal, Underwood School, Newton 58, Massachusetts. Upon receipts of requests, application forms giving complete details for enrolment procedures will be forwarded to parents. Classes are limited in size to twenty-five pupils. Applications will be accepted in the order of their receipt in the Superintendent's office or at the Underwood School.

Newton is continually accepting the challenge to train young men and women who desire to enter the educational field. Last year the staff at Underwood School trained eighty-three graduates who are now successfully engaged in public and private (and) school teaching in eastern United States. Newton believes that this is a real opportunity for service to prospective teachers and to boys and girls engaged in seeking an education.

Hugh S. Boyd Named Newton Court Clerk

Hugh S. Boyd of 272 Centre street, Newton, was named temporary clerk of Newton District Court last week by Judge Donald E. Mayberry after Gov. Dever failed to nominate anyone to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of James P. Gallagher.

Mr. Boyd was sworn in by Judge Mayberry last Thursday and assumed his duties at the opening of court.

"Due to Mr. Gallagher's enforced retirement as the result of reaching the compulsory retirement age and the fact that the governor did not submit a name to the Council yesterday, it became my duty under Chapter 218, Section 9 to appoint a temporary clerk," Judge Mayberry said.

A native of Newton, Mr. Boyd is a graduate of Newton High School, Harvard College, and Harvard Law School. He has practiced law for nearly 30 years, being associated with the late Mayor Edwin O. Childs, and was twice a candidate for mayor of Newton.

During World War I, Mr. Boyd served as an ensign in the Navy. He is a past exalted ruler of the Newton Lodge of Elks and is a member of the Newton American Legion Post. He is married to the former Alice Murphy, a secretary in the clerk's office.

Conducting Classes for Strength Test

—o—

Richard B. Simmons of Newton Y is Aiding Police Candidates

—o—

Because a large number of men are preparing to take the examinations as candidates for the Newton Police, the Newton "Y" is again conducting a class for instruction in the Civil Service strength tests requirements. The class being held in the "Y" gymnasium is under the direction of Richard B. Simmons. It is being held one evening a week at first, and will be stepped up in number if the occasion demands it. The only charge for this service is a membership in the "Y," which will not only allow for the class instruction, but also will permit the men to use the equipment during the free periods for conditioning for these tests.

Police candidates must be prepared to take nine tests in the strength tests requirements, although it is only necessary to gain an average of 70 per cent in the entire test to pass it. The nine tests are: (1) lifting the 150 lb. or 125 lb. dummy from the floor to the shoulder, (2) the standing broad jump, (3) lifting solid iron dumb-bells, (4) the abdominals—coming to a sitting position from a supine position with a 35 lb. dumb-bell on the chest, (5) rope climbing without the use of the feet, (6) the fence vault, (7) carrying the 125 lb. dummy down a ladder from the running track to the floor on a time basis, (8) the 440 yard run on a time basis, and (9) the 50 yard swim without a time limit.

Past experience in conducting these classes of instruction for many years has shown that most candidates can pass these tests providing they are in fairly good physical condition and become acquainted with the use of the equipment used by attendance at the classes. A large number of members of the police and fire departments of Newton and the surrounding communities have been helped in passing their strength tests by this instruction offered by the "Y."

St. Bernard's Church School Graduates 69

—o—

A total of 69 diplomas were conferred on graduating students of St. Bernard's Grammar and High Schools Sunday by Rt. Rev. John J. Crane, following a 10 a.m. mass celebrated in St. Bernard's Church.

Sixteen of the diplomas were awarded to the all-girl graduating class, while 29 girls and 24 boys were given graduation certificates from the grammar school.

Diane Malcolm, president of the senior class, received a special prize for general excellence in high school work. High honor awards for their work in the grammar school were presented to Edson DeGastro and Brenda Daley.

Rev. John A. Saunders, in his address to the graduates, reminded them that their education was to be the basis from which they would be better able to serve God and country.

Sister Superior Ann Bartholomew, director of the grammar and high school, supervised the awarding of diplomas and prizes.

Hold Hearing On 2 Newton Corner Signs

—o—

The issuance by the State of two billboard permits at Newton Corner—already denied by the Board of Aldermen—was vigorously opposed by a large number of Newton residents at a public hearing held Friday in Boston by the State Outdoor Advertising Authority.

Paul S. Rich, alderman from Newton Corner, warned that the permitting of the billboards would jeopardize a million-dollar redevelopment of Newton Corner on which conferences are already being held.

The granting of the permits, Mr. Rich stated, would be "an entering wedge to flood the business sections of the city with billboards." He said that all 6000 residents of the area are opposed to the signs

William H. Cunningham, a Newton resident, declared that the property values in Newton Corner would depreciate because of the billboards and that the issuing of the permits would be an attack on the home rule of the city.

The hearing was on a request by John Donnelly and Sons Inc. for licenses to erect two signs, 50 feet by 12 feet, on the roofs

Book on City Government Ready for Distribution

The Newton Municipal Research Library announces the completion of its 52-page new-style 1951 Annual Report, "Your City Opens Its Books." The city government is aware of the necessity of having an accurately informed citizenry. To meet this need a well executed report with its compilations of facts and figures in a colorful 6"x9" booklet has been made available for general distribution and will serve as a medium for giving a comprehensive, informative and easily understood picture of the Newton City Government in action.

MISS JANET E. MALLSON of 28 Brookdale road, Newtonville, who has won the honor of serving as one of the uniformed ushers on the floor at the pre-primary assembly of the Massachusetts Republican party in Worcester on June 28. Miss Mallson will serve with a group of ushers selected from all sections of the state at this important GOP function.

"It isn't enough that a city should have, as we do in Newton, a good city government. It is our considered opinion that we should focus attention on 'Here Is What Your City Did and How —and Why." We depend in Newton to an unusually large degree on our own private citizens for the functions of our City Government. For the intelligent and valuable contribution of these civic-minded people who give so freely of their time and effort to make Newton tick, we are grateful" stated Harold T. Pilsbury, director of the Municipal Research Bureau.

Municipal business and its operations affect the lives of each and every citizen This well documented report is tangible evidence that Newton's affairs will be better understood by its residents This community, too, is one in which the great majority of the people are persons of substance and responsibility. Likewise citizens are accustomed to high standards of service from the city's governmental functions

Newton schools occupy a position of enviable rank among the nation's educational institutions. The streets are well maintained, the Fire and Police services are of top caliber. Just as it is good business of a corporation to send this same type of report annually to its stockholders and employees, likewise the City Government concluded it is just as much good business for this municipality to make available condensed, graphic and readable information, for its citizens

The attractiveness of this report—"Your City Opens Its Books" arouses one's curiosity by its two-tone (rust and black) cover design to look inside. Once inside, the reader's attention will prompt him to move along from one section to the next.

The story of the Newton City Government, being composed of 22 departments and 20 boards is encompassed within the 52 pages. The organizational chart, the wide range of subjects from assessing to zoning, the photographs charts, graphs and diagrammatic thumbnail sketches go far to explain the meaning of the service in question. Names of the Administrative Family and telephone numbers of the person or persons who can supply information on the service in question are uniquely arranged on the back cover. The front cover depicts the beautiful New-

Discuss Plans For Newton Home for Aged

The joining of the Horace Cousens Industrial Fund with private financing to build a self-supporting home for the aged in Newton was discussed last week at a meeting in Newton City Hall under the direction of State Rep. Irene K. Thresher of Waban.

Mrs. Thresher, chairman or the Problems of the Aging Subcommittee of the Legislative Public Welfare Recess Commission, said that the meeting was only a preliminary discussion. Another meeting will be held later, she said, with all persons interested invited to attend.

She stated there are about 7000 persons in Newton over 65 and only 7 per cent of these are living with their families.

Trustees of the Horace Cousens Industrial Fund reported after the meeting that they would look into the legal aspects of loaning money for such a project. The Fund was established to loan money to Newton residents at an interest rate 25 per cent less than current bank charges, so they can own their own homes.

Benefit Tea For British Polio Victim

—o—

A silver tea was held last week under the sponsorship of the Eliot Circle of the First Congregational Church, Newton Centre, for the benefit of Mrs. Beryl Masters, widow of a clergyman who died of polio in South Africa and herself a victim of the disease.

Both Mrs. Masters and her two-year-old son were stricken with polio while accompanying her husband, Dr. Victor Masters, a Congregational medical missionary.

Nearly 100 persons attended the tea, which was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Hessier Capron, 183 Lake avenue, Newton Centre. The Eliot Circle plans to assist Mrs. Masters as their project for the coming year, as she is ineligible for March of Dimes benefits because of her British citizenship.

At the present time Mrs. Masters and her son are being treated at Warm Springs, Ga. She is expected to return to the Walker Missionary Home, Auburndale, in September, to join her other two sons, Robert, 7, and Christopher, 9, who are in the Williams School.

Pourers at the tea were Mrs. Randolph Merrill, wife of the pastor of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville; Mrs. Harold Mathews, superintendent of the Walker Home; Mrs. Hugh Robinson, first vice-president of the Newton Council of Churchwomen; and Mrs. Nathaniel Guptill, wife of Rev. Nathaniel Guptill of Andover-Newton Theological School.

at 324-332 Centre street and 250-254 Washington street.

Organizations represented at the hearing included the Newton Community Council, Newton Council of Improvement Associations, Newton Federation of Women's Clubs, and Newton League of Women Voters.

At the hearing before the Outdoor Advertising Authority of Massachusetts, John Donnelly and Sons Co., presented arguments in support of its position seeking permission to erect a new advertising display board in Newton Corner.

R. H. Hager, Real Estate Manager of the Company, emphasized that the definite commercial characteristics of the Newton Corner site, with over 160 professional and business establishments, placed the application well within the limits of the law, which he described as "the most stringent regulatory system in the country."

He added that the outdoor advertising industry had for many years been engaged in a program of self regulation and standardization throughout, which imposed far more stringent controls than existin most states. He described the Donnelly Company's 75 year crusading leadership for these controls and argued that the Newton Corner site complied with even the strictest interpretation of this code.

He also pointed out that the industry had long associated itself with social and civic causes and, in support of this contention, outlined the many national and local community activities that this advertising media supports.

"In the year 1951," Hager stated, "over $1,800,000 in outdoor advertising was voluntarily contributed by the industry to national public service campaigns. John Donnelly and Sons' own local community service program, added greatly to this donation."

The Advertising Authority announced that its members will view the proposed locations for the billboards before making a decision on the applications. The Authority is composed of Peter C Hall and Mrs Catherine Danahy.

A Principle at Issue

The Graphic, throughout its eighty years of public service to the citizens of Newton, has always maintained a principle of fair play. If it had not, it would not today enjoy the splendid reputation which it possesses nor be the recipient of the large paid circulation which it has in all sections of the city.

Last week, in another Newton newspaper, there appeared a paid advertisement of delinquent tax titles of real estate within the city. This advertisement was authorized by the City Treasurer and Collector of Newton.

It is difficult to understand, therefore, why this official, for personal or other reasons, should see fit to award this advertising contract without having first obtained bids from The Graphic, a recognized Newton newspaper.

The fact that little if any of the cost of publication of these delinquent tax titles is borne by the city (the cost being assessed to the owners of the property involved) alters little the fact that in this instance the city treasurer of Newton saw fit to ignore an old, established and recognized newspaper of this community.

We grant, he was not legally obligated to do this but The Graphic, actually one year older than Newton is a city, rightfully wonders why it was ignored in this respect to the benefit of a comparatively new paper here. It is not the amount of money involved in the advertisement that gives cause to our wonderment. It is the principle involved.

Heretofore, publication of these tax sales has been awarded annually on a competitive basis. Why then, may we ask, was there a change made in the procedure this year?

The Graphic is, and always will continue to be, an independent, unbiased and impartial newspaper, particularly on the political level, and is dedicated to the service of the people of Newton, individually and collectively. It seeks no favors to which it is not rightfully entitled but it most certainly has a right to demand consideration.

The Graphic is neither owned nor controlled by any local political group. Its main purpose and function is the dissemination of news to all Newton residents.

That it is accomplishing this purpose is attested to by the fact that The Graphic today has a paid circulation greater by more than three to one than of any other Newton newspaper and its circulation is showing a constant, consistent, increase in every section of the city.

In its eighty years of service to the people of Newton, The Graphic has seen other newspapers here come and go, yet the public acceptance of The Graphic has never faltered. This in itself, we believe, is a tribute to the accomplishments of this paper through all these years.

Its present management, carrying on a tradition, is constantly endeavoring to raise the standard of its product, the scope of its purpose and the acceptance of its merits. That all of these accomplishments will be achieved, there is not one iota of doubt.

The Graphic believes, therefore, that it is entitled to more consideration by public officials than this instance which we cite would appear to foretell.

The Graphic seeks no undue favors—it will tolerate no undue partiality.

Current Comment

Attempt to Increase Workers' Benefits . . . Mass. Democrats to Present United Front . . .

In view of the number of industrial plants that have pulled up stakes and left Massachusetts, it is somewhat surprising that administration leaders on Beacon Hill would endeavor to put through an amendment to the unemployment compensation law that probably would cause still other businessmen to throw up their hands and move out of the State.

Yet, that is exactly what happened earlier this week in the House of Representatives, and despite an initial setback that should have served as a warning signal, the Democratic chieftains are planning still a further fight when they consider the time opportune.

On the surface, the bill they are seeking to pass may seem reasonable enough. It would increase unemployment benefits for workers with no dependents from $25 to $30 per week. The big drawback to its, however, is that it would place an additional burden of more than $10,000,000 a year upon the business of the State and might well be the factor that would influence a number of industrial plants, which are considering offers from other sections, to leave Massachusetts.

It is getting ironic to hear law-makers pound their chests and orate about the need for drawing new business to Massachusetts and then advocate the enactment of legislation which would drive away a portion of the industry which the State now has. That, however, is a routine performance for some of our elected officials on Beacon Hill.

Anyone who stands up and argues against measures which would force industry out of Massachusetts is assailed as a champion of big business The fact, of course, is that when an industrial plant leaves Massachusetts the persons hurt most are the little people who are thrown out of jobs.

As we see it, the legislators who really were fighting the battle of the working people were those who protested strenuously against doing anything that would cost any of the industries we now have.

One Representative from Haverhill made a rather good point during the debate on the unemployment compensation measure, in commenting on the fact that a scattering of labor leaders are behind the move to raise the uneployment compensation payments.

He reminded his colleagues that when the employees of the Eastern Massachusetts St. Railway went on strike, their union allowed them $15 a week and after paying that sum for 10 weeks reduced it to $13 weekly.

But, he pointed out, they have quite a different conception of what jobless benefits should be, when business is doing the paying, and are seeking to have the maximum payments for persons with no dependents increased from $25 to $30 a week There is ar additional allowance for dependents so that the total benefits have run as high as $51 per week.

Many workers are coming to realize that in order to have jobs it is necessary to keep business and industry in a healthy condition and that their greatest dange may come from their self-appointed friends in the State Legislature.

About the best thing the administration leaders in the House of Representatives could do for Massachusetts industry would be to give it a breather and leave it alone.

Of all the Democratic Presidential candidates who have come here in recent weeks, the one who appeared to possess the greatest ability and probably the least chance of achieving nomination was Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

There isn't much doubt but that he stands head and shoulders over Tennessee's Senator Estes Kefauver, Oklahoma's Robert S. Kerr and New York's W. Averell "Honest Ave" Harriman.

The one objection to Senator Russell is that he is a Southerner, causing Northern politicians to shy away from him, and if he were from New York, Illinois, Ohio or Pennsylvania he would be a standout choice to carry the Democratic Presidential banner.

Ultimately, the Democratic politicos probably will try to mollify the South by nominating Russell to run as the Vice Presidential candidate with someone like Governor Stevenson of Illinois.

* * * *

Massachusetts Democratic leaders hope to present a united front for Governor Dever as a favorite son Presidential candidate on the first ballot at next month's national convention in Chicago, but one delegate, Representative John M. Shea of Worcester insists that he's going to cast his first vote for Kefauver.

Attempts undoubtedly will be made to persuade Shea to go along with the other Bay State delegates and wait until the next ballot before jumping onto the Kefauver bandwagon, but there is no certainty yet that they will be successful.

The Bay State delegates will split in several different directions on the second ballot. Kerr has half a dozen pledges. Kefauver will receive some banking, and so probably will Russell and Harriman

The top Democratic leaders such as Secretary of Labor Tobin, Governor Dever, Mayor Hynes and Congressional Majority Leader McCormack are secretive as to where they will throw their strength.

OUR NEW ENGLAND

N. E. Industry Cannot Live On Government Contracts; Long Range Planning Vital

By JOHN H. CRIDER

New England industries heavily dependent upon government orders, cannot assume, as some contend, that the armament program is going to last forever. It might, but to count on it might be suicidal, especially for the newer industries, like electronics, which have not developed markets among individual consumers for their products. In some cases, they haven't even developed extensive lines of products for the normal markets. Such industries are "war babies," and with the passing of present world tensions, must suffocate.

There is, of course, excellent authority for the assumption that we are in for an indefinite period of armament, that there will be no truce in Korea, and that Soviet Communism and freedom are irreconcilable in any event.

No Truce in Korea

Only recently the head of the United Nations agency for Korean reconstruction returned from a six-weeks field inspection and announced in Geneva that he could see no end to the Korean armed stalemate The Reds, he said just didn't want peace, and would continue to stall. He proposed therefore to go ahead with Korean reconstruction south of the troops stalled on the battle line.

It is true, of course, that there can be no reconciliation between the philosophies of the Free World and Communism. But that does not mean that either war or perpetual armed tensions are inevitable.

The only analogy from history that has much pertinence for the present situation is what happened after the Crusades. It is difficult to believe that those living during that period were any more hopeful than most of us that the differences between opposing beliefs could be resolved short of centuries of armed conflict. Had not the Pope ordered the forces of Christendom against the pagans?

Yet it was not long before the fighting subsided and, in the end, the Christians and Moslems lived in the same world without even arguing very much about their differences. And, paradoxically, the country which then was the capital of Paganism, Turkey was the first of the Moslem countries to renounce orthodoxy and take to the ways of the West.

One could get rather Pollyanna-ish about this, but let's not. This does not mean that there will be an early easing of the tensions between the Free and slave worlds, or that Moscow will be the first city behind the Iron Curtain to welcome freedom.

Nevertheless in the long term calculations of business men such possibilities cannot be ignored. They must never become resigned to living on government contracts. Even the aircraft industry probably the greatest beneficiary of government orders, has to—and does, plan for the days when armament orders must taper off.

Only recently the Curtiss-Wright Corporation came forth with a detailed study of the aircraft industry and recommendation of means for keeping it economically healthy. I will not go into all of that here, but I would like simply to present a few figures to show something of the vulnerability of such industries to the tides of armament procurement.

Incidentally the figures presented in that study show that New England's United Aircraft Corporation of Hartford faired better over the bad years than its principal rival, Curtiss-Wright.

In terms of return on net worth after taxes, Curtiss Wright went from a high of 48½ per cent in 1941 to a low of between one and one eighth-tenths per cent in the years 1945 and 1946 United never went so high, but neither did it ever get so low United's high was 40.1 per cent in 1940 and its low, 4.2 per cent in 1946.

There are plenty of other industries that can learn something from aircraft. And, there is time.

It is difficult to ascertain the exact amount of new productive plant we have added here in New England since the war, but one has but to look around him to see that there are plenty of new factories which somehow, we must keep busy However, we do know pretty well what has been added under the impetus of the Korean conflict with government assistance in the form of tax concessions permitting rapid write-off of the investment for tax purposes.

From Washington I have obtained the following report on such new addition to New England plant since the concessions were authorized in 1950:

"The records of the Defense Production Administration show that the federal government has issued tax-saving certificates of necessity for more than half a billion dollars worth of industry expansion in New England since the start of the Korean War.

"Up until last March 15, which is as far as DPA has compiled regional figures a total of 623 certificates had been awarded to New England industries for expansion figures to cost $526,336,000.

"The figure represents only the industry expansion carried out under the accelerated tax write-off program. DPA has no estimates of the amount of industrial development that has come about in the past two years without resort to certificates of necessity

"The tax write-off program was provided in the Revenue Act of 1950. Before then industries were permitted to deduct depreciation for new facilities over periods that varied up to 25 years. With a certificate of necessity the depreciation term for a good part of the investment may be shortened to five years.

"Connecticut received the lion share of the New England industrial expansion under the program up to March 15. At that time 277 certificates had been issued to Connecticut firms for proposed investment of $394,392,000. Massachusetts rated second in New England, with 237 certificates issued for an investment of $85 756,000

"The figures for other New England states were: Rhode Island, $6,795,000; Maine, $22,170,000; New Hampshire, $15,153,000, and Vermont, $2 123,000."

Two Kinds

There are generally two categories of business executives—those who bury themselves in the daily details of business and rarely see beyond the next annual report, and those who detach themselves from the trees to envision the forest. Most business men do the detail work, but not so many can see and understand the bigger picture.

Such a long term viewer was my late friend, Russell Leonard, president of the Pepperell Manufacturing Company. His predecessors must have been the same for in over a hundred years Pepperell—a textile concern, at that—has never missed a dividend. It's that kind of broad-gauged management that is going to be needed in the months and years immediately ahead.

New Englander of the Week

Dr. Leonard Carmichael, president of Tufts College, because Tufts is currently celebrating its hundreth anniversary, and Dr. Carmichael is leaving soon, after fourteen productive years as president of the little college at Medford, Mass., to become secretary of the Smithsonian Institute in Washington.

The Graphic Serves All Citizens—Not a Selected Few

—o—

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Your newspaper has been independent and outspoken re: civic betterment and improvements in Newton. As a Newton business man, property owner and taxpayer I admire your practice and principles. An independent, free press is what Newton needs, where public spirited citizens can voice their opinions without editorial denial.

Through your news columns or as an open letter I submit the enclosed factual story of the assessments being paid by Newton citizens toward MDC construction of swimming, diving and wading pools in other communities.

If your newspaper chooses to use the article, I would like you to use this lead paragraph.

"Enough is enough" headlined an editorial (not the Graphic) back in March, when previously the Board of Aldermen had referred to the city planning board the building of a swimming, diving and wading pool at Albemarle playground.

"As a Newton business man, as a business and property owner, home owner and parent, I believe every Newton citizen should be acquainted with the facts re Newton's assessments for such recreational facilities in other communities within the Metropolitan District Commission control. 'Enough is enough.' It is high time that Newton, within itself, realized the needs for its 'own kids.' These continued MDC assessments 'rob' Newton youngsters and oldsters alike of privileges that should be afforded them. The Albemarle project is still alive. The 'Enough is enough' slogan belongs to a delaying—possibly decaying—city administration."

Thanking you for the cooperation your paper has given toward the development of the Albemarle project. I am,

Harry Gath, Jr.

Hate, No U. S. Policy

Editor Newton Graphic:

You put out a very good paper.

For one thing our taxes are illegal according to the constitution. Subsidies are wrong as they control and pressure the people. Internationalism is wrong as it influences and teaches us to forget nationalism, morality, religion with God as Supreme Being, we are made to forget God who kept our races and the animal kingdom pure, not mongrelized. Brotherhood is encouraging mongrelization and is not necessary as our nation has always sent missionaries and money to foreign lands. Our policy has never been hate, only tolerance and interest in others. Peace is a pressure word and a means of control, while officials talk of impending war and mangle our boys in Korea with our own weapons.

Internationalism has promoted modernized educational plan of nine books called UNESCO to rob our youth of geographic, historic and parental information and control. Let's stop it!

Father's Day

God gave us a wonderful father
A Father who understood,
Who winked at some of our antics
When we were not too good

He was never too tired or weary
To give us a cheery word,
He corrected us with kindness
When our misdeeds had occurred

He never has said to mother
"Don't you ever make them mind?"
Instead he was like a brother
He was so good and kind

We hope the world will profit
And try out father's way,
For building with a loving hand
He now has Father's Day.

Things you'd like to know about your Railroad

THE CENTRAL IDEA

The story behind "Meals on Wheels"

NEW YORK CENTRAL SYSTEM

1. WHAT OTHER TRAVEL can match the fun of meals on wheels? The sparklingly set table in your New York Central diner. The varied menu. The steward and waiter who seem to guess your wishes. And every tempting dish served up with a big helping of scenery on the side!

2. A MEAL A MINUTE is freshly prepared in this compact, stainless-steel kitchen. Into it and its adjoining pantry are nested more than 4,000 pans, dishes, glasses, pieces of table silver and linen. And they are bought mainly from makers along New York Central, in towns like yours!

3. STOCKING THE PANTRIES of Central's dining car fleet is done at commissaries. In a year, we buy 620,000 pounds of prime beef, 670,000 quarts of grade A milk, 400,000 dozen nest-fresh eggs, 105,000 pounds of butter, 120,000 pounds of flour, plus fine fruit and vegetables.

4. THAT ALL ADDS UP to a yearly food bill of more than $3,400,000 for New York Central. Most goes to farmers in Central's area. And that helps local merchants. So dining car service is another way your Railroad is part of every community on its lines. And that's the CENTRAL IDEA!

Protest City Seizure of Their Homes

—o—

Protests were lodged last week by four Newton Corner and Newton Centre residents against the seizure of their homes to ma'e room for off-street parking areas, after the Board of Aldermen voted immediate seizure of the buildings.

The aldermen approved the issuance of four warrants to take possession of the houses when City Solicitor Matt P. Jones reported he was unable to take over the houses from the occupants. The land on which the houses stand was seized by eminent domain by the city in 1949.

Seven houses were affected by the land seizure, but only four families are now living in them. Other tenants have moved since 1949 in compliance with city orders.

Some time ago the remaining families were ordered to vacate by May 25 but they reported they were unable to do so because of the difficulty of finding new apartments. They also cited high rents and refusals because of their children as reasons why they could not find other places to live.

The houses affected by the seizure order are at 18 and 24 Pearl street and 17 Pearl court Newton Corner, and 2, 3 and 4 Beacon place and 32 Pelham street in Newton Centre.

"Why should I be kicked from my home?" asked Domenic Raymond of 18 Pearl street, "so that somebody from Brookline can park his car in Newton Corner, so that somebody from Wellesley can make money? What chan:e does a small home owner and citizen have against a reaity corporation with inside connections?"

Stephen Bonica of 2 Beacon place and Joseph Bonica of 32 Pelham street, Newton Centre, his brother, said they have been seeking for a year for a place they could afford and would admit children.

"We've lived here since we were born, except for Army duty, and we don't want to be kicked away from our friends and neighbors," they declared.

Trouble in finding a new place to live despite persistent searching was also reported by the Anderson family of 1 Beacon place, Newton Centre.

Bruno Raimond, also of 18 Pearl street claimed he had tax receipts for his property for every year since 1949, when the seizure order was issued. After property is taken by eminent domain, the owners are not legally bound to pay rent or taxes. He is also disputing the city's action.

The number of people facing eviction totals 11 adults and three children.

The aldermen's action in approving the warrants places the responsibility for forcing eviction of the families on the Middlesex County Sheriff.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE NEWTONS

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

"ANCHORS AWEIGH!" shouts Captain McKown of the MV Boston Belle and the ship starts the trip to Provincetown.

Anchors aweigh! And we're off on a trip to Provincetown, on the good ship, MV Boston Belle!

It's ten o'clock in the morning, the sun is out and the sea is calm, but we're hoping for real salty weather as the ship moves away from Rowes Wharf in Boston. As the bow heads out of the harbor, the great "toot" of the ship resounds in answer to a whistle of a small tug.

From the top deck, we watch Customs House Tower and the familiar waterfront fade from view. Seagulls squawk and swoop about the ship as a sign of good luck, as we pass Cables Crossing.

We snuggle back in deck chairs, enjoying the cool breeze. The 1,085-ton all-steel, unsinkable ship glides through the waters like a giant swan. One hundred twenty people are employed on this ship which is licensed to carry 3,000 passengers.

Peter T. McLaughlin of Everett, district manager of the Wilson Lines, is refreshingly typical of the spirited young members of the company. Port Captain Arthur Knight, 32, is one of the youngest licensed captains in this area with an unlimited Master's license.

There's a flurry of excitement as the O'Neil sisters, famous for their identical costumes of McCall's printed patterns, appear on deck with their parents. One of the girls has been inadvertently left aboard ship although she is due to report to work. A ship-to-shore phone call straightens out the matter and they settle down to the trip as inconspicuously as 10 famous sisters may.

Over the ship's amplifier comes word that games will be played on the lower deck, then music is piped throughout the ship. We decide to "explore."

Captain Winfield H. McKown of Boston, steps out of the pilothouse. Like all personnel aboard ship, he is courteous and cooperative as we ask him to pose for a picture. We meet Eric Levin of Belmont, quartermaster, and Patrick J. Flaherty of South Boston, chief officer, a man at home on both Atlantic and Pacific waters.

We lunch with Frederick Higgins of Brockton, purser of the "Boston Belle." Taking a second cup of coffee to the upper deck, we watch the ocean swells and enjoy the bracing sea air.

Land! The majestic Pilgrim's Tower of Provincetown comes into view. We join the crowd at the bow to watch the ship tie up at the dock.

Three short blasts announces the ship's arrival! As we pull alongside, huge ropes are thrown to waiting dockhands who lock the ship to shore. A swimmer dives for coins thrown from the ship.

Provincetown! Scene of the first landing of the pilgrims (if you doubt this, ask the natives) —haven of artists-fishermen's home!

Excitement reigns as we scramble ashore. The natives are eager to see the O'Neil girls and gather about them as pictures are taken—the visitors head for the town.

We walk along the narrow main street where bicycles outnumber automobiles. Two hundred year old houses, New England church steeples, gifts, shops, restaurants and art displays are part of Provincetown's charm. We learn that the Town Crier, dressed in Pilgrim costume, will be back this year on June 15, to welcome visitors.

A plaque on a small building arrests our eye. This is the oldest shop in Provincetown, erected in 1799 when John Adams was the second president of our country. It has been used as the office of a local newspaper.

Paul George Lambert, editor and publisher of the weekly newspaper, the Provincetown Advocate, tells us a story of a Provincetown happening. The Blessing of the Fleet is an important event here. About four years ago, while a young man was watching the blessing from his boat a whale appeared. There was great consternation as the whale dived and upset his boat, knocking him into the air. While hundreds looked on, the boy landed on the whale's back. That year the Blessing of the Fleet received small publicity, but the story of "the boy who rode the whale" was heard from here to Timbuktu!

We hired a bicycle and ride out to Long Point. Here great stretches of sand dunes defy civilization. No wonder artists and writers spend months here, away from the clang and rumble of the city! An idyllic setting of a vaste expanse of sea and sand beckon a return call as we pedal away.

The natives of Provincetown number about 3,800, but the population is swelled to 12,000 during the summer. Provincetown is the fourth largest port, where haddock, striped bass and halibut abound.

This year, the famous town has a full-time executive secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, William W. McKellar, a retired army man, qualified and capable. He promises great interest in Provincetown this year with such spectacles as the Blessing of the Fleet, and the now famous Beach Combers Ball, July 25 and Costume Ball, Aug. 22.

A sharp blast from the ship warns of sailing time. Reluctantly we walk along the wharf, by the launches fishing boats and signs announcing excursion tours. Fishermen pose beside their huge fish, then wave from the docks as the ship sounds 1 long and 3 short blasts and moves away at 4:30 p.m.

Once aboard ship, we head for the stern for a last look at Provincetown. Strains of "Anchors Aweigh" by the ship's orchestra float over the waters. As we head for home, hot coffee and a blanket make us comfortable.

Seagulls again and Boston looms before us. The ship, "American Judge" and Wilson Line's "Pilgrim Belle" pass us, on their way out to sea.

Home again! It's eight o'clock as we scramble ashore with wind-blown hair and sun-burned faces. One last look at the gallant voyager, "MV Boston Belle," and we leave Rowes Wharf with the sands of Provincetown still in our shoes!

PROVINCETOWN'S wharf attracts tourists at the bow of the MV Boston Belle.

To Meet on Monday

—o—

Monday evening, at 7:30 o'clock in Masonic Temple, Dedham square, Mainded Grotto, Master Masons, their sons and daughters will have the pleasure of hearing Harold E. Goodnough talk on the subject of "Baseball." His talk, illustrated with moving pictures, will be of great interest to all.

Associated with the Boston Braves, he is well known for his many interesting and entertaining programs on baseball.

With Little League baseball now going like wildfire, it is of utmost importance that Prophets and Master Masons all plan to attend. Girls, as well as boys, sons and daughters of Masons (they will be considered as the audience), will enjoy this program, and the grown-ups will get a kick out of it, too.

NEWTON SCOUTS who were recipients of Eagle and Star Scout Awards a Jamboree of Norumbega Council held at Framingham last week. (Photo by Wilk).

Largest Number of Eagle, Star Scout Awards Ever Made by Norumbega Council Are Given

Meeting in a fire-lit council ring on Nobscot Reservation last Friday evening, a record-breaking Court of Honor presented one of Scouting's highest national awards to a Wellesley Tenderfoot Scout, honored a father-and-son Eagle Scout achievement combination, and created the largest number of Eagle Scouts and Star Scouts in a single Court of Honor in the history of Norumbega Council

John Howe, 12, a member of Troop 80, was presented the Medal of Merit by vote of the National Court of Honor "in recognition of meritorious action of an exceptional character." John earned this distinction by discovering and promptly reporting a defective rail on the B & A line through Wellesley last February.

A record number of Eagle Scout and Eagle Palm awards, thirteen of them made to Newton Scouts, featured the unusual presentation of Eagle Badges to John Sanroma and his son, Paul. Both are affiliated with Explorer Post 21 in Newton Centre. Few adults attain Eagle rank and then may receive their badges at a Council Court of Honor only when they have a son attaining the same rank at the same time.

Other Newton Scouts attaining Eagle status were: David Bourne of Troop 27; Frank Smith Jr. and Robert L. Thomason of Explorer Post 4; William Wills of Troop 14; John Scabia and Douglas Smith of Troop 11; and Allan F. Wright of Explorer Post 11.

Additional honors came to four more Newton Scouts who, having previously become Eagle Scouts, have continued to earn Merit Badges and serve their Troops. David N. French, Troop 7C, received the Eagle Bronze Palm award for having earned five new Merit Badges and serving his Troop for six months. Russell A. Nahigian, Explorer Post 7, was awarded the Eagle Gold Palm in recognition of his having five Merit Badges and six months of service to his Post beyond Bronze Palm requirements. Donald French and James A Paterson of Explorer Post 11 received the Eagle Silver Palm. To qualify for this award the Scouts each earned a total of fifteen Merit Badges and served the Post more than eighteen months after becoming Eagle Scouts.

Camporee Awards

Top patrol in Spring Camporee competition was the Tiger Patrol of Troop 27, whose members are Bruce McFarland, Elmer Barells, Stanley Hamilton and Richard King. The Panther Patrol of Troop 11 and the Cobra Patrol of Troop 51 were tied for second place.

Emergency Service Explorers

Three Newton Scouts, Henry H. Gaffney, Jr., Paul Sanroma and Robert Everett, were given the Emergency Service Explorer rating. To qualify these Scouts earned specific Merit Badges in health and safety classifications and met athletic requirements.

Nobscot Fire Patrol Awards

Certificates were presented to fifteen new members of the Nobscot Fire Patrol by Alwin E. Hodson Jr., Nobscot Fire Commissioner. Newton Scouts receiving these certificates were: James White, Explorer Post 11; Daniel Fawcett, David Bourne and Richard Wolk of Troop 27; Robert Everett, Troop 24, David French, Troop 7C, William Waldman Air Squadron 1, and George Wattendorf, Troop 33.

North League Farm Clubs Open With Doubleheader

Newton North Little League Farm Clubs opened their season with a doubleheader at the Albemarle playground on Saturday morning. The Dodgers and Yankees farm teams opened the session, the score being deadlocked at 11-11 at the end of the regulation six innings. Due to the fact that another another game was to follow managers Arthur Quebec and Jim Barnes agreed to play off the stalemate the next time the two clubs met.

In the second contest, the Indians Farm team defeated the Cardinals Farm team to take sole possession of first place. The battery work of Howard Haywood and Dick Armstrong featured the second contest as did the heavy hitting of the Indians Farm team.

On Wednesday, June 11, the Dodgers and Cardinals Farm teams will tangle at Albemarle at 6:15 p.m. The Yankees Farm team will attempt to knock the Indians out of first place on Friday, June 13, at 6:15 p.m. at the same field.

East Little League Has Active Group Backing Youngsters

The Newton East Little League is particularly fortunate in having as its nucleus, a group of Newtonites who have given much of their time and talents to bring little league to Newton, and make it click.

Administrative duties are capably performed by league officers Jason Silverman, Joseph L. Burke, Mrs. Carl Fassler and Irving Polen. The supervision of the boys is in the hands of the re[illegible] team managers and their assistants. Managers are [illegible] necessarily for their knowledge of the inner strategies of the game, although baseball knowledge is, of course, an asset. They are picked on a basis of character, because they are dealing with youngsters in their most impressionable years. It is more important that they exert proper influence and command respect than to be able to "mastermind" the games.

Manager Syd Borofsky of the Oak Hill Cubs, and his co-manager Leo Soltz are both former B. U. athletes. In addition to baseball, Borofsky played football, hockey and lacrosse at Boston University. From 1936 to 1941 he was hockey coach for the freshman and varsity teams at his Alma Mater, and in 1950 he was line coach at Wellesley High School. Syd's philosophy is "win or lose, sportsmanship is what counts."

The Thompsonville Athletics are fortunate in having two hard working directors. Manager Fred Pagano has played in Newton twilight league baseball for over 12 years, and is presently catching for the Italian American Club. Fred managed the Carson Post Team for two years. Assisting Pagano is Haskell Freedman, attorney and Newton school committeeman. A former Cambridge Latin and Harvard athlete, "Hutch's" experience with youngsters serves the Athletics well

Two University of Penn. athletes guide the destinies of the Chestnut Hill Phillies, Manager George Kaplan captained the 1932 Brookline High School baseball team and was selected All Suburban and All Scholastic second baseman. Kaplan was a member of his high school track team, and played football for both Brookline High and the University of Penn. George covered second base for the Penn baseball team at the same time his assistant Sumner Stroyman was a member of the squad. Both Kaplan and Stroyman have been camp councillors for many years.

Interesting highlights on other East League managers and coaches will follow.

More Eligible For Benefits After July 1

James T. Phelan, Manager of the Cambridge Office of the Social Security Administration, 2 Trowbridge street, advises that a great many people will be eligible for benefits under the new-start provisions of the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Program of the Social Security Law, beginning July 1, 1952.

He states that in most cases it is advisable that applications be filed on or after July 1, 1952. For those persons who are self-employed (in business for themselves), it is advisable for them to file applications after January 1, 1953, unless the self-employed person has had a minimum of self-employment income of $400 in 1951 and $40. in 1952.

Employers who have workers who plan to retire as of June 30, should advise the Cambridge Field Office in advance. In this way the field office can expedite the processing of the applications. For information call the Cambridge Field Office, University 4-3900.

The membership was asked to contribute blood to the Red Cross either June 4 at the Auburndale Club on Melrose street, Auburndale, or at the Newton Centre Women's Club on June 5 between the hours of one and seven.

tin is described as being to the epileptic what insulin is to the diabetic.

Working with Dr. Tracy J. Putnam, a brain surgeon, Dr. Lennox made various experiments after organizing the Harvard Epilepsy Commission to finance the studies. He has been affiliated with the Children's Medical Center for more than six years, and he has published three books and more than 200 articles on epilepsy.

Born in 1884, son of a Colorado gold mine operator, he was graduated from Colorado College and Harvard Medical School. Dr. Lennox married Emma Buchtel, daughter of a former governor of Colorado. After interning at Massachusetts General Hospital, he became a medical missionary to China where he became interested in epilepsy.

Newton Nutrition Center Advises on Use of Herbs For Flavorful Cookery

—o—

New brides and seasoned home makers alike, take heed!! Recently a new bride asked us to please publish something on the use of herbs—how much to use and what goes with what. If you're interested in flavorful cookery, and would like to turn an ordinary dish into something special then this is for you. Herbs may be bought in both whole leaf or ground form. The first thing to remember is to use it sparingly. You can always add more if needed. Two or three tarragon leaves, a sprig of thyme or a few hollow stems of chives are fine in a tossed salad, but double or triple the amount would be disastrous.

Perhaps the commonest herb is parsley. It is used so much as a garnish that it is easy to forget that it has flavor, too. Parsley is one of the must herbs of French cookery. The famous "Omelet Fines Herbes" is nothing but a good omelet plus chopped parsely and perhaps chervil and chives.

Here are a few dishes that are given the "touch of magic" by the addition of aromatic herbs.

Beef Stew—one bay leaf, a pinch of thyme and parsley.

Any tomato dishes—a leaf of basil.

Creamed chicken or Chicken a la King—one bay leaf.

Fruit punches, fruit cocktail—a sprig of mint.

In dressing for pork or duck—use rosemary.

Soups and poultry dressing—use savory.

Salads, spaghetti sauce and vinegar—a pinch of tarragon improves flavor.

Spaghetti—one pinch of oregano.

Chowders and stews—thyme.

Herbs may be grouped in this way. Very strong flavored (rosemary, sage, winter savory), fairly strong (basil, mint, marjoram, thyme, tarragon), and delicate (summer savory, chervil, parsley). You can grow your own in a pot or window box or in the garden and then dry what you don't use for the winter.

It is fun to experiment with new uses for herbs. Herb vinegars give a new taste to salads. It is best to gather or buy bunches of herbs in the early fall. They should be cut, washed and put by double handfuls into jars. Vinegar is added and the mixture is set aside for two or three weeks and then strained. While they are standing, the jars should be given a vigorous shake every day or two. These vinegars can be used for every type of salad. Sage vinegar is a natural for cold duck or pork marinated in it. Dill vinegar goes with veal, basil vinegar with chicken and so on.

For additional information go to your Newton Library for a book on herb cookery or write your Newton Nutrition Center at 1357 Washington St., West Newton, for your copy of "A Manual of Spices," What they are, where they come from and how to use them.

Here's a recipe with "the magic touch" that your family is sure to enjoy:

Scallopini Parmesan

1½ lbs. veal cutlet, thinly sliced
Grated Parmesan Cheese
2 Tbs. oil
1⅓ cups stock
½ tsp. dried or minced fresh marjoram
1 Tbs. butter or margarine
1 Tbs. flour
1 Tbs. tarragon vinegar
Salt and pepper

Cut veal into pieces convenient for serving. Place between two sheets of waxed paper and pound until very thin. Dust with cheese and saute in oil. Add stock, seasonings, and marjoram. Cover and simmer gently until tender. Place meat on serving dish and thicken gravy with smoothly blended butter and flour. Add herb vinegar and pour over meat, dusting with additional cheese if desired.

Mayor Lockwood Puts Blame For Boost In Local Taxes On State

—o—

Says Home Rule Is Highly Essential

—o—

In Strong Speech Cites Pay Raises, Pension Terms and Employment

—o—

Assailing the state government for its increasing encroachment on "home rule," Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, in a speech before the members of the Municipal Finance Officers Association Monday charged that unwise legislation has boosted the Garden City's tax rate substantially. "Too much interference has developed as to employment, pay rates and pension terms and conditions, causing increased expense and local taxes," Mayor Lockwood contended.

In enumerating the problems which municipalities face today in adequately financing the various services demanded, Mayor Lockwood said:

"In considering Sound Economy and Home Rule the viewpoints of a mayor and a finance officer coincide, these factors affecting all operations. The procedures to be followed are a responsibility of executive action, and must involve efficient financial administration. The inescapable effects of state legislation, or its lack, are important.

"The related responsibility of the finance officer should hold him close to the administration as a cabinet officer, and the mayor who violates sound financial procedure is answerable to his electorate.

"Let us briefly consider present conditions. While lack of time prevents dealing with the broad subject of taxes, everyone knows that our citizens are swamped with a mass of taxation. The federal budget of 85 billions leaves a prospect of a $2,000 tax burden on all our families. Our first responsibility is to restrict outlays, and the effects of the shrunken dollar conceal our efforts in economy. Cities cannot pay for all services on a scale considered to be satisfactory. Costs repeatedly exceed former income.

Says Billboards Would Create Traffic Hazard

—o—

Rep. Rawson Reiterates Opposition Registered At Hearing June 6

—o—

Contending that a traffic hazard would result if permission to erect two billboards on top of buildings at Newton Corner were granted, Representative George E. Rawson this week reiterated his opposition to the proposal. In a statement issued this week, Representative Rawson said:

"It is my considered opinion that the Outdoor Advertising Authority of the Commonwealth ought to deny the petition of the John Donnelly & Sons Co., for two billboards to be placed in Nonantum Square, Newton Corner, on which a hearing was held June 6.

"These billboards would be placed on the roofs of two buildings on Washington street in the Square. They would constitute a dangerous traffic hazard. There is at this point a heavy flow of motor vehicle traffic in four different directions, plus great pedestrian traffic. A principal stop of the M.T.A. cars and the bus terminal of the M&B are both located there. The attention of both drivers and pedestrians should not be diverted by billboards in such a location.

"The Newton Board of Aldermen had previously refused to grant the permit. The Newton Improvement Association and various other civic groups have opposed it. Public opinion in Newton is overwhelmingly against it.

"The above is the gist of the protest which I made at the hearing. I also told the Authority that the State never serves the public interest when it over-rides local authority and thus denies home rule, except in grave emergencies, and certainly the location of a couple of billboards is no grave emergency."

Observe 50th Anniversary of Church Sund'y

—o—

Bishop of Maine To Be Preacher at St. John's Church Exercises

—o—

The Fiftieth Anniversary of the Laying of the Cornerstone of St. John's Church, Newtonville, on June 25, 1902, will be celebrated by a service of Holy Communion at 11 a. m. Sunday. The Right Reverend Oliver L. Loring, D.D., Bishop of Maine, and son of the first Rector of the church will be the preacher.

At this service a stained glass window in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. West, formerly of West Newton, and for many years active members of St. John's Parish will be dedicated. The dominent theme for the window is to be the Calling of the Apostles: in the medallion at the right, Our Lord calling the brothers Peter and Andrew to be fishers of men as they cast their net; the other two brothers, James and John from their boat, in the medallion at the left. The smaller medallions below will be the symbols of the Fountain of Life, emblem of salvation; and the Peacock, ancient symbol of immortality through Christ. Above will be the Archangles, Michael and Gabriel, with the sword of justice and the lily of purity.

On Wednesday of next week, the actual anniversary date, there will be a Reception and Parish Dinner. The Right Reverend Norman B. Nash, Bishop of Massachusetts will be the principal speaker.

The two living former Rectors of the Parish, the Reverend Raymond Lang, D.D., Rector of Christ Episcopal Church, Middletown, Conn., and the Reverend DeWolf Perry, Rector of St. Michael's Church, Charleston, South Carolina, will be present at the service on Sunday and at the reception and dinner on Wednesday. There will be a display of pictures illustrative of the life in the Parish during the past 50 years, and an interesting history of the Parish will be published at that time.

All former members of the Parish are invited and it is expected

Herter Jr., to Be Candidate For Reelection

REP. HERTER, JR.

—o—

Now Serving In the State Legislature • Work Has Been Outstanding

—o—

Representative Christian A. Herter, Jr. has announced that he would run for renomination and re-election as State Representative from the 4th Middlesex District. This district includes Wards 1, 2, 3 and 7 of Newton.

"It is my sincere hope," said Herter, "that the citizens of my district will want to send me back to Beacon Hill. I have tried to represent them conscientiously and effectively."

Rep. Herter is now serving in the State Legislature on the Committee on Cities. He was appointed last year by the Speaker of the House to the Special Commission on Legislative Procedure. "This Commission," explained Herter, "is charged with the responsibility of finding ways and means to speed up the legislative process in Massachusetts and to cut down the vast amount of unnecessary matters with which the Legislature must deal each year. Some of its recommendations have already been put into effect."

"While serving on the Committee on Cities," Herter continued, "I have seen the vital necessity for returning home-rule to our municipalities. More and more the Legislature is interfering in local affairs, and this has been particularly true in Newton. I have sponsored and voted for legislation seeking to correct this creeping assumption of control by the state."

As a member of the General Court, Rep. Herter has spent much time studying the very complicated financial operations of the state. He voted against

Hectic Session Held By Aldermen As $11 Tax Rate Increase Looms

—o—

Minimum of $9 Boost Possible

—o—

Suggest Valuations Be Increased to Aid in Reducing Sharp Rise

—o—

At a heated and hectic session of the Board of Aldermen Monday night, predictions that the tax rate for this year was likely to increase anywhere from $9 to $11 were freely made. The rate last year was $38.40, and any such increase as was predicted would skyrocket Newton's rate to well up into the high brackets of other municipalities.

A suggestion by Mayor Lockwood that $350,000 of the city's $445,000 free cash account be transferred to help reduce such an increase, set off a two-hour debate which wound up with no decision.

Chairman John D. Wright of the Board of Assessors stated that based on present information, the tax rate this year might well be anywhere between $47.50 per one thousand dollars of valuation to $49.50.

Reasons for such a drastic increase in the tax rate was attributed to the fact that the budget total this year was $1,800,000 in excess of last year's figure and that this, together with an estimated loss of $600,000 in the personal property tax levy as a result in the change of law which went in effect this year and a loss of about $626,000 in State revenue from the amount received last year, would result in

Middlesex Bus Line Granted Fare Increase

—o—

21.8 Percent Boost By D.P.U. Likely To Go In Effect Sunday

—o—

A 21.8 percent fare increase approved Monday for the Middlesex & Boston Street Railway will probably take effect this Sunday, President John H. Walsh, of Waltham, said Monday night.

Under the new schedule, approved Monday by the State Department of Public Utilities, the sale of tokens at three for 35 cents will be abandoned, and a straight 15-cent fare will be charged.

The bus line, which suffered $250,000 in lost revenue during the recent 46-day drivers' strike, in addition to Newton, serves Waltham, Watertown, Natick, Framingham, Lexington, Concord, Bedford, Billerica, Arlington Heights, Needham, Wellesley and Dedham.

A company proposal to discontinue sale of so-called "town line tickets" was disapproved by the D.P.U., however, and the firm was ordered to discontinue these sales "at rates consistent with the new rates."

The town line tickets are used only between Billerica Center or Concord Center and Bedford Center, and between Bedford Center and Lexington Center, with no transfer privileges. The tickets were half-price, but two were needed beyond the town line.

Learn to Swim Program to Open July 7

—o—

The "Learn to Swim" program conducted each summer by the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, in co-operation with the Newton Recreation Department, will open July 7 at Crystal Lake. Children aged 5 and over are eligible for classes under certified Water Safety instructors.

Free transportation for children will be furnished once a week from each of the following playgrounds:

Mondays, beginning July 7, Stearns and Hawthorne — 9:15 am.; Cabot and Lincoln Elliot — 10:15 a. m.

Tuesdays, beginning July 8, Carr and Horace Mann — 9:15 a. m., Emerson and Upper Falls — 10:15 a. m.

Wednesdays, beginning July 9, Franklin — 9:15 a. m.; Davis and Peirce — 10:15 a. m.

Thursdays, beginning July 10, Hamilton and Williams, 9:15 a. m.; Memorial, then Oak Hill and Bowen — 10:15 a. m.

Fridays, beginning July 11, Auburndale and Angier — 9:15 a. m.; Burr Playground (Underwood) — 10:15 a. m.

Those who have not registered for the classes may do so at Crystal Lake on July 7.

State to Improve Street at Newton Man's Suggestion

—o—

Acting on the request of a Newtonville man, the state will eliminate a curve on the road to Lake Walden in Lincoln as part of the Massachusetts highway program.

Gordon L. Hawes of 216 Nevada street, Newtonville, who requested the action from Gov. Dever, reported Saturday that preliminary engineering work is being done on the project. He said that John J. Fox, chief secretary to the governor, had received a letter from the Department of Public Works promising to include the straightening "in our next Chapter 90 Program."

The project calls for making the road straight from New Baker Bridge to the beach area of Lake Walden.

Crystal Lake Starts Operating On Full Time Schedule Today

The Newton Recreation Department opened the swimming facilities at Crystal Lake for the season at 1952 last Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m.

Today (Thursday) the beach will begin to operate on a full morning, afternoon and evening schedule. Bath-house will open at nine o'clock in the morning and will close at dusk. Sunday swimming is limited to Sunday afternoons from 2 to 6 p. m.

The swimming permit this year will be in the form of a swimming button to be attached to the clothing. All permits will be sold at Crystal Lake. The price of the permit is 25c each.

In order that there be no tie up of the office clerk, it is requested that permit purchases be made by the individuals and not for family groups. In the case of children below school age, we will allow for the purchase of permits by the parent or older brother or sister.

The locker building has been improved for this season. A Basket System for checking has been installed so that clothing will be under control in a storage area. The use of this basket system will provide for better control in our locker room, easier access and use of the bath-house, and we will be able to serve more people. The swimming period will be limited to one hour per person per day. The main room of the bath-house has had a first-aid room installed in one corner. This first aid room will house the necessary facilities for the care of any first aid needs for our swimmers. The equipment will be installed at soon as delivered.

Newton citizens are invited to make full and complete use of the swimming facilities at Crystal Lake.

The water tests have been excellent since the first week in May, and the water is extremely clear. Due to the high water our beach area is limited. However, a dry spell of any duration will help in the development of a beach area.

The staff is made up of persons experienced and well trained in lifeguard work. Mr. Francis Harrigan, teacher at the Underwood School has been appointed beach and bath-house manager. The lifeguard staff is made up of Mr. Oliver Cavanaugh, Mr. Allen Wilson, Mr. Donald Woodard, Mr. Bruce Peterson, Mr. David Starkweather, Mr. George Higgins, Mr. William Burke, Mr. Harry Hanson, Mr. Henry Hudson, and Mr. William Phelan, Mr. Samuel Vangel.

The bath-house attendants are Helen Campbell, Mark Dorenbaum, Earl Heard, Elizabeth Ravinsky, Joan Woodard, Evelyn Burke. Miss Mary Keenan will be in charge of the office and sale of permits.

Says Prophecy Well on Way To Fulfillment

—o—

Muther States Local Tax Outlook Now Grim as Large Increase Looms

—o—

"The prophecy of a grim outlook for local taxation in 1952, made by the Newton Taxpayers' Association earlier this year, is well on its way to fulfillment," asserted Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Association Executive Director this week.

"Monday, the Board of Aldermen faced up to the task of determining how much, if any, of the city's $440,000 surplus (as of April 30) should be used to soften the effect of a kiting tax rate, which Chairman Wright of the Board of Assessors estimated at possibly being set between $47 and $48.50 per thousand," Muther continued.

"While the final result may not be quite so unhappy," stated Muther, "the issue pointed up the necessity for the Aldermen to decide how far and how fast the requirements of Newton's growing population can be met without overburdening already highly assessed home owners. Especially in the light of hidden raids by the state on the city's income, a re-examination of the city's policies is in order, by the citizens as well as the Aldermen and the School Committee, for it is now clearly apparent that continuing demands for better than first class service from the city government must now be principally financed by immediate heavy increases in the property levy.

"The roast chickens of high government living are coming home to roost—and the taxpayers, perhaps feeling like somewhat plucked chickens, can only save their remaining feathers by getting behind a "level off" policy for local government spending," Muther concluded.

Memorial Portrait Presented Lucy Jackson Chapter, D.A.R.

A memorial portrait of Miss Lucy Ellis Allen was presented to the Lucy Jackson Chapter, DAR, in Newton Lower Falls at the chapter's dessert bridge on June 11.

The gift was made by alumnae of the Misses Allen School for Girls in West Newton founded and operated by many years by Miss Allen and her sister, Miss Fanny Allen. They were daughters of the famous 19th century educator Nathaniel Topliffe Allen who founded the Allen Boys School in West Newton.

Miss Sarah Wingate Taylor of Duxbury represented the alumnae in presenting the gift to Mrs. F. J. Warren, Regent of the Lucy Jackson Chaper. She said, "The location of this memorial is particularly fitting since the Daughters of the American Revolution are interested in fostering the ideals of education which Miss Allen so effectively upheld and Miss Allen served as Regent of this chapter."

The portrait was painted by Elizabeth V. Taylor Watson. Among the alumnae interested were Miss Helen Ruhe, Miss Joan Gordon, Mrs. Edson L. Mears, Mrs. Joseph Skinner, Mrs. Joseph L. Robbins, Mrs. L. A. Potter, Mrs. Robert S. Kretschmar, Miss Louise Maynard, all of the Newtons; Dr. Eunice Chapman of Needham; Mrs. Alfred Tuxbury Hill, Mrs. Kenneth McDougall, Mrs. R. A. Shepardson and Mrs. Gordon Buckman of Wellesley, Mrs. Charles F. Allen of Medfield and many more.

Allen Barker to Conduct Music School Summer Session

The All Newton Music School closed its forty-first season last Saturday after a full and busy year. Advance registrations for fall placement have been coming in all during the spring and an unusually active new season is anticipated.

During the years since its beginning in 1911, the Music School has acquired a distinct character and has always maintained high musical standards. It continues to offer training for students of all ages from six years up. Many thousands of students have come under the influence of the school's teaching, which emphasizes thorough grounding in musicianship, theory of music and applied music.

The All Newton Music School is a non-profit organization managed by a board of directors resident of Metropolitan Boston. As in all educational institutions, the income from tuition covers only a part of its operating costs. The deficit is made up by a small grant from the Newton Community Chest, gifts and legacies from interested friends.

For the first time, the Music School will hold a summer session with music classes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday mornings conducted by Allen Barker. Mr. Barker is a faculty member of the Piano Department at the school, holds the Artist's Diploma from the New England Conservatory and plays frequently at the Gardner Museum. He is also president of the Musical Guild of Boston.

ALLEN BARKER

The summer music course will start on June 30 and last through August 6. The classes will be open to any one interested in developing an imaginative response to music. No particular musical experience is necessary, applicants may or may not have studied any instrument and little or no outside preparation would be expected.

Application may be made at the Music School office June 16 through June 20, thereafter by telephone KEnmore 6-1056.

Mrs. John D. Fox, Richard White Head Mercantile Division Fund Drive

One of the important divisions in the yearly Red Feather Campaign in Newton is the Mercantile Division. This Division handles all stores and retail establishments as well as banks, bank employees, Community Chest agencies, private schools, and clubs and societies.

The Mercantile Division has two sections, the Women's Section and the Men's Section. The Division solicits approximately 2,000 business concerns and employees and raises a substantial portion of the Red Feather goal, last year approximately $21,000.

In the 1953 Red Feather Campaign Mrs. John D. Fox of Newton Highlands will head the Women's Section and Richard J. White of West Newton the Men's Section. Assisting Mrs. Fox as Assistant Chairman will be Mrs. Leonard C. Bassett of Newton Highlands; and as District Chairmen, Mrs. George E. Wrye of Auburndale; Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell in Newton; Mrs. Arthur L. Norton in Newton Centre; Mrs. George F. Brewer in Newton Highlands; Mrs. Rufus F. Walker in Newtonville; Mrs. Raymond W. Blaisdell in Waban; and Mrs. Joseph C. Skinner in West Newton. As Chairmen for other sections Mrs. Fox has appointed Mrs. Milton Grayson in charge of Chest Agencies solicitation; Mrs. Kenneth J. Waite to contact Clubs and Societies; and Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Jr., to handle Private Schools.

In the Men's Division assisting Mr. White will be T. Russell Keery in charge of the Automobiles section; Charles E. Smith for Banks; John J. White for Bank Employees; J. Seymour McLean for Package Stores; Eugene A. Cronin for Special Accounts; and Joseph B. Davis for Taverns.

There will be approximately 200 men and women working in the Mercantile Division. Solicitation for the Division will take place prior to the launching of the general Red Feather Campaign on October 29. All business prospects are assigned to the Mercantile Division and it is the aim of the Campaign organization to reduce double solicitation by not asking Newton business men and women to give from their homes.

Mrs. Thresher Is Candidate For Reelection

Mrs. Irene K. Thresher is a candidate for re-election as Representative to the Mass. State Legislature from the fifth Middlesex District, which includes Auburndale, Newton Upper and Lower Falls, Waban, Newton Highlands, Newton Centre, Oak Hill and Chestnut Hill. She was first elected two years ago.

At the beginning of last year she had the unusual distinction of being elected as president of the Freshmen in the House, the first woman to hold that position.

She has served on the Public Welfare Committee during the session. The Speaker of the House also appointed her to serve on the legislative recess commission on reviewing the Public Welfare Laws. She was likewise made chairman of the sub-committee on the Problems of the Aiging, which has just published a very interesting report, and which helped to plan the stimulating conference on these problems on March 14 with the United Community Services with an attendance of more than 500.

As a past member of the Newton School Committee, another of her special interests has been education. She made a special study of the State Teachers Colleges, and visited them all on her own initiative, so that she would know better, what their needs are. This year she is also working on the problem of making one of the new television channels available for education.

Besides perfect attendance at roll calls, since she went in to the General Court, she has filled many speaking engagements in the Greater Boston area, and as far away as Lowell and Worcester, before both men's and women's groups.

32 Graduate From Newton Jr. College

Dr. Carl S. Ell, president of Northeastern University, told 32 Newton Junior College graduates Friday night that they are about to enter "a world of wonders."

Speaking at commencement exercises in the school auditorium, Dr. Ell said that the graduates face a world of countless opportunities—a world of new products, processes, techniques and jobs.

He warned that they were also "going out into a world of problems, but problems are not peculiar to this year or any year. You have to overcome them to be a success.

"Problems are common to life, work, failure, happiness and, more important, to success. There are worthwhile things in life but they can only be achieved by hard work, determination and the overcoming of obstacles."

Dr. Ell, speaking on "Wings of the Future," pointed out the many new developments in recent years. "The span of life," he declared, "has risen from 40 years in 1900 to 69 today. The recent multitude of inventions and discoveries is not accidental. It is the result of a long process."

Degrees were awarded to the graduating class by Dr. James B. Palmer, chairman of the Newton School Committee. Local students in the class included Monroe Carder, Roger Cederlund, Philip Connor, Francis Duggan, Donald Duguid, Thomas Fahey, William Foran, Jason Hochberg, Leonard Kent, Joel Krinsky, Salvatore Lechiaro, Curt Livingston, William Lynch, Robert Malton, Herbert McGill, Arthur Roche, Richard Rycroft, Richard Shea, Robert Valentine, Arthur Wallace, Chester Wallace, and Richard Woodman.

Newton Upper Falls Couple Drown in Cape Cod Tragedy

Fiance of, Newton Girl Also Dies Swimming in Hudson Mishap

Thrown overboard when their rented sloop overturned late Saturday, a Newton Upper Falls couple—who would have celebrated their first wedding anniversary Monday—drowned with five others in mild seas off Cape Cod.

In a separate accident Sunday afternoon, a 23-year-old Newton girl, engaged to be married June 28, watched helplessly from the shore of Lake Boone, Hudson, while her fiance dove from a boat and drowned 125 feet away.

Donald Anastasi, 27, and his wife, the former Angela Mainini, 23, of 15 Saco street, were members of a gay weekend party which unaccountably met tragedy when the 18-foot vessel capsized. Their bodies were not immediately located when air-sea rescue teams found the boat floating three miles from shore

The drowning victims had rented the sloop Saturday afternoon and had set sail in mild weather into Sesuit Harbor, East Dennis, about 3 p.m. The boat was last seen at 5:30 p.m. "about three miles due north of the harbor and tacking shoreward," according to an observer.

When the party did not return to port by 9 p.m., their disappearance was reported by Austin Kirkbridge, proprietor of the East Dennis Boat Shop, who rented the craft to the seven. They had promised him, he said, that they would be back at 6 p.m. without fail.

Coast Guardsmen from nearby stations immediately began a search in small boats, and they were joined Sunday morning by planes from Quonset Point and Salem. Beach searching parties were organized along the shore from the Canal to the tip of the Cape.

Four hundred Civil Defense workers and auxiliary policemen were ordered to stand by in case they were needed in the search.

A Barnstable lobsterman found the first clue to the vessel's whereabouts when he came across a life jacket on the Dennis shore Sunday morning. Five hours later the capsized boat was sighted less than three miles from the spot where the jacket had floated ashore.

Tangled in the rigging of the craft when Coast Guardsmen came along side was the body of Erte Sanchioni, 33, of Needham Heights. Nearby floated the bodies of William Mainini, 9, of Framingham, Mrs. Anastasi's brother; J. Richard Murley, 27, of Back Bay, and Dolores R. Giumetti, 24, also of Needham Heights.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Anastasi, also missing was Mr. Sanchioni's sister, Stelia Sanchioni, 24.

The Coast Guard is expected to conduct an inquiry into the accident, in an effort to find out why the craft capsized almost within sight of land in mild seas and with only a moderate breeze blowing.

Both Mr. Anastasi and Mr. Sanchioni had sailed small craft many times before, neighbors reported, terming Mr. Sanchioni a "veteran sailor." Both had summer homes on Taunton avenue, Dennis.

The Weather Bureau stated that seas and winds were mild the night of the accident and there were no reports of squalls having occurred in the Cape Cod area.

In the Lake Boone accident, John Triconi Jr., 22, of 55 Brown street, Waltham, and Nicholas Mancini, 222, of Watertown were rowing near each other when Mr. Triconi said he wanted to take one last dip.

He dived into the water but did not come up again. Mr. Mancini rowed quickly to the spot and leaped in after him. For almost 10 minutes Mr. Mancini struggled to save the drowning man while Mr. Triconi's fiance, Angelina Coletti, 19, of 80 West street, Newton, called for help.

But other swimmers nearby did not seem to think anything was actually wrong, and after 10 minutes Mr. Mancini was forced to release his grip.

Lt. Batey Now at Mitchel Air Base

First Lt. David C. Batey, 85 High street, Newton Upper Falls, has reported for 15 days' refresher training at Mitchel Air Force Base, L. I.

One thousand Air Force Reserve officers from the 15 northeastern states in First Air Force region will complete this course by July 1.

Lt. Batey, a mechanical engineer with the Raytheon Manufacturing Co., Waltham, flew 76 combat missions as a fighter pilot in the Southwest Pacific during World War II. He won the Air Medal with two oakleaf clusters and participated in seven campaigns.

With a background of nine years' military service, Lt. Batey has been ordered into the fourth of five successive classes being taught here by combat veterans recently returned from Korea and by officers regularly assigned as professors of air science and tactics in Air Force ROTC detachments at leading universities.

Liquor Permit Ruling Sought By City Board

In an effort to clear up confusion caused by a ruling by the State Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission during a hearing earlier this year, the Newton Licensing Board has sent a letter to the ABC asking whether an all-liquor package goods license is available in the city.

Newton became eligible for an additional license in 1951 when a state census showed an increase of 500 persons in the city since 1945. Late last year, the Newton Board, which received 40 applications for the license, awarded it to Kenneth J. Merrill and Joseph J. Hickey, both Newton disabled veterans.

The ABC overruled the Newton Board on the license, taking it away from Merrill and Hickey and giving it to the Garden City Mart at Newton Corner.

Two court cases to prevent the awarding of the license to the Mart, headed by Thomas M. Gilligan, were unsuccessful, but during the trials Edward L. Baker, chairman of the ABC, said that the Gilligan license application was for 1951 and was invalid for 1952.

Injunctions against issuing the license were issued for the duration of the trials, but they are no longer in force since the time for appeals from the decisions has expired.

Newton licensing officials hope to get a ruling from the ABC that will reopen the entire matter for new applications, it was reported. No applications for the license will be available until a ruling is received from the ABC.

A Timely Warning

In a letter to this paper, a Newton parent, concerned for the safety of his children and other children, has suggested that we issue a timely warning to a condition which apparently prevails here, even though it is contrary to the law.

Our correspondent says: "I have two young sons, 13 and 15 years of age. Twice in the past week they have been approached by other boys who have told them that they have fire crackers for sale. In one case our boys told me that a family of three other boys have invested over $100 for the fire crackers. The price at which they propose to sell them represents a 600 percent profit.

"Boys," he continues, 'have great temptations along about this time of the year, even though this is pretty early to be looking forward to July Fourth celebrations. It would almost seem that parents would be aware of the fact when young sons have made an investment as large as $100 plus. But it is the children of other families, in all probability, who will get into trouble with the police when they are caught in disobedience of the regulations and restrictions of our city."

This warning should be heeded by parents of children. Fireworks, at best possess an element of danger, even in adult hands and especially so in the hands of youngsters. Perhaps this timely warning of this public spirited citizen will do much to alleviate grief and sorrow, if prompt attention is paid to it.

School Is Out

Summer vacation from school is here. In the 92 days of June, July and August, 1951, 34 children suffered injury in highway traffic accidents every day and one child was killed every five days.

Will this child sacrifice to highway traffic be repeated this year?

Will you drive slower this summer? Will you do your part to reduce child traffic accident frequency?

Eight hundred thousand school-age children must be protected!

Current Comment

Battle in Primary for Attorney General . . . Ike Appears to Have Lost Ground to Taft . . .

Attorney General Francis E. Kelly has some of his fellow Democrats in a political dither by his refusal to say whether he will stand for reelection to a third term.

Kelly has been quoted as saying that he will wait until after the Democratic national convention before making a definite decision as to whether he will or will not run.

That sounds like a bit of political toe-dancing because the deadline for filing nomination signatures with local election authorities is July 22, the second day of the Democratic convention, and it would be too late, when the convention is over, for anyone else to enter the race.

Several prospective Democratic candidates for Attorney General have nomination papers in circulation, but the only one strong enough and well enough known to stand up to Kelly in a primary is Attorney George J. Leary, former trouble-shooter for the Democratic national committee.

The other contenders, however well-intentioned they may be, would be lost in the shuffle if a two-fisted battle with Kelly developed in a Democratic primary. Leary, however, who has demonstrated his strength in Boston and who is known in other parts of the State through his work for the Democratic national committee, probably could give a good account of himself in that kind of fight.

The members of Attorney General Kelly's family would like him to get out of politics and return to his busy and lucrative law practice which Kelly himself disclosed during the Derham Cenedella case yields him a $150,000-a-year income.

But Kelly has been in politics for a quarter of a century, and political observers anticipate that when he finally makes his decision, if he hasn't already made it privately, it will be to run for reelection.

A knock-down battle between Kelly and Leary seems likely in that event, with the probability that the other aspirants will retire gingerly from the field rather than face the prospect of being outdistanced.

Few Democratic hopefuls could hope to survive against Kelly in a primary, but the number of Democratic legislators who have indicated their readiness to swing behind Kelly in the event of such a conflict would indicate that a Kelly-Leary contest could prove a hard-fought, tight-lipped struggle.

* * * *

While it is difficult to appraise all the cross-currents in the tremendous fight being waged between the camps of General Eisenhower and Senator Taft, it would appear that Ike has lost ground since his return to this country and that Taft's chances of winning the Republican Presidential nomination are better today than they were a few weeks ago.

It was anticipated that might happen when the General changed from the role of soldier to politician, but it was not expected that Ike's stock would drop quite as much as it evidently has in a period of a little more than two weeks.

The decline started when Eisenhower's home-coming Abilene speech proved something of a flop, and the outraged screams by his political lieutenants because Senator Taft has placed his men in the key places of the Republican national convention, have not helped Ike's cause

The impression still exists in most G.O.P. quarters that Eisenhower would have a better chance of winning in November as the Republican Presidential standard-bearer, but that conviction is not as strong now as it was three weeks ago.

Happenings in the next two weeks undoubtedly will tend to shape the thinking of many of the on-the-fence delegates who have not yet made a choice between Taft and Eisenhower and who will hold the balance of power at the G.O.P. national convention.

At the present moment the Republican Presidential race shapes up as a tossup that can go either way. The Ike men are hammering hard at the claim that their man would make the most potent candidate. Taft backers are trying to take full advantage of the fact that their candidate will go into the convention with the biggest bloc of first-ballot votes, hoping to start a rush by delegates anxious to have seats on the winning bandwagon.

This is the kind of fight that could be settled by one incident, one turn of events, one spectacular development.

* * * *

A sharp argument as to the order in which the candidates should be nominated at next week's Republican assembly in Worcester has been ironed out. It was precipitated because Attorney General George Fingold felt that the procedure to be followed may lessen his chances of winning the G.O.P. endorsement for Attorney General.

As matters now stand, the first choice to be made will be from the two candidates for State Auditor, and the guessing in political circles is that David J. Mintz of Newton will get the nod.

Then the delegates will select an Attorney General, with the prospect of a lively fight between Fingold, Frederick Ayer, Jr., and District Attorney George B. Thompson of Middlesex County. If Mintz is chosen as the Republican nominee for Auditor, Fingold is probably correct in his contention that it will lessen his chances in the succeeding fight, though the Malden man has been working for nearly two years to line up support of his bid.

OUR NEW ENGLAND

Southern States Cordial in Two Ways to Industry; Tasty Recipes and Votes

By JOHN H. CRIDER

The New England senators who opposed southern efforts to liquidate the Walsh-Healey public contracts act have just scored a major victory in Washington. The southerners settled for a "compromise" that netted them little of what they were after.

The Walsh-Healey act is the one under which the federal government sets minimum wage standards for industries working on government contracts. New Englanders charged the south was trying to get rid of the act in order to further widen the gap between the wage levels of the two regions.

Fulbright's Proposals

Senator Fulbright (D.-Ark.) was the sponsor of three proposals aimed at the act. One would have required that the minimum pay standards be set by localities rather than on a national basis. Under that procedure mills in southern towns could set just about any pay scale they wanted and call it the "prevailing" minimum for their localities—and then bid against New England mills for government contracts.

A second proposal of Fulbright's would have exempted from the act anything that can be purchased by anyone in the open market. And a third Fulbright amendment proposed a system of court appeals from government findings under the act. Under the Senate compromise only the court appeal proposal was adopted, and that without any opposition from New England

Thus, not everything goes badly for our region in the economic "Civil War."

Another bright spot was shown by a New England Council analysis of Department of Labor statistics for April demonstrating that whereas there were 23,000 more workers in durable goods industries in New England than in the previous April, employment in these industries for the rest of the country was down by seven thousand. Most of our gains were in Connecticut and Massachusetts.

Cordial Attitude

A recent Associated Press survey of southern hospitality to industry made quite a point of there being two kinds of this hospitality—(1) the personal interest and kindliness of officials from the Governor of the state down to the lowliest employee, and (2) non-punitive laws which express this hospitality to industry in more tangible terms.

That this approach really works was best illustrated by South Carolina which, until very recent years was primarily an agricultural state. The survey reported that since 1944 that state has seen 900 new industrial plants go up at a cost of more than $465,000,000. They created 60,000 new jobs and annual payrolls of $158,000,000.

The Associated Press found that one of the most important of many factors in this situation was the cordial attitude of the people "from the Governor on down, who want new industry and will go to lengths to cooperate in a coordinated program to get it."

As for the second kind of hospitality the survey found that there had been a parallel trend away from "penalty legislation" which had formerly harrassed industry in South Carolina. Many of such laws on the statute books in the 1930's have been repealed as a consequence of discussions between industrialists, legislators, and state planning officials.

Surely we here in New England can learn something from this.

And judging by a vote of the Massachusetts House only the other day, it seems that perhaps the Bay State law makers are learning something of the kind. It came as rather a surprise that they voted down another increase in the state's unemployment relief payments, already about the highest in the nation. It was an impressive defeat because labor and Governor Dever were for it. The House has a substantial Democratic majority.

Prickly Pears and Votes

Washington—Recipes for tasty dishes made from peanut butter or evaporated apple rings are being tossed into the campaign for votes this year by some New England congressmen. Along with advice about how to keep the cellar dry and how to get the maximum use out of clothes closets. The way it works is like this:

The voter goes to the mail box and finds a letter from his congressman. The letter contains a long list of publications which the congressman is ready to send along, free of charge if the voter merely will check off the topics in which he is interested. The voter cuts himself in on a generous collection of free literature, thinks what a splendid and thoughtful fellow his congressman is, and maybe remembers him on election day.

Actually the literature offered has been available free to all right along and this little package deal just dresses it up as something from the congressman. The literature being offered is put out by the Department of Agriculture. The department, which may want the congressman's vote sometime, has donated the catalogues to the congressional offices with order blanks to which the congressman attaches his own name. The fellow who pays for all this is the same taxpayer who may think he is getting something for nothing when he opens his mail.

Some of the publications in the catalogues may not be effective in winning New England votes, especially city votes. The Agriculture Department has arranged a list aimed primarily for the rural trade. And not many New England farmers are apt to get excited about a gift of free information on "Pricky pear control on short-grass range in the Central Great Plains" or "How to graze blue gama on Southwestern ranges."

"Pots and pans for your kitchen" and "Tools for food preparation and dishwashing" may be publications the New England housewife cannot get along without. But free information on how to shoe a horse and how to build "practical hog houses" probably will not win many votes inside the limits of our New England cities.

CARTER, president of Carter's of Needham Heights Mass., the largest manufacturer of underclothing for all members of the family in the United States, because he just celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday, which corresponds to the birthday of the company, founded in his birth year by the present Mr. Carter's father. And despite troubles in other areas of New England textile business, Carter's is enjoying the best year in its history. Happy birthday to Mr. Carter and Carter's.

The animals were shown by Gilbert Merrill, a member of the museum's educational staff. Included in the entertainment was a showing of color slides of Cub events for the past year, taken by Jack Orrok.

Participating in the dinner were Edward C. Uehlein, chairman of the Association; Kenneth Rogers, treasurer; Irving Wolf, secretary of Pack 9; Henry Harwood, Cubmaster of Pack 10; and Malcolm Kispert, Cubmaster of Pack 10. The meeting was conducted by A. G. Sawyer, chairman of Pack 10's program committee.

Says Job Outlook For Students in This Area Good

—o—

The job outlook for this year's high school graduates is very good in this area, according to the local Employment Security Office.

Manager John Kennealy reports unemployment in the area, comprised of Newton, Watertown, Wellesley and Needham is lower than it has been for several years at this time. It is estimated that only about 2 percent of the total labor force of approximately 45,000 are unemployed.

The office has finished its testing and counseling program with various high schools in the area and is now referring graduates to interested employers. The demand for girls is slightly in excess of the supply and there are also many jobs for boys still open. If there are any graduates who have not yet been placed, they are urged to go to the local employment office at 290 Centre street, Newton.

The program for cooperation with high schools aims to simplify the transition from school to work by registering, testing and counseling graduates who expect to enter the labor market. Employers are then contacted by mail, telephone and personal visits to develop job opportunities to which the youthful job seekers are referred.

'Cities and towns have in general done an outstanding job in fighting inflation. In 1951, if the dollar is figured at 57 cents, the per capita costs of my city were 24 percent below the per capita costs of the period from 1935 to 1939 The tax rate was up 35 percent but the dollar had shrunken 43 percent. Everything has been inflated except property valuations Properties have sold for three times their assessment. This may indicate that cities lack faith in the permanence of present prices Conservative assessing is a sound approach to hard times but low valuations inevitably create higher tax rates.

Generally speaking, in a recovery and reconstruction period in a growing city we handled about twice the volume of work in 1951 that was called for in 1939 with only a 10 percent increase in number of employees. This involved changed methods, and much use of mechanical and time-saving equipment. Much attention has been paid to fair pay rates and esprit de corps. Primarily employees are taught that just as they are exacting as to receiving full pay in their pay envelope or check, so the city cannot be short-changed in record of time delivered to the city. This vital thought is capable of greater development than is often realized

"Contrast this with the federal government maintaining a working force of more than 2½ million people and a drab example of per day output in many cases. This takes place when we should be economizing to enable us to spend for defense. The high salaries paid and the volume hired have been major factors with you as well as me, and represent a situation out of hand, instead of within control.

"No administrator should fail today to view facts like the following:

"Present welfare costs are much the result of unwise legislative action. My taxpayers in 1952 pay 2½ times the total of 1937, which year is a dreary memory with us all. This is a hidden tax, paid largely from income taxes drained from the pockets of our people In my city, in this so-called prosperous year, the welfare cost is the equivalent of about $5.00 in the tax rate and represents a phase that should come well under the finance officer's eye as a future problem.

"Literature abounds with warnings of our trend toward a welfare state, pointing out the dangers of regimentation and socialism beyond the incipient stage. Such references are commonly hushed in election periods anywhere, but we should clearly understand that we are not engaged in a cold war against one power as much as we are resisting the inroads of communism everywhere.

"No city or town however residential in character, can soundly lose constant interest in its home industries with the important effects of employment upon its taxpayers and tax recipts from its business houses, including mercantile trade.

"Growing cities today are faced with novel demands for facilities and services never previously considered possible, even when costs ere low. In the vast exxpansion of schools necessary, the problem presented is not alone one of providing rooms and teaching staff, but current specifications may include many more rooms to reduce the pupil load per teacher, a modern gym even for elementary schools, an assembly hall designed for local neighborhood use, a 10-acre playground shower and locker facilities, etc What leads us to believe that we can afford all this at present high costs without heavy taxation" the problem of cost of operation is far gerater than the original cost of new buildings.

"While we understand fully that building costs have soared through bricklayers laying only 600 bricks instead of 1200 per day, as an example of lowered that the same high costs apply per day production, do we realize in our schools by reducing the pupil load per teacher from 56 to 30 and even 20? In Massachusetts a school board can handle such matters without mayor or council interference as to budget, etc.

"When a rapidly growing city must build many streets, drains, sewers, schools and firehouses, it cannot at the same time replace old schools, reconstruct old streets and build swimming pools. The average citizen knows that he can't buy a new car, bathroom, kitchen garage and playroom in the same year. Today he generally settles for a television; but a sound city cannot operate that way.

"My city is comprised of 15 villages (within an 18-mile area), all of which seek equal services, schools, libraries, streets, etc. They cannot receive these things simultaneously any more than a large family of children can all receive a new bicycle the same year.

"All this leads to the economical need of long-range planning, and continuous study by selected personnel to weigh all needs and allot capital asset purchases to their proper place in a schedule as far ahead as even five and 10 years.

"Home Rule has been well defined by the American Municipal Association as a relationship between cities and their states in which the cities enjoy fullest authority to determine organization procedures and powers of their own government, and a maximum of freedom from control by either the legislature or state administrative officers. The latter is important. Nowadays we have problems with the federal government as well, as, for example, our civil defense relationships.

"All governmental officers should insist actively that Congress pass one of the bills before it, to create a responsible commission to study intergovernmental relations to correct malpractices, including the elimination of double taxation, which is widespread. Home Rule has been fought for, over the years, and while progress has been made, red and many burdens have been laid on municipalities.

"In this state a State Commission can and does determine the number of liquor licenses, the locations and who shall hold them. Appeals for variations in zoning ordinances today go to the state and decisions violate Home Rule in that respect.

"Doubtless the greatest source of interference with Home Rule comes from seeking and accepting State and Federal Grants-in-Aid, and the growth of this practice has been a major factor in threatening the end of strong local government.

"We must check the people who think that there is always more money available, and the sky is the limit, into realizing that this government cannot pay these bills without taxing all the people; that the costs of collecting taxes, and their distribution, management and mismanagement are huge.

"The gravy train' of the past two decades loaded with Grants-in-Aid, is a chief explanation of depreciated regard for public funds, and the low esteem for today's cheap dollar, all in a vain search for something for nothing

"When states and municipalities seek and accept Grants-in-Aid they lose home rule in a related degree. The more aid is accepted the more dictation by federal or state governments. When we seek more federal aid, we compel Washington to collect still higher taxes, when the present high federal taxes are already our leading difficulty for all citizens.

"It appears to me that all the various segments, who demand more spending and dictation as to how and where funds are spent, are well organized and vocal; but the taxpayers, who provide all these funds, are weakest in making their demands because of their failure to pay more attention to elections. Are we protecting our taxpayers and supplying good advice? Are we sound operators in tolerating the weakening of local government?

"Massachusetts passed a bill giving firefighters a right to seek the referendum on the 48-hour Week and the result of a rigged-up campaign caused the voters much regret when they realized that they had unwittingly raised the tax rate $1.10 in my city by approving adoption.

"Too much interference has developed by state legislation as to employment, pay rates and pension terms and conditions, causing increased expense and local taxes This state is dictating salary rates of welfare employees, and that obviously further disturbs all other departments Cities and towns here receive none of the gasoline tax collected by the state for their roads.

"Laws exempt property from taxation regardless of need or age of beneficiaries due to political influence or pressure groups. Due to state interference the receivables of a city or town carry no value in establishing a surplus Only cash counts. If circumstances compel issuing tax bills totaling $1,000,000, in December, only the amount paid counts as an asset. Cities and towns should have the right to determine their available funds in setting a tax rate.

"To illustrate the inequities existing in educational aid, one city receives $90.66 per pupil while another receives $14.00 per pupil. Educational aid flows to some cities offering industry free taxes, instead of both the city and the industry paying their own way. Someone must pay for all this. What justice exists in such formulas?

"When a state shuts off collection of personal property taxes and provides no other alternate than adding the costs to the real estate tax it violates Home Rule. My city recently lost $14,000,000 valuation by such an act. I believe debt should be held down but fast-growing cities should be allowed to borrow 5 percent of average valuations instead of 2½ percent as in Masachusetts.

"Relief of real estate taxes should be afforded by the state, providing other sources of taxation. This state keeps a strangle hold on that situation If a sales tax were collected, on the average experience of 23 other states our local real estate taxes might be lowered $10.00 per $1000 00

"My most urgent appeal to all local officials is to avoid the element of security as a goal whenever it unsettles self-reliance. With balanced judgment we may reasonably possess long-range optimism. We should most oberly oppose inflation at every possible turn, as its results would be disastrous. What the country needs is a balanced budget, full production, reduced taxation, prosperity, and national financial health."

a total difference of approximately $3,026,000 decrease in revenue from last year.

In view of the fact that every $217,000 expended represents a dollar on the tax rate, this would result in a $49.50 rate this year or an increase of about $11 in the rate. This is based on a $213,000,000 total valuation which is the present amount.

A suggestion that a re-assessment of property to increase the valuation by $3,000,000, bringing the total up to $216,000,000 be made and that $350 000 be taken from the $445,000 surplus account, would help hold the rate down to a possible $9 increase was met by Chairman Wright of the Board of Assessors with the retort that "this was a precarious situation" in dealing with the tax rate problem

Legally, the tax rate cannot exceed the $50 limit by virture of a city ordinance yet should no economies or transfers be effected, the $49.50 contemplated rate would be within 50 cents of the legal limit.

After much heated discussion, the Aldermen voted to hold up the request of the Mayor until the Board has complete and final figures of the amounts involved from the Board of Assessors. It was expected that this would require about three more weeks to ascertain the actual figures.

all unnecessary expenditures and opposed every tax increase proposed in the last two years.

"I have fought hard to repulse every attempted invasion of our civil rights," Herter went on. "Further, I have attempted to keep the people in my district informed as to what is taking place on Beacon Hill in a weekly column written by Sen. Lee and myself in the Newton Villager."

Before showing the colored slides depicting all the class-room activities, Mr. Winston pointed out that the pictures should answer many questions about what the children learn in Elementary School, how they are taught, what the relationship is between the teacher and the child, and what equipment is used in the class-rooms.

Mr. Kenneth J. LaFlamme, Carr School principal, and each teacher provided the commentary on the pictures of the class-room activities. They stressed the following aspects of the children's learning: Mrs. Dorothy L. Hunt, Kindergarten: "Growth in Kindergarten"; Mrs. Ruth G. Aston, First Grade: "Experiences in the First Grade"; Mrs. Donna A. Pettys, First Grade: "A Food Store Unit"; Mrs. Beatrice Luce, Second Grade: "Language Arts"; Mrs. Jessie L. The fact that almost every child in the Carr School appeared in at least one of the beautifully colored slides added much to the enjoyment of the program by the many parents present.

After the meeting, refreshments were served to the teachers and parents by the Sixth Grade mothers.

Newton Suspends Nonantum Liquor License 30 Days

—o—

The severest penalty to be imposed by the Newton Licensing Board since before World War II was ordered last Thursday when the Board suspended for 30 days the liquor license of a Nonantum restaurant for selling beer to minors.

Four or five charges of serving minors brought by Newton police were substantiated at a hearing before the Licensing Board, Chairman Roy V. Collins reported. The Board ordered the wine and malt license of the Lakeside Grill, 367-380 Watertown street, suspended for a 30-day period starting at midnight Sunday, June 15.

Newton police charged that employees of the grill served beer to minors in April and May. The case was investigated by Sgt. Richard F. Donahue and Sgt. Walter D. Drew.

The suspension does not affect the restaurant's common victualer's license. The Lakeside Grill's wine and malt license was suspended for seven days last October on charges of violating the Liquor Control Act.

Deny Permit For Newton Gas Station

—o—

The Board of Aldermen refused to permit the construction of a gas station at 201-211 Washington street, Newton, at Monday's meeting, acting after strong opposition to the station was registered by nearby residents at a public hearing earlier this month.

The petition for the station filed with the board asked for a "license to erect, conduct and maintain a gasoline selling station with two-car capacity lubritorium, and to keep, store and sell gasoline in underground tanks with pumps."

Residents objected to the station at the hearing June 2, claiming that it would be a safety hazard. Henry C. Daniels of 198 Washington street, Newton, stated the sale was needed to settle the estate of Ada E. Daniels.

The Committee on Franchises and Licenses unanimously voted the petition "leave to withdraw," which amounts to a rejection.

The committee approved an application by James L. Richards of 47 Kirkstall road, Newtonville, for a license to store gasoline in an underground tank on his property. Chairman Winfield C. Anderson explained that the tank has been in use for the past 30 years and Mr. Richards only became aware recently that he needed a license for it.

The sale of a piece of land on Wallace street, Newton Highlands, was authorized for $500 to John F. Walsh. An offer of $200 by John F. Faherty for a lot on Terrace avenue, Newton Highlands, was held by the Finance Committee for a better offer.

Rejected as insufficient were offers of $500 by William R. Poole for a lot on Goddard street, Newton Highlands; $1000 by Chester Bianchi for a piece of land on Warwick road, West Newton; and $2400 by Philip L. Houle for a parcel of land on Shaw street, West Newton.

The aldermen approved the transfer of taxi licenses held by the Newton City Cab Company to Michael S. Kasper and Karl F. Jackson Jr., who are taking over the business. The firm has stands near the Newton and Newtonville railroad stations.

A petition by Irving F. Moulton to keep and sell firearms at 1170 Walnut street, Newton Highlands, was rejected. Alderman Anderson, in urging the refusal, said he feels there are "adequate sources in Newton at present for the sale of firearms."

3 Areas Safe For Swimming

—o—

Tests of water in three Newton swimming spots showed they are safe for bathing but some pollution was discovered in parts of the Charles River, according to the monthly report of Chief Sanitary Officer Harlan W. Kingsbury.

The areas shown safe by the tests are Crystal Lake in Newton Centre, Kendrick Bridge on the Charles River in Newton Upper Falls, and Ware's Cove, also on the Charles, in Auburndale.

Recreation Supervisor C. Evan Johnson said that Ware's Cove would not open for swimming before June 30 when the regular playground season begins. The opening will depend upon further pollution tests.

Ware's Cove has been closed much of the past two seasons due to pollution in the river, but attendance has been high during the times it was open. Crystal Lake opened Saturday for the summer.

In other sections of the sanitation report, milk bacteria tests showed a slight improvement over the previous month, while eating establishments were slightly below the average for the year.

Memorial Park Suggested as Library Site

Construction of the new Nonantum Branch Library in Memorial Park near where the old building now stands, without acquiring additional land originally sought as a site, was considered at a meeting of the Nonantum Improvement Council last week.

Preliminary reports indicate that it is possible to build a library toward the rear of the city-owned park without disturbing the monument, the crosswalk or any of the established planting.

By using a low, informal type of building in keeping with the park setting, no surrounding home or structure would be adversely affected, the Improvement Council was told. It was suggested that the memorial aspects of the park could be continued with the library if it were named Nonantum Memorial Library.

The annual meeting of the Council elected Fred P. Pegnato as chairman for 1952-53; Gerald M. Swartz, executive secretary; and Mrs. Davis E. Billings, corresponding secretary.

The Nonantum Improvement Council is composed of 10 groups: Carr P.T.A., Lincoln-Eliot P.T.A., Stearns P.T.A., Frank A. Day P.T.A., United Italo-American Organization, Newton Good Citizenship Association, Nonantum American Legion Post, North Congregational Church, St. John the Evangelist Church, and Our Lady, Help of Christians Church.

Newton Beaten for Title In First 3 Innings of Game

Getting off to an exceptionally rocky start, Newton High failed in its bid to bring home its first interscholastic baseball crown since 1944 last Saturday afternoon when it succumbed to St. John's High of Worcester, 6 to 2 in the Massachusetts interscholastic final at Fitton Field, Worcester.

The Orange nine got only five hits off St. John's pitcher Bill Mackie and the rangy right-hander kept Newton's bats practically silent with 2 hits over the first seven inning, with Newton's other three hits coming in he final two innings.

Newton handed St. John's two runs in the first inning and from there on Mr. Mackie saw to it that the Newton sluggers went over the route in depression fashion.

The whole game, as far as Newton is concerned, can be summed up, as Coach Ferguson said after the game: "You've got to hit to win."

Two hits, lost in the sun by shortstop Don Flagg in the first inning got St. John's off to a good start with 2 runs and they added one more in the second and two more in the third, getting all their runs and sewing up the game in the first three innings.

Heads Newton Y for 11th Year

Frederick S. Bacon was installed as president of the Newton YMCA for his 11th year by John H. Lehman, secretary of the Executive Committee for the YMCA's of Massachusetts and Rhode Island at a dinner meeting held Wednesday night, June 11, in the Newton YMCA auditorium.

Other officers installed were Fred A. Hawkins, vice-president; Eldred M. Peterson, clerk; Harold T. Pilsbury, treasurer; and Charles E. Smith, assistant treasurer. Hugh Harwood, Loomis Patrick, Charles H. Myers, and Charles E. Smith, new board members were also installed.

The strength of a local association is determined in a large part by the calibre, loyalty, and number of its lay leaders, Mr. Lehman said, as he paid tribute to the men who man boards and committees of the Young Men's Christian. "You men are chosen to share in the high purpose of the association," Mr. Lehman said.

A Bible belonging to S. M. Sayford, former president of the Newton YMCA and grandfather of Frederick S. Bacon, was presented by the latter to Alex R. Miller, general secretary of the Newton YMCA. The Bible is to be used at official ceremonies of YMCA groups. Mr. Sayford was president of the Newton YMCA from 1899 to 1908.

Following the dinner meeting of the Board and installation, which was attended by the Board members and wives, committee reports were submitted to the Board. Chief among them were those from the Camp Day Committee and the report concerning the two day camps, Camp Massasoit and Camp Chickami. It was indicated that this will probably be the largest year in the Newton YMCA camping history, according to the number of enrollments.

The Newton YMCA is one of the charter members of the Newton Community Chest, and a member organization of the Newton Community Council.

Softball League Now in Triple Tie

—o—

With the season half over, the top spot in the Newton Softball League is locked in a three-way tie. The Newtonville Methodists, the First Baptists, and the First United Presbyterians are the three teams fighting it out at the top of the league.

The Newtonville Methodists, who have one postponed game to make up and who could break into undisputed possession of first place with a win, lost their first game of the season Monday, June 9, as they bowed to Temple Emanuel, 6 to 3. The Temple boys worked smoothly afield giving strong support to pitcher Murray Slavitt who allowed only four hits. Carl Beighley was the losing moundsman. An unidentified player clouted a long home run for the Methodists. Al Bickelman managed to bend his wrist into an unfavorable position but is reported doing fine in his new cast.

In the other game on Wednesday, the Second Congregational Church was soundly defeated by a hard slugging Newton Highlands Congregational nine, 14 to 3. Eliot Richardson was the winning pitcher, while Harold Clough went the distance for the Second Church. Adison Ault collected a pair of homers and Bailey Kennedy one round-tripper for the winning cause.

Indians Farm Club Win 2nd Straight

—o—

Last Friday night the Indians Farm Club of the Newton North Minor League won its second game by a scant 3-2 margin over the Yankee Farm Club. The game was a pitchers' duel between Haywood of the Indians and Cowan of the Yankees, both being very effective in the pinches. It was tied up at 2-2 going into the sixth inning. Hayward walked Senetelli, the first man to face him, and then struck out the next three in a row.

Dick Civitti, first up in the Indians half of the inning, reached first on an error He went to third on Johnny Green's third successive hit and scored on Leary's ground single over third. Dick Gill, first base on the Indians, continued to pound the ball hard. In the opener he got 4 bingles in 4 times at bat and the other night had 2 out of 3. He poled a long one to deep center in his first time up. Semetelli in center with his back to the fence, leaped up and pulled it down with one hand.

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

THE PAINTED Mrs. Sandman, a self portrait; Second Prize Winner in the Boston Art Festival.

THE PAINTER, Goldie T. Sandman of Newton, with an oil of floral motif and ceramic doodle entitled, "Walking the Dog."

Newtonite, Goldie T. Sandman of 81 Park Avenue, was one of the 9 second prize winners in last week's 4-day Boston Art Festival at Boston Gardens. She was one of the 90 women who exhibited in the show.

It is not surprising that out of the exhibits of 273 contemporary artists, this Newton artist of non-professional standing, should rank as a prize winner. She has been interested in art and crafts ever since she can remember.

The attractive Mrs. Sandman painted in oils for 13 years. After her second child was born she studied at the Mass. School of Art. She has taught crafts for many years and during World War II, was on the Women's Committee of the Mass. U.S.O., in charge of crafts.

On the Art Committee of the Council of Jewish Women at Temple Ohabei Shalom, she is also a member of the Newton Art Association.

Her prize winning picture, entitled, "Artist at Work," is a modern, self-portrait, of semi-abstract style in prismatic color. Although this painting was priced at $300.00, it is to the artist a personal symbol of success in the field of art, for which there are no price tags.

The wife of David Sandman, owner of the Sandman Electrical Company of Boston, Mrs. Sandman is the mother of 2 grown children. Their son, Robert L., M.I.T. graduate, is now associated with the family business; Miss Johanna Sandman, their daughter, is a graduate of Brandeis University and an artist in her own right. She leaves for New York University where she is enrolled as a graduate student.

Over 35,000 visited the Art Festival at the Gardens, a scene that rivaled the Seine's Left Bank. Judges for the Festival were: Roy R. Neuberger, Art Collector; Theodore Rousseau, Curator of Painting and Stuart Davis, Painter.

Miss Joan D. Pennell of Boston, was the only other woman awarded Second Prize. David Aronson of Boston received a $500.00 War Bond as First Prize for his moody modern, "The Adoration of the Magi."

Modern Art was very much in profusion at the Show. Still a subject of cautious controversy as to merit, stark Moderns may become favorites in time because of the sheer boldness of artists and consistency of attack upon the public eye.

Listening to the comments of those clustered about Goldie T. Sandman's painting, we are inclined to believe her check on modern reins, deft application, technique and an eye for composition, are the combinations today that signal award and the approval of the public.

Says the artist of the Boston Art Festival, "I am sure this show will encourage local artists to exhibit next year. The Festival gives the artist a chance for a broader recognition and is a means whereby the general public can become acquainted with contemporary art.

Are Attending Conferences

—o—

Miss Ruth Irwin and Mrs. Marie Barrett, Nutritionists at the Newton Nutrition Center, are busy today attending health conferences. Miss Ruth Irwin is at the University of Connecticut at Storrs for the 18th Annual New England Health Institute. Of special interest are the meetings on "Nutrition for Older People", "Nutrition and the Obesity Problem", and "Recent Trends in Nutrition and Future Possibilities."

Mrs. Marie Barrett is at the Annual Massachusetts Public Health Conference at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst. Highlight of the day's meetings will be the one of the Food and Nutrition section on "Development of Interviewing Skills."

Much of Senators' Success Due Managing Personnel

The Newton Centre Senators of the Newton East Little League find themselves in first place at the end of the first month of play with a record of 8 won and 4 lost. The success of the Senators is in no small measure due to the hard work and background of its managing personnel.

Henry Barry who has been coaching baseball and basketball for the past six years at the Sacred Heart High School, is extending his school training program to the 15 boys of the Newton Centre Senators. From the time he was captain of the St. Sebastian High School baseball team right through college and to the present time, Hank has been associated with boys and athletics. Barry rejected a chance to play with the Boston Braves so that he could further his studies at Boston College. A good student, Hank still found time to play twilight ball in Brookline and Newton, and made the semi finals for the state championship with the Brookline American Legion team. In addition to his coaching at Sacred Heart, where the baseball team has been in the state class B tournament for three out of five years, Hank has found time to help at the Newton and Brookline playgrounds and has been assistant coach for the Catholic All Stars for two years. During his working hours this human dynamo turns in a good job for the Aetna Life Insurance Co. where he is an agent.

In his Little League activities manager Barry is assisted by brother-in-law Dick Devlin whose association and experience with youngsters as assistant coach at Sanford, Maine, High and for six years at the Newton playgrounds qualifies him as a valuable aid in the management of the Senators. Devlin played softball for the B. C. Club of Newton, and football for Newton High in 1944 and 1945. A magna cum laude graduate, B C class of 1949, Dick is now a physicist at Harvard Medical School.

To complete the training program for the Newton Centre little leaguers, Hank Barry is ably assisted by a past member of his basketball and baseball teams at Sacred Heart for four years. Joe Lynch, now attending Boston College on a scholastic scholarship, has played twilight league ball and was picked for the News Tribune all star baseball and basketball teams.

Girl Scout Camp Mary Day to Be Opened Sunday, June 29

lished, or boarding camp of the Newton Girl Scouts, will open Sunday, June 29, following a week of pre-camp training for staff members. Directing the Camp this year is Miss Virginia Wallace, one of the professional Field Directors for the Newton Council. Miss Wallace, whose home is in Winchester, graduated from Wheaton College in 1948, and before becoming a professional Girl Scout worker had varied experience in social service and camping. She served for two years as a volunteer at the Elizabeth Peabody House and then became Program Director of the Pittsfield Girls' Club. For three summers she worked with Mr. Thomas Leyden at Camp Patoma, and later, after a summer bicycle trip to England with the Winchester Girl Scouts in 1950 was on the staff of the Spruce Hill Camp in Burlington, Vermont.

Mrs. Mary C. Bailey, a teacher in the Boston School system, and also leader of a Senior troop in Brookline and formerly director of a camp for teachers, will act as Business Manager for Camp Mary Day this year.

Other specialists on the staff include those in charge of the Waterfront, Nature Studies, and Arts and Crafts. No specialist in Music is required this season because all the counselors are well versed in vocal and instrumental music as well as folk dancing and dramatics. All members of the Waterfront Staff are certified Red Cross Instructors. Miss Lynne Langstroth of Needham, a graduate of Stephens College in the Physical Education Department, is Director of the Waterfront, assisted by Miss Susan Pickett of Washington, Connecticut, and Miss Joan Kestle of Newton. All have had previous experience as counselors in swimming and boating, as well as in Girl Scouting. Miss Kestle is a member of Mariner Troop 32 in Newton.

Specialists in Nature and in Arts and Crafts, respectively, are Miss Helen Jaques of Randolph and Miss Geraldine Finn of West Roxbury. Miss Jaques, who attends Bridgewater State Teachers' College, is a Curved-Bar Scout with many years of experience as camper and counselor, and has taken the Nature Course at the Museum of Natural Science. Miss Finn is minoring in Art at Regis College and has taken several courses in art workshops.

Other Unit Leaders in addition to the specialists are Mrs. Adeline Geer of Auburndale, secretary for the Burr and Williams Schools and also a Church School teacher, and Miss Eleanor Laggis of Ayer, who has just received her Bachelor's Degree in Education from Boston University. Miss Laggis has had four years of practice teaching at Weeks Junior High School and has served as a volunteer at the Charlestown Girls' Club.

Miss Betty Lee of Newton and Miss Noreen Collins of Newton Centre, will be Assistant Unit Leaders. Both are Senior Scouts in Newton, Miss Lee, another member of Mariner Troop 32. She has also taken the Counselor-in-Training course at Camp Four Winds. Miss Collins has just completed her sophomore year at Framingham Teachers' College. Program Aides are Miss Gilda de Frazio of Pittsfield, who has been on the staff of Camp Witawentin in Pittsfield and has been a Program Aide at the Pittsfield Girls' Club; and Miss Jean Von Buskirk, a third member of Newton's Mariner Troop 32, who has camped at Mary Day, Hoffman, Storrow, and Four Winds, and has been a Junior Counselor at the Waltham Girl Scout Day Camp.

Returning as Dietitian is Mrs. Blanche Rowland of Auburndale who, prior to serving in this capacity at Camp Mary Day last summer, had had many years' experience as dietitian in schools and hotels. She will again be assisted by Miss Diane Ransom of Waban, as well as by Miss Sally Summers of Waban, who has also had previous experience on the staff of a Girl Scout camp. A registered nurse and the Camp RaRnger, Mr. Irving House, will also be in residence as usual.

Fred P. Pegnato Elected Head of Nonantum Council

The Nonantum Improvement Council has elected the following officers for the 1952-1953 term. Chairman, Fred P. Pegnato; executive secretary, Mrs. Gerald M. Swartz; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Davis E. Bulings. Retiring chairman is Carmen A. Vitti.

The annual meeting was held at the Nonantum Boys' Club, 98 Dalby street, Newton, with Rev. Gustav H. Todrank of North Congregational Church attending as guest delegate. Progress reports were heard on the various projects of the Council. The completion of the Adams Street Extension, according to city authorities, will be undertaken this summer or early fall.

A new Nonantum Branch Library building was reviewed as a vital need in the community. To expedite the erection of the library building, the Board of Library Trustees and the Nonantum Improvement Council are now considering the possibility of location on the Memorial Park site as it now stands without the additional land originally sought. Architectural and engineering information is now being secured, and preliminary reports indicate that it is possible to locate a library building toward the rear of the Park to very good advantage, without disturbing the monument, the cross-walk or any of the well-established planting. By using a low, informal type of building in keeping with the park setting, no surrounding home or structure would be spoiled, and a pleasant approach through the park could be achieved. It was also pointed out that the memorial aspects of the park could be emphasized by naming the building Nonantum Memorial Library. Since the Park as it now stands is already city-owned property, it is hoped that an appropriation for the building will soon be made.

At a recent Traffic Bureau meeting representatives of the Nonantum Council urged that a study be made of the numerous traffic problems of the area, and that steps be taken to restrict street parking and correct traffic tie-ups. Alderman Arthur Scipioni heading a committee of aldermen, at this meeting with Chief Purcell, Sargeant Dowling, and Mr. Buckley of the Street Department, assured members of the Council that adequate recommendations would be presented to the Board of Aldermen.

The Nonantum Improvement Council represents the following 10 member groups: Frank F. Carr Parent-Teacher Association, Frank A. Day Parent-Teacher Association, Lincoln-Eliot Parent-Teacher Association, Stearns School Parent-Teacher Association, North Congregational Church, Church of Our Lady Help of Christians, St. Jean the Evangelist Parish, United Italo-American Organization, Newton Good Citizenship Association, and Nonantum Post, American Legion.

The UVON voted to send a letter of thanks to Commander Fred Pegnato of the Nonantum American Legion Post for presenting a picture of the Memorial Day services to the next of kin of each Nonantum serviceman killed in World War II.

A letter from Sen. Leverett Saltonstall was read, commending UVON Chairman William J. Maloney for the manner in which the Newton Memorial Day parade and exercises were conducted.

Vice-Chairman Elmer H. King reported on the sendoff held June 4 for two Newton men entering the armed forces.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals for furnishing and delivering, under separate contracts, coal and wood for the School, Street, Fire, Water, Recreation, and Welfare Departments of the City of Newton will be received at the office of the Public Buildings Commissioner, City Hall, Newton Center, Mass., until 2 P. M., daylight saving time, Thursday, June 26, 1952, and at that place and time publicly opened and read.

Specifications and other contract documents may be obtained at the office of the Public Buildings Commissioner. Proposals shall be made and analyses given on the blank forms bound herewith and all information requested must be given. Both copies of the proposal must bear the actual signature of the bidder, not a printed or a typed signature. Proposals which are incomplete, not on the above form, not properly endorsed or signed, or otherwise contrary to these instructions may be rejected as informal by the Public Buildings Commissioner.

The attention of the bidders is particularly called to a provision of the Ordinances of the City of Newton, (Chapter 2, Section 22) that requires that a copy of all proposals shall be filed by the bidder with the Comptroller of Accounts, City Hall, Newton Centre, Mass., prior to the time set for the opening of the proposals.

A certified check on a national bank or trust company in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for the sum of Two Thousand Dollars ($2,000.00) shall accompany each proposal of bidders submitting proposals on the entire requirements or on the bituminous requirements only, and for the sum of $500.00 for bidders submitting proposals on the anthracite requirements only, said check payable to and to become the property of the City of Newton if the proposal which it accompanies is accepted and the bidder neglects or refuses to comply with the terms of the proposal.

Surety company bonds by a company satisfactory to the Mayor of the City of Newton and in an amount equal to fifty per cent (50%) of the contract price under each contract will be required of the successful bidder.

Proposals may be made for the whole or any part of the supply of coal or wood, or both, as required by the several departments, and for the different kinds and approximate amounts shown under the requirements. Bidders are requested to make proposals on the total amount of coal hereinafter specified, but the right is reserved by the City to make and accept any subdivision of the proposals or part of proposals deemed to be for the best interests of the City of Newton.

The City reserves the right in calling for a contract under any proposal accepted, or any item or part thereof, to call upon the Contractor to increase or decrease the amounts specified in the stated amounts of each department to the amount of thirty per cent (30%) in the placing of orders and in the creation of liability.

ARTHUR CAMPBELL,
Public Buildings Commissioner.

Newton Kiwanis Club Names Winners of Essay Contest

JEROME NELSON

SHEILA FREDIN

CHRISTINE BARTER

Six high school seniors were named as co-winners of the Newton Kiwanis Club essay contest, winning prizes of $50 each, last Thursday by Charles L. Hildred, president of the Newton club.

A total of 46 seniors submitted essays on the subject "What Can We as Americans Do to Insure the Preservation of Our Liberties?"

The Newton High winners were Jerome Nelson of 20 Kenwood avenue, Newton Centre, who has been editor-in-chief of the school paper; Beverly N. Johnson of 103 Randlett park, West Newton, girl's vice-president of the Newton High Associates; and Denise O'Brien of 13 Maple circle, Newton, a member of the school legislature.

Winning essays were also submitted by Sacred Heart School's first-ranking senior and class valedictorian, Anne T. Doyle of 12 Beechcroft road, Newton Centre, and by Sheila Fredin of 854 Beacon street, Newton Centre, who was among the winners of certificates last year in the National Poetry Contest.

Christine Barter of 173 Tremont street, Newton, the sixth winner, has been an honor student at Our Lady of Presentation, Brighton, for four years.

The contestants wrote their essays within a one-hour time limit April 12 at the Newtonville Branch Library under the supervision of Harold A. Wooster, librarian of the Newton Free Library.

Highland Glee Club Elects Wight as Head

Marking the close of its 44th concert season, the Highland Glee Club of Newton elected George P. Wight as president at the dinner and annual meeting recently in the Hotel Beaconsfield.

Other officers chosen at the meeting were Ernest W. Schleicher, vice-president; Richard W. Loud, secretary; Gustav R. Breitske, treasurer, and Leonard R. Clinton, librarian. Named committee chairmen were Stuart J. Dewey sponsoring membership; Cecil J. Hall music; Edward B. Roberts, publicity, and Bertram F. Whipple, concert.

The Highland Glee Club Scholarship was presented to Constance E. Brown, a recent graduate of Newton High School, who plans to continue her musical education at Boston University.

The club will be guests of former President and Mrs. John F. Capron July 12 at an outing at their summer home in Falmouth. On Aug. 17, the club will present a vesper service at the Cathedral of the Pines, Rindge, N. H., for the eighth year

Tells Rotary About Mexico City Meeting

A report on the International Rotary Convention held recently in Mexico City was given by E. Graham Bates, delegate from the Newton club, at Monday's Rotary Club meeting in the Brae Burn Country Club, West Newton.

There were 725 Rotarians at the convention representing 53 countries, Mr. Bates stated. Some of the talks were in both English and Spanish, he said, since many of those attending were Spanish speaking.

One thing he noted in particular was that Boy Scouts were trained to help and were on the job every minute of the convention. Mr. Bates described the country in glowing terms, stating that he was very impressed with all that he saw.

Mr. Bates said that food costs were very low and the general cost of living also low compared to this country. He described the people he met as "very fine, loyal and cordial."

Newton Man Is Originator of Boston Art Festival

Originator of the first annual Boston Art Festival and acting as its administrative chairman was Jerome M. Rosenfeld of 41 Lee road, Chestnut Hill.

Mr. Rosenfeld, Boston magazine publisher, suggested the idea a few months ago in Panorama, Boston official guide magazine, as a long over-due demonstration of the city's cultural leadership. His suggestion received the immediate support of the New Boston Committee, the press, the public and Mayor John B. Hynes, who gave the official city sanction

Drawing on the talents of many celebrated New England artists, the Festival was one of the greatest events of its kind ever held in this country. Hundreds of paintings and sculpture were on exhibition in daytime and evening

NEWTON NAVY OFFICER PROMOTED—Commander Richard M. Hoag, of Newton, has been promoted from the rank of Lieutenant Commander in the Navy Supply Corps, it has been announced by Rear Admiral T. Final Assembly Brings 25th School Anniversary to Close

The final assembly of the Class of 1952 brought to a close the twenty-fifth anniversary of the opening of the Levi F. Warren Junior High School in West Newton.

To the music of the school band resplendent in their red and gold uniforms, with their director, Vincent Marotto, in his white and gold uniform, the members of the ninth grade marched into the assembly hall led by their president, Robert Lee. Following opening exercises conducted by the School Community President Donald Lane, the program was in charge of Robert Lee who introduced the readers of the class histories and class will. Many chuckles and bursts of applause accompanied the reading of their Junior I

Says Increase In Gas Tax Is Not the Answer

Rep. Rawson Contends 7/10 Cent Additional Will Not Carry Bond Issue

"There is more than meets the eye to the $200 million Highway program bill presented to the House of Representatives last week," Rep. George E. Rawson stated this week.

Continuing he said: "Last year the General Court was asked to increase the gasoline tax by two cents a gallon. I opposed this tax bitterly and tried unsuccessfully to kill it. The tax eventually passed over my opposition was 1.3 cents. The present bill asks for an additional seven-tenths tax, so this bill appears to me to be an administration scheme to get the 2 cent tax which they tried to get last year. I attacked it on the floor on that basis and said I would oppose the bill unless the tax was stricken out. The attempt failed so I voted against the bill and intend to vote against the bond issue.

"The proposed tax would make our gasoline tax 5 cents per gallon. Connecticut and New York, which are comparable states, both of which have excellent highways, have a 4 cent tax. The answer is that their registration fees for trucks are double ours, and it is my personal opinion that they are far less generous in their settlements for land takings.

"Minority Leader Charles Gibbons offered an amendment to provide for a bi-partisan commission to approve all land takings, but that was defeated by a roll call vote of 110-119. I believed in this amendment and supported it.

"Rep. Vartses of Melrose moved that the act should not become effective until January 15, 1953. There is good ground for this, because there is still $110 million

Visiting Nurse Association to Be in New Headquarters July 1

July 1 will find the Newton Visiting Nurse Association located in their new headquarters at 1990 Washington Street Newton Lower Falls.

The transformation of the unused building at the rear of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital to an attractive headquarters of offices, nurse's rooms, class room and board room will make possible an enlarged and more efficient service of nursing and health offered as in the past to every citizen of Newton. The telephone BI 4-4880 remains the same.

Mrs. Matt B. Jones, president and Miss Hilga S. Nelson, executive director of the association have just returned from attending the biennial convention of the five national nursing associations at Atlantic City. This was a history making meeting because four of these organizations were merged into one and named the National League for Nursing. Officers were elected and new by-laws were enacted for both the American Nurses Association and the National League for Nursing.

Only graduate registered nurses may become members of the American Nurses Association but both nurse and non-nurse memberships are available with cer-

St. John's Church Observes Its Fiftieth Year of Establishment

Rt. Rev. Norman B. Nash, Bishop of Massachusetts, Principal Speaker at Notable Celebration

Right Reverend Norman B. Nash, Bishop of Massachusetts, was the principal guest speaker at the Fiftieth Anniversary Celebration of Saint John's Parish in Newtonville last night (Wednesday), held in the Parish House. The anniversary celebration was preceded with a reception at 6 o'clock.

Other principal speakers following the dinner included: Rt. Rev. Oliver Leland Loring, D.D., Bishop of Maine and son of the First Rector of St. John's Parish, the Rev. Richard Loring; the Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, B.D., Rector, 1947 to the present time; the Rev. DeWolf Perry, B.D., Rector from 1941 to 1947; and the Rev. Raymond Lang, D.D., Rector from 1926 to 1947.

The observance Wednesday night marked the fiftieth anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of St. John's Church in Newtonville in 1897. One day early in that year Mr. Richard Tuttle Loring, then a student at the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge, was calling at the home of Mr. Frank T. Benner. The need of an Episcopal Church in Newtonville became a topic of conversation. At the time Episcopalians living in the village were attending Grace Church in Newton. The idea thus germinated grew and through the efforts of Mr. and Mrs. Benner, Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Hatch, and Mr. Loring other people became interested. Finally a group of about twenty people met at the home of Mrs. Thomas Webster on Highland Avenue and the movement to establish a new Episcopal parish in the City of Newton was on its way. By June of that year such support was in evidence that a formal meeting was held and the St. John's Episcopal Church Association was formed and a constitution was adopted.

The first service was held on October 31, 1897 in Temple Hall in the Masonic Building which had been erected the previous year at the corner of Walnut street and Newtonville avenue, Newtonville. The Rev. George W. Shinn, D.D., Rector of Grace Church, Newton, conducted the service and delivered an address, as did the Bishop, the Rt. Rev. William Lawrence. Services during the ensuing month of November were held on Sunday afternoon and were conducted by the Rev. Edward T. Sullivan, Rector of Trinity Church, Newton Centre, who was a source of great encouragement in these early days.

The first plan had been that the services should be led by Mr. Loring as a Lay Reader, but Bishop Lawrence felt that the group was strong enough to warrant engaging an ordained minister. Accordingly the Rev. Abel Millard was called and he began his duties in December, 1897. Temple Hall continued to be the meeting place. In fact, for a

Lauds Work of East Little League Staffs

At a meeting of the executive personnel of the Newton East Little League, Jason Silverman, president of the East Little League, paid tribute to the untiring efforts of the managing and coaching staff. Managers Fred Pagano and Haskell Freedman of the Thompsonville A's; George Kaplan and Sumner Stroyman of the Chestnut Hill Phillies; Syd Borofsky and Leo Soltz of the Oak Hill Cubs; and Hank Barry and Dick Devlin of the Newton Centre Senators were lauded for their tireless efforts to get their boys in shape for the opening of the Little League season. The importance of Little League work to the youth of Newton was stressed. Its objectives—to teach the boys fair play, discipline and team work; to build good citizens and good Americans, were reaffirmed.

President Silverman pointed out that the real benefits of Little League lie in the intangibles which become evident as the program establishes itself in our community. So far as the boys are concerned, the application of the principles of Americanism is apparent from the first call for candidates for the team. Youngsters from all walks of life, without regard to the social or economic position of their parents, have the same opportunity to make the team One thought rules the selection of a boy—"can he pitch, field, run or bat."

Chief Umpire Cleo Jaillet has selected a staff of paid twilight league umpires to officiate at all Newton East League games. Even though an occasional "rhubarb" may develop, the games will be judged with professional skill. The record of each player will be maintained by chief scorer Dave Winnik who has established a rigid program for himself and scorers Dr. Harold Gorney, Nathan Katz, Nathan Sepunick, Ed Lynch, Jim Buckley and Norman Altman.

Clark Fisher, minor league commissioner, reported that the four East League farm teams were practicing at the Oak Hill School Playground at Wheeler road, Ward School Playground, and at the Bowen School Playground at Langley road. Many parents were offering help in the minor league training program, which is geared to the physical capacities of the youngsters. In addition to regular practice games, the minor league teams will taste the thrill of big league competition when they share the Newton Centre Little League Diamond with the major league teams. Fisher announced the following farm team games at the Newton Centre Field:

Saturday, June 7, 12 noon: Chestnut Hill Phillies vs. Newton Centre Senators.

Saturday, June 14, 12 noon: Oak Hill Cubs vs Chestnut Hill Phillies.

Saturday, June 28, 9:30 a.m.: Thompsonville A's vs. Chestnut Hill Phillies.

SPOTLIGHT ON THE NEWTONS

By RALPH and TUNNI COOLIDGE

"Louie, drop that gun!" And he'd do just that if Newton police officers Joseph M. Greeley of Newtonville and Joseph H. Smith of Newton Upper Falls had the "drop." Fast-drawing gun-toters in the West have nothing on Newton!

Ever since the beginning of the last war, the team of Smith and Greeley have been in demand for their shooting exhibitions. What started out as a natural hobby of men who take their jobs of public safety seriously, has developed into the fine art of expert use of firearms.

Can you imagine the "rat-tat-tat" of a Thompson sub-machine gun sounding off in the dining room of an exclusive hotel? Incongruous as this may seem, it has happened when Smith and Greeley "go into their act."

Their program begins with a safety talk and description of firearms. Of the 34 "acts" on their program, some of the most interesting are:

Shooting at wafer, using mirror to sight with (arms folded across chest); shooting at wafer (which is sideways) using right hand and right eye; shooting at chalk, using mirror to sight with (arms folded across chest); shooting at wafer, using left hand and left eye, holdjng revolver sideways at nine o'clock (arm sideways); and shooting at wafer, holding revolver upside down using little finger to squeeze trigger. Other interesting parts of the shoot program are: cutting playing card in halves (card sideways); breaking two balloons at once, using a K-22 Smith and Wesson revolver in right hand and 22 Colt Officers model revolver in left hand; cutting up spaghetti with a bullet (10 pieces, straight); five shots double action quick draw with a 38 Smith and Wesson revolver; shooting at chalk, lying on back; and two shots single fire and nineteen shots full automatic, using a 45 cal. Thompson sub-machine gun.

Of special interest also, is their demonstration of how to disarm a holdup man and their Team shoot, 30 shots using 22 High Standard Automatics, slow fire-5 min., time fire-20 seconds, rapid fire-10 seconds.

What protects the walls during a program. The officers tote with them on every exhibit, an X-ring steel bullet trap, 15" square. An amusing incident regarding this still causes smiles as they recall the time their program was cancelled at a benefit because the janitor of the building didn't want them "shooting up the walls!"

The Team has presented over 400 exhibits, beginning with a program at the Newton Lodge of Elks and extending their talents all over New England. They have also been presented on Television.

Officers Smith and Greeley have between them, won over 125 awards for the trick shooting and knowledge of firearms, including a gold cup for 20 shots at slow fire, 198 out of 200, which was won at a Middletown Police shoot; gold statuette, for 199 shots out of 200, won in Providence, R. I.; a medal, which denotes membership in the 100 Club; gold medal, a High-Individual winner, with total of 1180 out of possible 1200; and a medal for 50 best shots in the year 1940 and for 20 best shots in 1941, 1942-43, awarded by the Commissioner of Mass. State Police.

Joseph Smith is the holder of the Honor Expert Badge, awarded by the New England Police Rev. League, for slow time and rapid fire of 280 out of 300. Smith is also a Thompson machine gun "sharpshooter" which is a top honor in this field. He has been on the Newton police force 25 years and drives a police ambulance.

Joseph Greeley holds a badge of Revolver Expert, for 255 shots out of a possible 300. He is stationed at Nonantum and has been a member of the police force for 24 years.

The Team is often called back each year to demonstrate for incoming members at various organizations and schools, such as the Faye School of Southboro.

Revolvers used in the exhibits are: Smith and Wesson K-22; S & W Combat 22; S & W 38 Chief Special, 2" barrel; S & W 357 Magnum (an excellent personal protection gun, say the officers) and a 38 Colt belly gun. Automatic pistols: Colt New Match target, 22; Hi-Standard 22, six inch barrel; and Colt 45 automatic, used in the U. S. services. Their Thompson sub-machine gun uses a drum of fifty 45 cartridges, also a magazine of twenty-one 45 cartridges.

If you have ever had a fear of firearms, perhaps this engraving on Mr. Smith's 357 Magnum S & W gun, that was the code of an old Western Sheriff, will be of interest:

Be not afraid of any man
No matter what his size
When in trouble call on me
And I will equalize.

The Tax Dilemma

Announcement last week that the city's 1952 tax rate would in all probability increase anywhere from $8 to $11 per $1,000 of valuation, probably came as a distinct and unwelcomed shock to property owners here.

Yet anyone, even remotely conversant with municipal finance, would have anticipated a sharp increase in the rate, if not this year, then the next, or the next.

The mayor's contention that no small part of a tax increase is directly attributable to increased State expenditures and commitments may be partially correct but it is not the whole story which makes such a drastic increase now appear almost wholly inevitable.

Newton's large building program in recent years, mostly for school needs and the resultant large bond indebtedness incurred by the city as a result, was sooner or later to play a part in increased taxation through interest costs and amortization payments.

An increased population trend inevitably brings a demand for increased school facilities. Newton, justly proud of its educational system, has necessarily had to expand its school facilities to meet the needs. Yet in some citizens minds there is a question if good school buildings, built at a lesser cost, would not just as well have served the educational standards set here throughout the years as will ultra-modern units.

Without doubt too, the increase from $1,000 to $5,000 in the personal property tax exemption effected this year by the legislature, materially aided in increasing the local rate. Yet application of this tax, held by many as a tax which could not be properly and fairly applied, was in vogue in only a relatively few communities in the State, Newton included among these few.

Over the years there has been a growing pressure on the legislature to wipe out completely the personal property tax as being impossible to properly apply. Should not these attempts to eradicate this tax been seen as a storm warning to local officials?

Whether any one of these conditions cited is directly responsible for the drastic tax increase which now faces property owners here, may be debatable but they are, nevertheless, a strong contributing factor.

Another factor, probably largely overlooked by the average citizen and yet one which could have conceivably prevented somewhat at least the increase which is now anticipated, was the insatiable desire on the part of city officials to have the tax rate of Newton maintained as the lowest rate of all cities in the Commonwealth. This may have been good propaganda, but who can say it was sound finance?

It would have perhaps been much better had the tax rate for last year, for instance, been upped somewhat to have provided a free cash cushion which could have been used now to absorb some of the increased costs which now faces the city. A slight increase in the tax rate, each year, to provide the necessary free cash cushion in the city treasury would have been more easily absorbed by property owners than can large and drastic increases, such as is now apparent. Witness, if you will, the present free cash balance in the city treasury of only $445,000 when such a balance should have been maintained at possibly three times that amount for all practical purposes. And yet despite all this, in a desperate attempt to try and pull down somewhat the large anticipated tax increase, there is the suggestion advanced that $350,000 of the $445,000 in the free cash balance be taken for reduction purposes, leaving only $95,000 of free cash in the treasury, a mere drop in the bucket for a city with the high total valuation which Newton possesses.

Another suggestion also advanced at the Board of Aldermen meeting last week was that some property in the city should be re-valued to thus help bring in more revenue now in order to help further reduce a sharp increase. This to our mind, is not the cure-all for the present situation. This practice of increasing valuations, only to be later abated, is all too well-known in some cities in the Commonwealth which have found themselves in financial difficulty. To place an increased valuation on such property now, when the rate should have been already set, based on valuations as of January 1, the assessing date, would undoubtedly only bring about many abatement applications with the usually accompanying Appellate Tax Appeal litigation.

The present tax plight which the city now faces is unfortunate and it is doubtful if any beneficial corrections can be made. It may be a hard dose to take but it appears about all that can be done now is to increase the rate to whatever amount is required, build up a larger cash surplus, ignore the desire to possess the debatable honor of having the lowest tax rate of any city in the Commonwealth, and set sail for the future on an even course.

What other course is there left to take?

GOP Pre-Primary Assembly at Worcester Will Attempt to Select Balanced Slate

Massachusetts Republicans will attempt an unusual experiment on Saturday when they hold their unofficial pre-primary State Assembly in Worcester and attempt to set the stage for a comeback next November after Democratic sweeps in the last two State elections.

To make any headway and hold to their own purpose, they must produce a reasonably well balanced State ticket, and they will run the risk that one of their own party mavericks such as Russell A. Wood or Fred C. Burrell may run in the September primary and defeat one of the candidates they endorse.

This appears to be the slate which the G.O.P. conclave will endorse Saturday:

Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., for Senator; Christian A. Herter for Governor; Sumner G. Whittier for Lieutenant Governor; Mrs. Beatrice Hancock Mullaney for Secretary of State; David J. Mintz for State Auditor; Roy C. Papalia for State Treasurer; and either Frederick Ayer, Jr., George Fingold or District Attorney George E. Thompson for Attorney General.

Except for the Senate endorsement, for which Lodge is unopposed, there will be a contest for every place on the ballot, and one of the darkhorse contenders might come up with a surprise win, but the candidates listed above have done the most spade work, have lined up the greatest amount of backing and got the jump on their opponents by starting earlier.

The tightest fight will be waged for the right to run as the Republican nominee for Attorney General. Fingold and Ayer have been working almost steadily since the 1950 State election. Thompson is a comparatively late-comer in the contest but has powerful backing, including the support of former Governor Robert F. Bradford.

Because the nomination for State Auditor will be voted upon first and probably will go to Mintz, Fingold may be at a disadvantage. He tried to have the candidates nominated in the order in which their names appear on the ballot at election time, but the convention officials felt that many of the delegates might leave and go home as soon as the contests for the major offices were settled.

The procedure that will be used in settling a contest, however, could affect its outcome. Under the convention rules a candidate must poll a majority of the votes of all the delegates to achieve a nomination. And if the first ballot fails to give anyone a majority, the candidate finishing last is eliminated from the contention.

It is quite possible that the contest for the Attorney General endorsement will require more than one ballot, and the pattern of the fight could change if one of the three candidates drops out. That aspect lends an air of uncertainty to the situation.

Samuel P. Sears of Newton, president of the Massachusetts Bar Association and one of the most able lawyers in the State, is challenging Congressman Herter for the G.O.P. gubernatorial nomination, but Sears waited a little too long before making his bid, and it is improbable that he can check the trend to Herter.

Republican House Leader Charles Gibbons originally loomed as the most formidable opponent against Herter, but he dropped out after General Eisenhower scored his tremendous victory over Senator Taft in Massachusetts and is apparently making no effort to obtain the endorsement. What Gibbons might do if Taft should be nominated at the Chicago convention is another matter.

District Attorney Alfred B. Cenedella and John Volpe are contesting with Senator Whittier for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, but a vast number of Republicans feel that the colorful, hard-hitting Whittier would probably be an asset to their ticket in November.

While they aren't saying too much about it, the Republican politicians plan tentatively to place at least one person of Italian descent, one of the Jewish faith and one of Irish origin on their ticket.

One of the original purposes in launching the move for the restoration of the pre-primary convention system endorsing candidates was to achieve a better racial balance on the State ticket and to get away from the practice of nominating only persons of Yankee beginnings on the Republican ticket and only Irish-Catholics on the Democratic slate.

The G.O.P. politicos recognize that their convention could backfire if it doesn't work out that way. Thus, if Whittier is chosen over Cenedella and Volpe as the candidate for Lieutenant Governor, as is expected, the likelihood is that Papalia will be selected for State Treasurer to place at least one Italian on the ticket.

On the same basis of reasoning, if Mintz is nominated as the candidate for State Auditor, it will injure Fingold's chances in the contest which immediately follows, although it will not necessarily knock him out of the contest. Fingold himself, however, recognizes that it would handicap him and has said so.

Some of the Republican delegates feel that too much emphasis has been placed on the racial phase of the situation and that a candidate should be chosen solely on the basis of his qualifications for the office he is seeking.

Others point out that during last year's row over the convention bill it was at least tacitly understood that a genuine attempt would be made by the G.O.P. to give representation to various racial elements on the Republican State ticket and that failure to do so would be tantamount to a breach of faith.

Two of the 1950 nominees, former State Auditor Wood and former State Treasurer Burrell, won't bother showing up at the Worcester convention. They are not in the good graces of the party leaders would have no chance of landing an endorsement and plan to make their fight in the September primary. Whatever happens, Saturday will see an unusual Republican experiment in Massachusetts.

OUR NEW ENGLAND

No Unity in Congress of New England Delegation On Vital Legislation

By JOHN H. CRIDER

Is unity in the New England congressional delegation in Washington still just a dream? A Senate vote on the issue of government allocation of scarce metals has demonstrated again the difficulty involved in obtaining a united regional front. A big part of the difficulty is that individualistic New Englanders seldom agree on what is good for all.

The issue this time had to do with amendments being proposed for the Defense Production Act. Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) obtained the passage of a proposal aimed at ending the program under which the government spreads vital metals among industries. After Ferguson's amendment was adopted Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) struck back with another one guaranteeing the continuance of the allocation system.

Metal For Industry

The issue was turned into one of big industries versus small business. Fulbright argued that Ferguson's plan would throw foreign metals, including copper, on the open market where big buyers like the auto manufacturers of Ferguson's home state would gobble it all up. Small business would be out in the cold, Fulbright's supporters maintained.

Defense production officials agreed with Fulbright. They said under the Ferguson amendment big business would be in a position to get all the metals it wanted to buy while small plants, like many of those in New England, might get none. The Senate approved the Fulbright amendment by a vote of 46 to 31.

And where did the New England senators stand? All over the place. Three voted with Fulbright, four voted with Ferguson, two were absent but announced they would have voted with Fulbright had they been present, and three took no position at all.

Senators Green and Pastore, Rhode Island Democrats, maintaining the Ferguson amendment would have disastrous effects for their state's jewelry industry, voted for the Fulbright amendment. So did Senator Tobey, New Hampshire Republican. Senator Lodge (R-Mass) and Senator Benton (D-Conn) put it on record that they would have voted with Fulbright if they had been present.

Senators Bridges (R-NH), Flanders (R-Vt), Saltonstall (R-Mass) and Smith (R-Me) all voted with Ferguson. Senators Aiken (R-Vt), Brewster (R-Me) and McMahon (D-Conn) neither voted nor went on record either for or against the Fulbright proposal.

So on an issue that may be a vital one for New England industries there was no agreement in the delegation as to where the regional interest lies. Even within the delegations from two of the states, Massachusetts and New Hampshire, there was division.

The Defense Production bill the Senate passed contained both the Ferguson and Fulbright amendments and the issue now moves over to the House. One or the other will have to be knocked out before the bill is finally adopted, since the two proposals are completely contradictory. The New England delegation in the House in all probability will be just as thoroughly divided when the question comes up as it was in the Senate.

What to Do

This problem is of course, old stuff, but the foregoing is a concrete reminder that it is a continuing one and something should be done about it. We don't want a Congressional "bloc" to extort the American public for the benefit of New England. Criticism is justly in order for such groups as the well known silver and cotton blocks which get what they want at the expense of the general public through what amounts to blackmail.

The handful of silver senators, for example, have been robbing the American public for as long as I can remember. Everyone of us pays through the nose for the gratuities which these eight or ten senators have got for the domestic silver mining industry.

It works like this. The administration will have some measure which it regards as crucially important before the Senate. The vote will be close. In such a case the solid bloc of silver senators are in an excellent trading position. Their votes can win a victory for the administration or defeat it. Plain blackmail!

I have seen it happen time and again. Nothing will be said about it publicly, of course, but just after a great, but narrow victory for the administration on some vitally important legislation, like the loan to Great Britain, for example, you would find that the Treasury had raised the price of silver or in some other way paid off the silver bloc.

Delegation Split

We don't want that for New England, but we do want our senators and representatives, regardless of party, to vote together on issues affecting the welfare of this region. And, of course, the fact that our delegation is badly split politically does make it harder for them to work together. They're not all Democrats, like the cotton senators.

The New England Council has a reception for the New England delegation at least once a year in Washington, but other organizations ought to do the same thing. Invite them as a group to meetings at various points in the six states. Make them feel that they belong to New England, not just to Connecticut, Rhode Island, Vermont, Maine, Massachusetts, or New Hampshire.

A related problem was called to public attention the other day by Wesley MacHarrie, a former Boston wool merchant, who told Governor Dever's committee studying the exodus of industries from Massachusetts, that when matters of importance to New England come up at federal agency hearings in Washington or before Congressional committees, only six or seven persons, at most, will appear in behalf of this region. In contrast, he said, the South always sends large delegations to make a forceful impression.

The main responsibility for this rests, of course, among our people and organizations here, but I think in this case, too, if our senators and representatives had more regional consciousness they could be very helpful in seeing to it that New England was better represented on such occasions.

After all, Congressional committees and federal regulatory agencies are comprised of human beings, who, strange as it might otherwise seem, react very much like anyone else to the stimuli to which they are exposed. They know only the facts which are brought to them, and they are always impressed by the enthusiasm, or lack of it, with which matters are presented to them.

If any readers have any other ideas as to how these problems of Congressional delegation cohesion and regional representation before Congressional committees can be remedied, I would very much appreciate hearing from them.

ANTHONY F. ARPAIA of New Haven, Conn., because he has just been nominated by President Truman for appointment to the Interstate Commerce Commission. He would be the first New England representative on the ICC since the death of the late Joseph B. Eastman. Mr. Arpaia, a New Haven attorney, is a Yale graduate and was director of the Office of Price Administration for Connecticut after Chester Bowles went to Washington. He has practiced before the ICC, but his transportation experience seems to have been mainly with the trucking industry.

All Are Welcome

"Most-Wanted" of Them All!

It will probably occasion no surprise on your part to be told that the Cadillac car is the most wanted and sought-after automobile on the American highways.

But you might be surprised to learn how widespread the desire to own this great motor car has become during recent years.

Statistics indicate, for instance, that there are more than twenty million motorists in America who would like to call a Cadillac their own. And were the whole of the world's motorists to be considered, this number would grow well-nigh beyond comprehension.

There is reason to believe, in fact, that Cadillac may be wanted by more people than any other product manufactured in America today. It might well be called the great desideratum of the American people.

Naturally, a motor car has to offer many wonderful things in order to occupy such a unique position in the hopes and aspirations of so many persons.

It has to offer great and distinguishing beauty . . . luxurious comfort . . . brilliant, masterful performance . . . and wonderful prestige.

And, of course, in order to have become the logical ambition of so many millions, it would have to be practical to own, as well as wonderful to drive. And so, it would also have to offer—extraordinary economy!

If this sounds like the description of the car that you, yourself, would like to own and drive, then come in and see us—soon.

Perhaps the time has come for you to join the hundreds of thousands of motorists who have stopped wanting a Cadillac—and started enjoying one!

We'd be happy to see you any time.

Old Age Case Drop Blamed On Lien Law

—o—

A new lien law was blamed for a major part of the drop in Newton old age assistance cases since the beginning of the year, in the monthly report of the Newton Welfare Department, issued last week.

Welfare Agent Edmund J. Poutas reported that 37 applications for assistance were withdrawn because of the law which gives the city a lien—to be enforced after death—on the recipient's real estate. The total difference between old age assistance cases last month and in May, 1951, was 72.

New applications for assistance are returning to their former rate as residents are beginning to accept the new law, Mr. Poutas stated.

The report reflected rising costs, as the number of cases of old age assistance and aid to dependent children dropped from last year, but the expense of the two categories was higher.

A comparison of cases between last month and May of 1951 follows:

	1952	1951
Old Age Assistance
Cases	950	1022
Cost	$74,367	$68,395
Aid to Dependent Children
Cases	145	161
Cost	$19,481	$18,284
General Relief
Cases	63	121
Cost	$4055	$8088

Annual Pilgrimmage from Newton to LaSalette Shrine in Ipswich to Be Held This Sunday

The annual pilgrimage from Newton to the National Shrine of Our Lady of LaSalette in Ipswich will take place this Sunday. The shrine services will begin at 3:30 and last for one hour. All Newton residents are invited to attend the impressive outdoor devotions.

The impressive pilgrimage exercises at the shrine include the recitation of the Rosary during a procession through the gardens, the way of the cross, benediction and a blessing of the sick.

This is the Centenary Year of the founding of the LaSalette Fathers, who conduct the shrine. They all dedicate their lives to the task of "bringing the world back to God." The Fathers also state this as the purpose of their work at the Ipswich shrine. "The peace of the world depends on submission to the law of God," they insist. They strive toward this end "by inspiring individual goodness and by encouraging prayer and sacrifice for the conversion of others."

The theme of the 1952 La Salette crusade at Ipswich is Pope Pius XII's warning that the world is "on the road to ruin," and his repeated appeal for a "mighty reawakening."

The LaSalette program for peace was impressed upon more than 50,000 pilgrims who visited the shrine last year. Because of the shrine's growing popularity, extensive improvements have been made there recently. There is now parking space for nearly 1000 cars.

Bus transportation will be available to the shrine. Reservations may be made with Mrs. P. T. Hughes, 5 Copley street, telephone LAsell 7-3934.

Newton-Waltham Little Leaguers To Meet Under Arc Lights July 3

The outstanding Little League players of Newton and Waltham will meet in their first inter-city competition in a "night before the 4th" game under floodlights at Bicycle Park in Waltham, July 3 at 9 p. m.

Each of the three Newton Leagues will field a nine man squad which will face one of the three Waltham teams for three innings. The game will thus be a nine inning affair instead of the regulation six.

The players who will represent the three Newton leagues will be selected on the basis of their past performance in regular Little League competition. It appears from the records that Newton will have an excellent pitching staff as wel las an outstanding group of hitters and fielders.

Joseph "Nipper" Maher, Waltham Little League Commissioner, has promised to provide stiff competition for the Newton youngsters by fielding three experienced teams who have had two years of Little League play. However, none of the teams have played under lights before. It will be a new experience for all concerned.

The game will be followed by a band concert and a huge bonfire.

Alderman Rich is a member of the Public Works committee, and also serves on the Legislative, Municipal Parking, and Ward Lines committees. He is 34 years of age, married to the former Doris Pease of Newton, and the father of two daughters, both attending the Underwood School. He is a trustee and member of the Official Board of The Newton Methodist Church.

Mr. Rich is a member of the Newton Republican Club, Mass. Civic League, and is a director of the Newton Improvement Association, and only recently represented that organization before the State Outdoor Advertising Authority in Boston. He has been actively engaged for the past six months in legal battles with the State Alcoholic Beverages Commission (ABC), and has appeared before the Legislative committee on Legal Affairs, headed by Sen. Lee of Newton, on several bills to investigate the overruling of the Newton License Board by the ABC.

Atty. Rich is a life-long resident of Newton, and was educated in the Newton school system. He attended Suffolk University and Northeastern Law School, and is a member of the Boston Bar Association and the Federal Bar.

In announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination to the legislature, Mr. Rich states: "It is absolutely imperative that the Republican party not only gain control of the House, the Senate, and the executive offices, but that Republicans nominate and elect young men and women of ability, honesty and aggressiveness to achieve effective government. We as Republicans, must choose between those men who can perform by deeds, as against those who are ineffective. We must choose, in this critical year, between those men who can perform by deeds, as against those who are ineffective. We must choose, in this critical year, between candidates who hold promise for the future of the party, as against those who having served to the best of their ability over the years, should in the interest of effective government, retire to the side-lines.

"In recent months I have been astonished beyond words to see the ineffectiveness of some of the members of the House in action. As a Republican, I wish that a dozen young and capable candidates would announce in every district now represented by legislators who have lost their effectiveness, and are no longer positive and forward looking public servants. Then we as Republicans, could look forward to the happy return of aggressive and able administration on Beacon Hill."

year's history by Gloria Osgood and Sandra Coldstone, the Junior II year by Richard Barnes, and the Junior III by Rose Vaccaro. In accordance with tradition the class will, read by Harold Owen, left everything the class owned, thought they owned, and didn't own, to the school, the faculty, and members of the seventh and eighth grades. A check was presented by their president to Paul C. Scarborough, Principal of the school, as a class gift to be used for the purchase of special equipment needed for school activities.

The ninth grade girls' glee club, directed by Miss Geraldine Seaver, sang "Panis Angelicus", with Josephine Messina singing the solo part.

Following the program by the members of Junior III, Mr. Scarborough presented Warren numerals, letters, and school pins to those pupils who, through service to the school, had earned the required number of points.

Finally the long-awaited moment arrived for the announcement of the winners of the highest award that can be earned by pupils of the Warren Junior High School. In memory of Lt. Simon Surabian, a former mathematics teacher at Warren who died in the service of his country during World War II, medals are awarded each year to the boy and the girl in Junior III who are chosen as the most outstanding in athletics, in citizenship and in service to their school. This year the awards were made to Sarah Jones and Robert Lee. Their names are also inscribed on a plaque bearing the names of all pupils to whom this award has been made. For the first time honorable mention was also given to Donald Lane who has had an excellent record.

The assembly closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner, after which the members of Junior III marched from the hall, followed by members of Jr. II.

The program was presented under the direction of Mrs. Priscilla Daudelin, Jr. III counselor, assisted by members of the Jr. III faculty.

period of nearly six years it was the home of the new congregation. Each Saturday evening a platform with temporary altar was set up for the Sunday worship. The first marriage was performed on June 8, 1898 and the first funeral service was read on September 30, 1898.

Mr. Millard served for a year and resigned to go to Framingham. A few months later Mr. Loring was invited to succeed Mr. Millard. He began his duties on April 1, 1899 while he was still a student at the Theological School. The first infant baptism was performed by Mr. Loring on Sunday, June 4, 1899, when he baptized Herbert Augustus Trussell. The first Confirmation Class was presented to Bishop Lawrence on November 5 of the same year. There were twenty-seven in the class. Later when the incorporated parish had been organized and Mr. Loring had been ordained to the priesthood, he became officially the first Rector of St. John's Parish on June 28, 1900.

The life of the Parish from April 1, 1899 to March 8, 1926 centers around the Rev. Richard Tuttle Loring, a greatly beloved rector who came to a congregation numbering about thirty. Miss Mary Hackett was director of the Altar Guild. The Choir was under the direction of Miss Josephine Sherwood (Mrs. Henry Hull) who was also the organist. Choir rehearsals were held at the home of Mr. Loring. Mrs. Stilphen, the Choir Mother, took charge of the choir vestments that were made by the Woman's Auxiliary. The first white altar hangings were made by Mrs. Stilphen and Miss Hackett. Among the social activities of the church were annual plays given by the young people of the Parish under the direction of Miss Sherwood, who was a well-known actress.

The records show that toward the end of 1899 the members of St. John's Episcopal Church Association were much concerned with acquiring some land and erecting a church building. The need of forming a corporation became apparent. On January 29, 1900 the first papers were signed and on June 28, 1900 the Association voted to turn over to St. John's Parish of Newtonville all its funds and property, thus dissolving the Association.

The first officers of the Parish, elected according to the new constitution, were: Senior Warden, Frank T. Benner; Junior Warden, Charles F. Avery; Treasurer, Edward P. Hatch; Clerk, Franklin M. Elms; Vestrymen, Herbert L. Grew, Clifford Kimball, Enoch C. Adams, Newton E. Clark.

At this June meeting a committee was named to find a suitable site for a church building and the following November 21, at a Parish Meeting, it was unanimously voted to purchase the land on the corner of Lowell avenue and Otis street at a cost of $4000. On this land at the time was a barn and a house. The barn was torn down and the house was moved to the next lot on Lowell avenue.

Plans for the church were drawn by Mr. Henry Vaughn. At first a wooden structure was considered, but Mr. Charles W. Leonard made a generous gift of granite from his Vermont quarry. This made possible our present beautiful and substantial edifice dedicated to the worship of God and the service of the community. Much appreciation was due Mr. D. Frank Lord for his careful supervision of the work, generously given, which saved the Parish $4000 in the erection of the building.

The cornerstone was laid by Bishop Lawrence on June 25, 1902 at an afternoon service in which the choir and neighboring clergymen took part and which was attended by many people of the community. Construction proceeded rapidly and on March 14, 1903 the last services were held in Temple Hall. The next Sunday, March 22, at 4:15 p.m. St. John's Church was formally opened. Bishop Lawrence preached the sermon.

The building was complete except for an organ. A temporary one was installed. All the Parish organizations contributed to the furnishings. The Woman's Auxiliary gave the altar; the Young Woman's Auxiliary, the pulpit; the Young Men's Club, the Bishop's chair; Mr. Edward Journeay, the communion rail; the Little Gleaners, the lectern. The window representing St. John was given by Mr. Edward P. Hatch and that telling the Christmas story by Mrs. Thomas Webster. Later Mr. Loring and his brothers and sister gave the window at the right of the pulpit which depicts Christ and the centurion, Faith and the blind man of Jericho.

At this time Mr. Elisha L. Avery became choir master. The soloists were Miss Leslie Kyle, soprano; Miss Sally Casey, contralto; Mr. Avery, tenor; Mr. Derby Brown, bass. Not long after the opening of the church the present organ was installed. The aeolian stop was given by the Young Men's Club. About this time, too, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Crooker gave the reredos in memory of their son.

The Parish carried a heavy financial burden over these years, but in the treasurer's report of January 1913 we find that after all obligations had been met there was a balance of $214 in the general fund, which was transferred to the Parish House fund.

The church building could now be consecrated. The consecration service was held on Sunday, April 27, 1913. Bishop Lawrence presided and received from the Wardens, Mr. Benner and Mr. Avery, the Instruments of Donation and the Keys of the Church.

The Sunday School was well organized and grew under Mr. Loring's inspiration. He was assisted in this work by Mr. William Nicholson. Later Mr. Douglas Sloane and Mr. Edmund S. Whitten served as Superintendents of the Sunday School. The Woman's Guild, the Young Woman's Club, the Knights of King Arthur, the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, the Altar Guild, the L[illegible] Gleaners, the Choir, the Sunday School all worked for the growth of St. John's. The Church Periodical Club came into being at this time.

Mr. Loring had the assistance of Mr. Hugh Birckhead from 1902 to 1904 and of Mr. Albert R. Parker in the following years, while they were students at E. T. S. Later Mr. James P. Richardson served as Lay Reader, as did Mr. William Nicholson.

The rapidly increasing activities of the Parish meant expanding physically. The need of a parish house and a rectory was recognized. The land on Otis street adjacent to the church property was purchased in 1914 for $6000. Again Mr. Leonard made a gift to the Parish. This time it was his quarter interest in the land. The upper portion of the lot was sold and the money placed in the Parish House fund. Another donation to this fund was made by Bishop Lawrence and Bishop Babcock from two funds over which they had control. The amount of this gift was $1000.

As might be expected, World War I left its impress upon the life of the Parish. On January 23, 1918 the Vestry voted that an Honor Roll be prepared and placed in the vestibule of the Church and printed in the Calendar. Accordingly the Honor Roll appeared weekly in the Calendar. At the close of the war it contained twenty-five names. Of these two were casualties, Arthur K. Atkins and Paul Jones Farnum. A memorial service was held on Sunday, April 26, 1919, in commemoration of those who gave their lives for their country. The records indicate that during the war the women of the Parish joined with others of the village to work for the Red Cross at Temple Hall, Masonic Building. In October of 1918, when the country was stricken by an epidemic of influenza, the Church was closed for three Sundays as a precautionary measure.

The Parish House was built in 1921. Mr. Hubert G. Ripley was the architect, Mr. Carl W. Somers was the builder, and Mr. James C. Irwin represented the Parish. The first shovelful of dirt was turned by the Rector, Mr. Loring, on the first Sunday after Trinity and the building was opened December 17, 1921. It was found that due to cost the building could not be completed as planned. So it was decided to build the cloister and leave the ceiling of the upper floor until later. The cost of building the Parish House was $40,000, of which $20,000 was on hand when the project was started. In spite of the mortgage, Mr. Loring and the members of the Parish were encouraged. The visions of the growth of St. John's were being realized.

On December 5, 1922, Mr. Charles F. Avery passed to his eternal reward. As has already been noted, he was the first Junior Warden of the Parish. He served in this office with devotion and faithfulness continuously until his resignation in April, 1921. But his service to the Parish has continued, for by his will he established a trust fund of $20,000, the proceeds of which were to go to St. John's Parish as long as it remained in the Episcopal Communion. This is the only endowment that St. John's has. It is a constant help in the financial affairs of the Parish.

At the pre-observance exercises of the church held Sunday, a stained glass window depicting the calling of the Apostles was dedicated at the 11 o'clock service in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. West, formerly of West Newton.

As guest preacher, Bishop Oliver L. Loring, D.D., of Maine, son of the first rector St. John's Church, called for Christians to rededicate themselves to Christianity to combat Communists effectively.

Also taking part in the service were Rev. DeWolf Perry of Charleston, S. C., former rector, and Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, fourth and present rector.

Committees which arranged the fiftieth anniversary proceedings were: History Committee, the Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, chairman, Miss Emily B. Burdon, Miss Ethel Gammons, Dr. George A. Land, and Thomas Walters. Anniversary Committee: Dr. George A. Land, chairman, Elisha Avery, Honorary Chairman, John R. Clark, Dr. E. Lee Gamble, Dr. Thomas Hayden, the Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, Thomas G. Walters, Frank A. Wightman, John R. Rees, and Walter B. Close.

of previous bond issues unspent, and this should certainly be enough to carry the highway program to next January. We lost this amendment by a rollcall vote of 106-120.

"Our amendment to strike out the additional seven-tenths cent in the gasoline tax lost out 11-117. I have not yet voted for any increase in gasoline taxes, because I believe that the present taxes are all that the traffic will bear. The only recourse was therefore, to vote against the bill, and I will also vote against the bond issue when it comes before the House at the enactment stage.

"There is another phase of this bill which does not 'add up.' Seven-tenths extra per gallon of gasaline will not produce enough money to carry a bond issue of $200 million over a 30 year period. A future legislature will have to find more taxes somewhere. That seems to me to be unsound and devious financing. I do not vote for that variety."

Newton Super Mkt. Announces Six Winners in Baby Contest

Beauty was a-bounding at the recent Baby Contest held at the Newton Super Market at Newton Corner from May 24 to June 7. Over 150 contestants cooed, cried, smiled or laughed for photographer Webber of the Rollei Photo Studio of Jamaica Plain, in competing for the photo prizes.

Ballots were cast for the favorite in democratic style. One hundred and eighteen pictures, representing all the contestants, were placed in the display windows of the Newton Super Market, marked only with numbers.

Following the close of the contest, votes were counted and winners notified. Judging from the number of ballots cast, competition was keen and interest was high as many combined shopping and voting, with high quality for both in mind.

William A. Sklar, General Manager of the Newton Super Market, announces the following winners:

First prize, an 11" by 14" hand oil opaque painting of her picture was awarded to 4-year-old Christine Spellman of 38 Williams street, Newton Corner.

Second prize, an 8" by 10" hand oil painting of her photo, was awarded to Irene MacLean, 6 years old, of 34 Channing street, Newton.

Other prize winners were: Donald Lee Rigoli, 11 weeks, of 223 Church street, Newton, 3rd prize; Robert Carr, 2½ years, 287A Washington street, Newton, 4th prize; Leslie Titus, 1 year, of 13 St. James street, Newton, 5th prize; and Douglas Manley, 12 years old, of 15 Auburn place, Watertown, 6th prize.
